

HER LIFE WAS WRECKED.

Renegade Life Led by a Married Man in Canada and Here.

And Wretched Experience of the Wife He Wronged and Abandoned—Victims Galore.

A story of man's cruelty and deception and woman's suffering that paints in blackest lines the character of Robert C. Scott, a former clerk in Murphy, Maclay & Co.'s store, has just come to light. This is the abandoned wife's story.

On Sept. 16, 1893, Scott was on trial in Calgary, N. W. T., for cruelty to his wife and defended himself by attacking her virtue, bribing numerous witnesses to swear falsely. Afterwards one of these perjurers was sent to the Manitoba penitentiary for three years for the crime, and Nov. 10, 1890, to avoid more severe punishment himself, Scott came to Great Falls, and soon obtained work in the grocery department of Murphy, Maclay & Co.'s store. He then sent $25 to a girl by the name of Anna Riley, or Gervis, of Calgary, by whom he had a child, to come to him and when she arrived they went to the Milwaukee house, where Scott became enamored with a dining room girl. To get rid of Anna Gervis he had to leave town and went to Kalispell, where he bought some lots and built a store building. He then sent for the dining room girl to come to him, but she refused. He then returned to work at Murphy, Maclay & Co.'s.

In May, 1891, Scott employed a villain to poison the wife he had left in Calgary, who was now on the warpath, and while she was working in a bakery some one entered the back door and poisoned a tonic that she was regularly taking. A physician was called after she had taken the tonic and after great efforts had been made to save her life. In January, 1892, Scott instituted a suit for divorce in Helena against the wife he had left in Calgary, but she defended and, becoming scared, Scott abandoned the suit. During his preparation for this suit Scott offered a young English girl who had a child by him Sept. 4, 1889, $25 to be paid at once, and $275 later to her if she would perjure herself in his favor.

Aug. 29, 1892, Mrs. Scott came to Great Falls and learned that Scott was at Murphy, Maclay & Co.'s. She entered the store and accused him of his crime, but yielded to his entreaties not to expose him on the promise of his making amends. The next day he left town and became a brakeman on the Great Northern extension.

In October, 1892, Scott decided all his Kalispell property to his brother-in-law, St. Thomas, Ont., and made Charles Brennan, his book agent in Kalispell, Brennan works in the freight depot there.

Scott's previous villainies were many. In 1878, while in Ontario, he is said to have seduced a young girl aged 16, and a servant at the hotel he and his sister kept. He also estranged a married woman from her husband. In Ontario he seduced a girl 13 years of age and skipped to Niagara Falls, where he was employed as trainmaster on the Michigan Central. His next victim was a Mrs. Margaret McLeod, a widow, with three daughters. He married her, but soon intentionally revealed to her his former actions. Afraid of her vengeance Scott did not leave her entirely but meanwhile went to work on a ranch, where he seduced a girl 16 years old. This was at Medicine Hat, N. W. T. His next victim was a girl at Windom, who sent his child to him at his sister's house. His sister sent his child to Mrs. McLeod-Scott. Scott was arrested, but adopted the child, and the prosecution was abandoned.

Mrs. McLeod-Scott has had to fight a hard battle, but has maintained a good name against all odds and now hopes that Scott, who is at his old tricks in Washington, may some day be brought to justice. Her struggle for existence is a difficult one, but she keeps up her spirits and is a hard working woman who deserves encouragement.

'Of course I showed him Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and he did not ask to see any other. I have never yet sold a medicine that would loosen and relieve a severe cold so quickly as that does. I have sold four dozen of it within the last sixty days and do not know of a single case where it failed to give the most perfect satisfaction.' 50 cent bottles for sale by Lapeyre Bros., druggists.

All Roads to Rome.

The question is, which is the best one on which to ride. Modern improvements, so generally adopted by all lines to Chicago, have made the special features of accommodation about the same on any one. An important point, however, and one of much concern to many, is the reaching of the World's Fair grounds without being jostled and crowded to an inch of one's life. The way to prevent any unhappy circumstances in this particular is to take the Minneapolis & St. Louis Ry., from St. Paul or Minneapolis, "Albert Lea Route," or at any point on the M. & St. L. Why? Because it lands passengers at Englewood, a suburb of Chicago, from which point you can reach the grounds in a very few minutes by electric car, and avoid the crush. A special director of the company meets all trains and assists passengers. Call on any agent of the company, or C. M. PRATT, G. T. & P. A., Minneapolis, Minn.

ROBBINS' GUN PLAY.

A Wealthy Rancher Fined $100 and Costs for Taking a Shot at His Nephew.

About 11 p. m. Saturday John Robbins, a wealthy rancher on the Teton, attempted to shoot his nephew, John Rooney, but missed him and struck a girl named Cora Brotherton, inflicting a slight wound on the head. Both men were drunk and were quarreling. Robbins had given Rooney a good start in life, outfitting a ranch for him, and had made a will in his favor. Rooney, against his uncle's wishes, had signified his intention of taking a Mrs. Graham and her sister, the wounded girl, to the ranch, and, some say, attempted to strike Robbins, whereupon Robbins drew a 45-caliber bulldog revolver and fired. He attempted to fire again, but was disarmed by bystanders. The shooting occurred at the Great Falls & Canada depot.

