REPUBLICAN RASCALITY.

Silver to Be Corralled.

The Republican National Committee Lends Itself to the Scheme.

A Nice Conspiracy to Bid for Votes for Harrison.

DENVER, Oct. 12.—A New York special says: Word was received by a gentleman in this city a week ago that the price of silver would advance. It was suggested by a wall street broker to the republican national committee that it would require but a very small sum of

THE 400th ANNIVERSARY

Of the discovery of America cannot fail to impress all and cause them to be proud and delighted with the immense growth and rapid development of this great country, and more especially that portion which only a few years since was known as the wild and woody west, in which now is to be found every modern improvement, and every article of the finest manufacture is to be seen on sale and in use. And there is probably nowhere in this section of the country a more striking example of progress to be found in the merchandise line than is shown by the elegant and progressive establishment of A. NATHAN, the Clothier, who today can furnish his patrons in Great Falls a line of clothing and furnishing goods which cannot be excelled by eastern houses situated in cities whose age is three hundred and ninety years older than Great Falls, which of itself is an example of American energy directed toward transportation facilities. Next week he will make a specialty of Overcoats at prices that will be in the reach of all. Please call and be convinced.

THE 400th ANNIVERSARY

Appropriately Celebrated

The Grandest Military and Civic Display Ever Seen in New York.

The Columbus Monument Unveiled in Central Park.

New York, Oct. 12.—This, the third day of the Columbus jubilation, was one of God's own making. The blue waters of harbor and of rivers are today bluer than ever in the softened sunlight that falls through the haze of autumn time. Enough breeze was stirring to lift millions of flags into graceful movement. The season seemed through the day to have paused in complacent indolence to watch the doings on this island of Manhattan. The fore-reach of winter was just enough obtrusive to crisp the atmosphere. So it was that the hosts of paraders and hosts of onlookers were comfortable in their exercise and in their packed conditions. A glorious day has it been and a glorious spectacle of military flash and color and a glorious aggregation of piled together humanity.

The first formality of the day ashore took place at 6 o'clock this morning. Then it was that at the battery wall old glory was run up to meet and greet the first sunlight coming over the Long Island woods. The great big starchy banner caught the yellow glint of the sun's light level bars as it snoot about the barge office tower. The ceremony of hoisting old glory was performed by U. R. Forbes, the Anderson Square Veterans' association in full uniform. Early as was the hour there was a crowd of people present to witness it and cheered as the flash of the surise gun from Fort Chambers off the battery gave the signal for the red, white and blue to the breeze. Hardly had the blue encircling smoke disappeared into the morning breeze when New York seemed to have awakened into a state of glad activity. Throughout the still morning hours portable stands and carts built up with slanting rows of seats began to be stationed at points of vantage from the Battery up Broadway to Fourth street, then west around Washington square to Fifth avenue, to Fourth street, to Fifth avenue, to Seventeenth street, to Fifth avenue and to Fifty-ninth street, where the parade was eventually to disband. The route just mentioned was the one followed by the great military parade, and it is safe to say that when 10 o'clock arrived there was not a seat or standing room to be had anywhere in the windows, on the roofs, on the steps, lamp posts, stands or elsewhere, where a human being, large or small, could find a perching place. Fabulous prices were paid for windows and balconies, in fact, only a millionaire or a person born under the most lucky star could aspire to a seat in the latter.

money to control all the silver bullion on the New York market, and that if the money could be advanced by the national committee they could obtain control of all the silver and thereby make the government pay a higher price for every ounce bought between now and election day, and that the secretary of the treasury would have no objection to paying a higher price from time to time for the amount he is by law required to purchase between now and election, knowing that in doing so he was assisting the republican national committee to hoodwink the people of the west into the belief that the price was advancing legitimately, and thereby Harrison would secure the votes of the silver states.

It is confidentially asserted by the republican national committee that if silver should advance, the miners of the silver states would vote for Harrison. The action of the members of this committee has been watched in New York for the past week, the result being that the number of silver bullion certificates purchased proves the correctness of the information of a week ago.

