SENATE AND HOUSE

The Republicans of the Senate Attempt a Sharp Game but Are Outvoted.

In the House the Republican Minority Make a Howl Over Our Merchant Marine.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—At the opening of the senate today Chandler spoke in favor of his resolution calling on the secretary of the treasury for all information in his possession regarding the extent to which the "patron" system prevails. The resolution was adopted.

Peffer offered an amendment to the wool schedule of the tariff bill transferring wool, hair of camel, goat, alpaca, and like animals to the dutiable list, restoring the McKinley classification but scaling down the rates practically one-half. Under agreement the senate went back to paragraph 18, imposing a duty of 40 per cent on specialties and other optical instruments. Hear moved to increase the rate to 60 per cent, the present rate, and spoke in advocacy of the amendment. This afternoon when only a few senators were present Mitchell of Oregon moved to indefinitely postpone the tariff bill. Senators hurried from every corner of the building and the motion was defeated 22 to 23.

The republican minority of the house committee on merchant marine and fisheries have submitted to the house a report against a free shipping bill, introduced by Representative Fithian of Illinois, which the democratic faction of the committee has recommended to the house. Representative Perkins of Iowa was the author of the report, and it also bears the signatures of Representatives Gillette of Massachusetts, and Phillips of Pennsylvania. "The measure is more fully entitled to designation as a bill to destroy American ship building in the interest of foreign countries," said Perkins. The report from the majority is wholly occupied in placing the worst possible estimate upon the present condition of our merchant marine. The minority are not disposed to accept so dark a view or disposed to make any recommendation wholly on the darker side. The majority wholly confine themselves to the most discouraging view of American competitive efforts, and make this their only excuse for the abandonment of the distinctive national policy which has been undisturbed through all the successive changes of the party and administrations since initiation at the beginning of the government. No attempt to establish the passage of this bill into a law would prove helpful to the government of the United States or to the shipping interests of its citizens. The proposition is for the unconditional surrender to foreign powers, both the profit and safeguard involved in the maintenance of our independence as the builder of our own ships. That the adoption of this course would prove highly satisfactory to Great Britain and other important marine powers need not be questioned; that it will prove other than a humiliation to the republic, certain disgrace and possible disaster may be accepted as equally probable."

WEATHER CROP BULLETIN NO. 6

The Outlook for Splendid Crops Especially Promising.

HELENA, June 11.—The week opened with warm and sunny weather, but after the first day or two this was followed in most sections by much colder with cloudy skies and well distributed showers which continued to the close. The want of rain was beginning to be felt at a number of points and particularly in the extreme north, but as a normal amount of moisture has been received there is no immediate danger of injury by drought.

The low temperatures have had the effect of checking the floods which have been raging all over the state, and in most streams the high-water mark for the present season has been reached or the waters are already receding. Grass on some bottom lands is reported to be considerably damaged by the sediment left by high water.

Light frosts have occurred at a number of points throughout the state although no injury reported to have resulted from them. Hail at Bedford on the 3d, 7th and 8th injured gardens and grain in that vicinity to a great extent, and grasshoppers are also numerous in the same locality. Hail with less serious results occurred at Townsend, White Sulphur Springs and Roseman.

With the exception of the damage done by hail the prospects remain unchanged and the outlook seems especially promising. Pastures are still looking well, gardens are in a flourishing condition and the wool crop promises to be abundant. J. H. SHREWER, Observer Weather Bureau.

SPOKANE'S SMELTER

One of the Largest Smelting Plants in the Northwest to Be Built at Spokane.

The Standard Oil Company is Said to Be at the Back of the Enterprise.

SPOKANE, June 13.—Within the next two months there will be a large smelter at this point. The steel rails for the track are on the way from the east. The new superintendent will arrive in a few days to take charge of the works. Unless all plans miscarry smoke will be pouring out of the huge chimney before Sept. 1. The negotiations have been guarded with the greatest care and secrecy until it is no longer possible to keep the fact from the public. While the new smelter company will not bear the name of the great Standard Oil company it is understood that it will be controlled by that great corporation. The Standard has already made heavy purchases in the northwest and for a time has had almost undisputed control of the lead markets of America. The smelter at Everett, the Monte Christo mines, and the railroad that taps them are but minor features of the vast system controlled by the great Standard Oil company. The expense of purchasing and operating the Spokane smelter is but a petty item in the accounts of this the most powerful and wealthiest corporation ever organized on earth. If it proves Spokane to be so advantageously located as experts believe it to be, only a few months will pass until another bigger plant will rise beside it. Refineries and white lead works will follow in due time. Parties who know the most state that the ties for the two miles of track which must be laid are already under contract. The steel rails are also reported to be on the way, blocked by the washouts east of Spokane. The work of preparing the smelter for use can be performed in three or four weeks. Arrangements for the purchase of a large part of the ore needed are practically complete. There are still a few details as to the right of way, freight rates, etc., to be decided, but these are only minor items.

Lively Times Anticipated.

TANGIER, June 13.—The troubles anticipated as a result of the death of Sultan Muley Hassan seem likely to be serious. The soldiers of Abdul Aziz are holding rallies in the vicinity of their camp. Sultan Aziz left Rabat this afternoon for Fez accompanied by strong force of troops.

Hoar offered a resolution calling on the president to inform the senate what, if any, representations had been made to the government by representatives of foreign countries as to contemplated retaliation on account of the proposed position of a discrimination on duty on sugar against bounty-giving countries; the fact as to the probable exclusion of our agricultural products from Germany or Guatemala, and any information in his possession relative to proposed retaliatory legislation by the cortes of Spain on account of the abrogation of the reciprocity treaty under the tariff act of 1890. The resolution was adopted. On motion of Vilas the bill providing one additional circuit judge each for the Seventh, Eighth, and Ninth judicial districts passed.

Dun & Co. and asked him for a check for $50,000 payable to E. W. Bullinger. Bullinger never got the check but Wiman deposited it in his own bank to his private account. Wellman said he could show that Wiman knew Bullinger's signature was forged. Gen. Tracy interrupted: "We concede that Wiman was the name of Bullinger on the back of this check and deposited it to his own account. Commercial law justified him in so doing."