Yesterday Robbins appeared before Justice Race and pleaded guilty to the offense of rudely exhibiting a deadly weapon and paid a fine of $100 and costs. Robbins came to Montana in the early '90s and has lived in Deer Lodge and other places in the state. Had it not been for the county attorney's clemency he would have landed in Deer Lodge.

PLENTY OF WOOL.

Agent Kelly Crowded for Room in Which to Store the Clip.

Although Agent Kelly is doing all in his power to rush matters the wool house is now so full that locomotion is difficult and the heat is well nigh intolerable. To make matters worse the Benton agent has refused to accept another pound, and much wool will probably come here that the owners intended to ship from Benton. Owners from Cascade and Armstrong also are shipping their wool here to be baled.

The heat in the warehouse is so intense that the workmen are nearly all on the sick list and can endure it but little longer.

Yesterday's receipts were: G. M. Stone, 62 sacks, 13,067 pounds; W. H. Laird, 21 sacks, 6,335 pounds; J. Hirschberg, 33 sacks, 13,393 pounds; Clark Bros., 66 sacks, 17,698 pounds; G. S. McDonald, 17 sacks, 4,562 pounds; W. R. Flower, 100 sacks, 25,769 pounds; W. T. Porter, 26 sacks, 7,683 pounds; Sun River Sheep company, 80 sacks, 21,423 pounds; W. D. Wheeler, 9,439 pounds; F. W. Thompson, 31 sacks, 8,280 pounds; Sam Burd, 55 sacks, 17,137 pounds; F. Keller, 9 sacks, 2,585 pounds; W. C. Weydert, 11 sacks, 2,915 pounds; total, 122,555 pounds. F. R. Warren of Utica has 62 sacks here which have not been unloaded. Many of the commission men have left town, but E. R. May, the only buyer, still remains, and is immensely popular, all the men wanting their wool piled "where May can see it."

THE BONDS GO BEGGING.

Members of the School Board Serve a Well-Done Roast.

At last night's meeting of the school board all members were present except Hanks and Gockstetter.

The salary of the assistant principal of the high school for the ensuing school year was fixed at $20 per month.

Mr. Hanks being absent, Mr. Prentiss laid before the board the full facts of his action in the bond matter. Mr. Hanks was called to Chicago on private business and while in the American Exchange bank learned that W. J. Hayes & Sons refused to take the bonds, alleging illegality in that the signatures were lithographed. Without the knowledge of the board, Mr. Hanks went to Cleveland and made an appointment with one of the sons of the firm, but at the appointed time received word that Hayes was suffering in the dentist's chair. Another appointment was made, but Hayes reported that he had to go home with a fever. Mr. Hanks stationed a watch at his house and found that he was outdoors with his children on the days he said he was sick. Another appointment was made but Hayes made a night flight, and Mr. Hanks, without any authority of the board, employed attorneys to sue them.

Yesterday morning Mr. Hanks received word from a Helena bank that they might place the bonds in small lots, and, without advice from the board, although it would have caused a delay of but 21 hours to advise the board, Mr. Hanks went to Helena.

Mr. Prentiss then offered resolutions thanking Mr. Hanks for his work. Mrs. Ladd suggested that Mr. Hanks' efforts would have been better appreciated if he had not done so much, and another member said that if Mr. Hanks was so omnipotent and faultless the rest of the board had better resign and let Mr. Hanks run it. The resolution was tabled until a report from Mr. Hanks personally might be received, the affirmative votes being Mr. Wright, Mrs. Ladd and Mrs. Tracy, Messrs. Prentiss and Keelson voting in the negative. After delegating some unimportant work to committees the board adjourned.

FIRST CLASS DENTISTRY.

An Elegant Establishment Recently Opened in Great Falls.

Tooth carpentry has become quite a science in these modern days, and a really scientific operator who equips himself with the best tools and appliances at the command of the profession, is enabled to remove the snagged and decrepit masticating machinery which so many people are given by nature, and replace it with a set of teeth that is at once slightly, useful and substantial. And the whole process of removal and installation can now be accomplished with a fraction of the pain and discomfort which formerly accompanied the mere pulling of a diseased molar.

One of the best equipped dental establishments in the state has just been opened here by Dr. C. J. B. Stephens in the Vaughn block. The doctor has taken the suite of rooms extending across the front of the building on the third floor where he has installed the apparatus used in modern dentistry, comprising the adjustable chairs of various kinds for different branches of the work; electric instead of foot power for drilling machinery; painless extraction and filling, and indeed all the branches of the profession in which suffering humanity is interested. Dr. Stephens hails from Michigan. He was educated at Ann Arbor, and took his degree in the dental school of that institution. Since he began to practice he has lived at Owosso. He was contented there until he heard of Great Falls from his brother-in-law, Mr. Chase, of this city. Then he decided to try his fortunes in the glorious climate of Montana. The following clipping from the Owosso Times tells the rest: "Dr. C. J. B. Stephens and family left Owosso Saturday morning for the east where the doctor will purchase an entire new outfit which he will take to Great Falls, Montana, where he will go into business. It is not too much to say that Dr. Stephens was one of the best dentists in the state and that for a young man he had been phenomenally successful; his practice here was large and lucrative, and his patients regret very much his departure. The people of Great Falls can depend upon him for good work every time."