That this great conspiracy may be understood fully by every reader of The News, I will detail the method of purchase and sale of silver bullion. The refined silver bullion is kept in vaults in the banks of New York. Each bank issues a certificate or receipt showing that it has in its possession so many ounces of fine silver. These certificates or receipts are then bought and sold by persons dealing in silver, exactly the same as warehouse receipts are bought and sold on wheat or corn in storehouses or elevators, thereby enabling the public to buy or sell at any time and only put up 5 per cent of the market value of the silver, wheat or corn, the bank holding the silver as security to secure the other 95 per cent of the purchase price.

By this means it will be seen that to get control of the 200,000 ounces now held by banks, it would require less than $1,000,000. When once the republican committee or its brokers had control of all these certificates or receipts, they will refuse to sell the government only at an advanced price, and by selling only a little at a time, advance the price gradually, as it would not do to jump it up suddenly, otherwise the people of the west would immediately discover the reason for the sudden change, and discovery would be disastrous to the object in view. Another manner with which to accomplish this result is for the agents or brokers of the republican committee to buy only a limited amount of these certificates or receipts at a time and hold what they buy, thereby making silver a little scarcer from day to day, and in so doing advance the price in proportion to the number of ounces they lock up. I have this information direct from the heart of this conspiracy and the price of silver for the past few days tells the story.

REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN METHODS.

The Political Assessment Scheme to Be Investigated. Washington, Oct. 12.—The civil service commission has turned over to the attorney general for his action the report made by Commissioner Roosevelt, describing the efforts made by the chairman of the South Dakota republican campaign committee to levy an assessment for political purposes on the employees of the Indian bureau at Pine Ridge and other agencies. The attorney general has referred the papers in the case to United States Attorney Sterling of the South Dakota district, with instructions to make a thorough investigation and if he finds that the law has been violated to prosecute the offender.

MORE ARRESTS.

Burgess McLuckie Charged with the Crime of Treason. PITTSBURG, Oct. 12.—A special to the Pittsburg Post from Youngstown, O., says: E. O. Christy, in the employ of the Carnegie Company of Pittsburg, tonight swore out a warrant before Mayor Miller charging Burgess McLuckie of Homestead with treason and being a fugitive from justice. The affidavit sworn to by Christy was made in accordance with a warrant in his possession for the arrest of McLuckie, signed by Judge Kennedy of Pittsburg. The warrant was placed in the hands of Chief of Police Cantwell, but at a late hour tonight McLuckie had not been arrested. He is in the hands of his friends, and did not care to sleep in the police station tonight. It is stated upon reliable information that McLuckie will surrender himself tomorrow morning to abide by the order of the court.

W. S. Anderson, counsel for McLuckie, said tonight: "This attempt to extradite McLuckie will be stubbornly contested, and the case if lost carried through to the supreme court of Ohio."

Wiped Out by Fire. SIOUX CITY, Oct. 12.—The little town of Saliu, sixteen miles southeast of here on the Northwestern road, was wiped out by fire of an unknown origin tonight. Six hundred inhabitants are homeless, but the weather is warm and no immediate suffering will result. The loss is not yet known.

HACKED TO PIECES

And Then Burned Alive.

The Horrible Fate of a Father and Daughter.

A Gang of Desperate Negroes Accused of the Crime.

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 10.—Hacked to pieces with an axe and then cremated was the awful fate of Richard L. Johnson and his charming 18-year-old daughter. A gang of desperate negroes is supposed to have committed the horrible crime. The tragedy occurred at Johnson's plantation near Davis ferry, Monroe county, Friday night. There are no telegraph lines near the place and the news of the awful butchery did not reach here until today. Seven negroes have been arrested and the people of the neighborhood are searching the country round about for several more who are thought to have taken part in bloody affair. That there was a terrible struggle in front of the house there can be but little doubt. The soil is torn up and blood stains cover the grass for several rods from the front entrance to the house. Just how it occurred may never be known, unless some of the ferocious blacks confess. The house was burned to the ground and the charred bodies of Johnson and his daughter were found in the ruins. His skull had been split in half and the body of Miss Johnson was literally hacked to pieces. Search was instituted at the house of Burrill Jones (colored), 300 yards distant, and an axe with blood on it was found. The shirt of a brother of Jones named Moses and a son were found spotted with blood. All of the men were at once placed under arrest, as were five other negroes who lived near the plantation.