LOST WIFE AND CHILD.

A Great Falls Woman Leaves Home Taking Her Boy Along.

Until last Thursday evening Victor Clairant and his wife were living happily together keeping the City C-fee lousie and bakery near the Axtell Stables. On that day the wife disappeared taking her eight year old boy with her, and in spite of a diligent search the deserted husband has been unable to locate her. From inquiries made by him he is confident that she was in town on Friday, but after that he can find no traces of her.

Mr. Clairant is a Frenchman and his wife is German. She is described as a rather comely person of middle size with black hair and light blue eyes. When she left home she had on a black silk body and red skirt, and a small black hat trimmed with flowers. She also carried her heavy winter cloak, and a few articles of wearing apparel for herself and the boy. The boy was dressed in a black corduroy suit, with a cotton waist of white and red striped material. Mrs. Clairant left her other effects in the house, but took with her $5 in cash from the till, and a revolver. She left $25 in the till, which would seem to argue that she expected to have use for very little money, or else her mind is deranged as feared by Mr. Clairant. He says that she was hurt about a year ago, and that she has never been very well since that time.

Thinking that she might be staying with some of her friends in the city the husband has been keeping the matter quiet, but he has now reported the matter to Marshal Pontet, and is thoroughly alarmed about the whereabouts of his wife and child.

Any person knowing where the unfortunate woman is will confer a great favor by reporting to Victor Clairant, postoffice box 514, or to The Tribune. The deserted husband is inclined to believe that she has gone to the country to work on a ranch.

Dandruff forms when the glands of the skin are weakened, and, if neglected, baldness is sure to follow. Hall's Hair Renewer is the best preventive.

Bi-cycle Chat.

Bi-cyclers not a few in this city are discussing the relative speed and staying qualities of a few local flyers who have been making century (100 miles) runs lately. Messrs. Townsend and Davis made the run from this city to Taylor's ranch, above Clotson, a distance of fifty four miles, in four hours and fifty three minutes, and returned the same day. They say they can considerably reduce this time and will do so the first favorable opportunity. Matteson and Hildgey are good cyclists and are always ready for "search." The boys would like to make arrangements with the riders of some of our neighboring towns for a series of matches to be run this fall.

"Be sure you get Ayer's" is an important caution to all in search of a thoroughly reliable blood purifier, Ayer's Sarsaparilla being the one on which there can be no manner of doubt. It has stood the test of nearly half a century, and has long been considered the standard.

C. A. Pillsbury, the great Minneapolis miller, says that while South Dakota will raise only one-half of an average spring-wheat crop, Minnesota two-thirds, and North Dakota three-fourths, Montana will have three times as many acres planted than ever before, and that the yield per acre will be one and one-fifth the usual yield.

The trees along many of the streets, and especially the older and larger ones are suffering from a want of water. Along Second and Third streets South, and at many places on the North side this is noticeable and should not be. The leaves are turning yellow, but a little water, applied at once, will save the trees and delay means loss.

The stockholders of the Boston & Montana have voted to increase the capital stock from $312,500.00 to $3,750,000. A circular issued by the Boston office says that the results so far obtained from the plant at Great Falls are satisfactory and fully up to expectations. This would seem to deny the assertion of those cities that are striving to secure the Barrett works and the venture a financial loss. This company is employing the usual number of men at Butte, an increased force here, and is adding new mine machinery.

This issue will comprise 20,000 copies, and it is to be published before the first of August.

The comet is now visible from about 10 to 12 p. m. To find it let the eye follow a line beginning at the star at the upper left-hand corner of the dipper in the constellation Ursa Major or Great Bear, through the star at the lower right-hand corner of the dipper and extending in a straight line about three times the distance between these two stars. The body of the comet is like a white cloud of smoke, but the tail is more brilliant and is now in the northern eastern skies, shooting upward. A field glass will aid in the search.

Many such inquiries are being received here, showing that people are learning of the advantages of northern Montana.

SWAYNE'S OINTMENT

The simple, scientific and effective remedy for all skin diseases.

It is not saying too much to assert that the use of Swayne's Ointment has been so common for years past that it is known to all who are actually possessed by medical science before the days of Dr. Swayne and has been found to be the most effective remedy for all skin diseases.

It is a startling fact that without exception the adulterated ones are dangerous to health. Some of them are actually poisonous, especially the impure green ones which contain copper and Prussian blue.

There is one tea in the market which is not colored or adulterated. It is purely itself. That tea is known far and wide as SCHILLING'S BEST.