SNOWSTORM IN COLORADO.

Electric Wires Blown Down—Many Horses Killed. DENVER, Oct. 12.—The snow, rain and sleet storm which set in last night added a heavy wind to its variety today, and all day long an unprecedented storm prevailed. It is shown from the meager reports that have been obtained in the state that the storm is general in Colorado and points in Utah. All communication by telegraph is cut off with towns in Colorado, and as the storm still continues the prospect of repairing the wires tonight is poor.

In Denver signs were blown down, cornices torn off, and hundreds of trees were either uprooted or split by the wind. Several persons were hit by flying objects, but so far as learned no fatalities have occurred. Probably the greatest damage was done by the falling electric light and street-car trolley wires, for at least a dozen horses were killed by being struck by these live wires. As the animals were being driven at the time of their being shocked to death, it will be seen that their drivers were in immediate danger of meeting the same fate. As a consequence of the breaking of these wires electric cars on many of the lines are at a standstill, and people living in the suburbs are forced to get home as best they can. The incoming trains have not suffered much thus far, there being but small delays.

Supreme Court Decision.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 12.—In the written opinion by Judge McBride which is concurred in by all the judges of the supreme court of Indiana, this afternoon disposed of all the various motions and petitions in the appointment case. The motion of Attorney General Smith to dismiss the appeal was over-ruled. The court holds that the statements of the papers and the affidavits filed in the case show that there is a real controversy and that it is one which the parties have a right to wage. It says, in substance that the relator had a right to bring suit in order to secure a decision of the courts upon the validity of the law and that the county officers had a right to resist the complaint to the end and that the statements reflecting upon the attorney general are improper, although the attorney general is in the case by invitation. Oral argument will be heard November 17. This decision removes the case as a factor in the election.

Crossed Niagara Gorge.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Oct. 12.—Clifford Calverley is probably the most skilled cable walker in the world and is certainly the champion of this continent in that sort of athletics. He has proved his right to the championship honors by crossing Niagara gorge this afternoon on a three-quarter inch cable stretched between a trolley and the railroad suspension bridges at a height of 245 feet, in less than seven minutes.

AN IMPORTANT SUIT.

It Involves the Title to Some Valuable Chicago Dirt. WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Argument was begun today in the United States supreme court in what are known as the lake-front cases, involving the title to a large amount of valuable ground on the shore of Lake Michigan at Chicago. There are four cases and it is thought one appeal from the decision of the circuit court of the United States for the Northern District of Illinois. The Illinois Central railroad is on one side of the case, and the City of Chicago, State of Illinois and the United States on the other, though the federal government appears in them involuntarily, and will not attempt to make argument in court. Adjudgment will take two days. The avoided object of the suit is to settle by judicial decree the title to certain lands in Chicago situated on the border of Lake Michigan between the mouth of Chicago river and Sixteenth street, which have been rented by the Illinois Central railway company and occupied by it for many years for railroad purposes, and also the title to the submerged lands immediately adjacent to that part of the Lake Shore. Solicitor General Aldrich, when the case was taken up, said that inasmuch as the United States has not consented to become a party to the suits that it should not be forced by any decision that might be rendered. The court said it would be taken under consideration. B. E. Ayer opened the case in behalf of the Illinois Central railroad and will occupy several hours. All the justices are taking part in the case except Chief Justice Fuller.

IN HONOR OF COLUMBUS.

A Magnificent Monument Unveiled with Imposing Ceremonies. HARTFORD, Oct. 12.—A magnificent monument to Columbus was unveiled at La Rubida today. The ceremonies were attended by the Queen Regent, King Alfonso, the ministers of state, senators, members of the chamber of deputies, naval and military officers and a vast concourse of civilians. The river and bay were crowded with all descriptions of crafts and as the covering draped from the monument the warships fired a salute. The scene presented was most animated and the celebration most successful.

Cut His Own Leg and Arm Off.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—Albert Raeyke, 25 years of age, attempted suicide with a hatchet today. He placed his left leg on a block of wood and cut it off just below the knee. He then cut his left arm so that it hung by a thread of skin only. After this he cut himself in the head until he fainted. He was taken to a hospital but cannot live.
