LOCAL LAYOUT.

Local news items including: P. M. Cook of Big Timber last week shipped a carload of his horses to the Dakota market; Prof. M. R. Wilson, principal of the public schools, will devote his vacation to the study of law; C. E. Smith, manager of the Huron, Dakota, mercantile and collection agency, has established a branch in this city with Savage & Elder, attorneys.

visited the Park, thus speaks of the Giant geyser in eruption: "It was the grandest sight I ever saw. To see the immense volume of water gather itself together for a leap and spring up into the air and mingle its steam clouds with the clouds floating in the skies is grandeur no one can describe. A feeling of awe takes possession of everyone who witnesses it."

Messrs. Swindell and E. Breton, the young Englishmen who went out to the Boulder country on a bear hunting excursion, returned the first of the week, having captured a large grizzly and two cubs. They expect to return to Montana next season accompanied by a number of friends for a more extended hunt in the mountains.

The statement of the condition of the Park National bank which appears in this issue indicates a large and healthy increase in the amount of business transacted by that concern. This is not only creditable to the business interests of the town, but is flattering to the officers as showing an increased confidence in the management.

Tuesday's west bound local train arrived about five hours late. The delay was occasioned by the extremely hot weather, which had expanded the rails and caused three lengths near Huntley to warp completely out of shape. Fortunately the trouble was discovered in time to prevent a wreck and the only damage was a delay necessitated in replacing the warped rails with new ones sent from Billings.

The Iowa Press association left Council Bluffs Tuesday for an extended excursion. They will visit Denver, Salt Lake, Helena and Livingston en route to the Yellowstone Park. After a tour of Wonderland the excursionists will return to Livingston and go eastward over the Northern Pacific, stopping over at St. Paul and Minneapolis. The party numbers about one hundred and will probably arrive in Livingston by special train on Tuesday evening next.

The machinery for the Castle smelter arrived Monday and was loaded upon the freight wagons for shipment to its destination. The work of setting it up and getting the smelter in operation will be pushed as rapidly as possible and it is expected that if no unforeseen accident occurs it will be in operation by the middle of next month. The necessary coke for fuel has been ordered from Pennsylvania and will be here in ample time to avoid any delay.

I. Orschel received a letter Thursday from his partner, C. F. Martin, at Castle, informing him that a rich body of ore has been struck on the Marie Martin, their claim adjoining the Alice on one side and the Mother lode on the other. The ore is of the same nature as that of the above mines. Mr. Orschel is elated over this latest discovery, as its location is directly in line with the discovery point of the Alice and Mother lode and indicates a continuation of the same ore body.

Courier: Mr. Graham, superintendent of the Livingston Coal and Coke company, came to Timberline to pass Sunday with his family. He says his men are now in a splendid seam of coal and he has commenced work, opening out an old tunnel to tap the vein at a lower level. The property of the company never looked better than now and the coke manufactured is giving excellent satisfaction. Mr. Graham says that demand is made on him for all he can get from the mine and he is preparing to make an increased output at an early day.

John W. Imes, the leader of the Fort Ellis reservation jumpers, was arrested Wednesday on a charge of burglary and grand larceny, and had an examination before United States Commissioner McPherson at Bozeman. He was bound over on both charges, the bail being fixed at $1,000 for each offense, which was promptly furnished. The professor's offense consisted in an endeavor to secure some property at the Fort, purchased some time since and stored in a government building. The person in charge refused him admission, but he took the property and was arrested accordingly. The custodian is in the east and when he returns the cases may be dismissed.

Chronicle: George Flanders sold the lumber for four houses on Saturday. All these buildings are to be erected on the Fort Ellis reservation. Among the number is the house of John Imes, who is so well satisfied that his claims will stick that he will spend $500 in improvements. Rev. Mr. Hall has also taken up a ranch on the reservation. A letter has been received by Gus Steffius, who was stakeholder for a considerable amount of bets on the base ball game, from a law firm in Livingston. The letter has caused considerable comment here and is in many respects a remarkable document. It requests Mr. Steffius not to turn over the winnings to the Bozemanites, as the game was incompetently umpired, etc.

The visitor to Hunter's Hot Springs will not fail to note the numerous improvements that are constantly being made for the accommodation and comfort of patrons of that popular sanitarium. During the past few months an elegant bath house for the special accommodation of ladies has been constructed, while a new plunge bath has also been added. The hotel building has been enlarged by a commodious annex, and the whole building equipped with a system of water works furnished by hydraulic power, supplying an adequate amount of both hot and cold water for the convenience of guests. In fact the management evinces a desire to aid in every manner possible in making these springs what nature has designed them for—the great health and pleasure resort of the northwest.

A consignment of trout from the upper Yellowstone were received here Saturday that bore unmistakable evidence of having been speared in their capture. This manner of securing fish, as well as any other except by hook and line, is strictly prohibited and parties engaging in it are placing themselves liable to a heavy penalty. The lovers of legitimate piscatorial pursuits should see that these pot fishermen are punished for such violations of the law. A few prosecutions of these lawbreakers would have a wholesome effect in deterring others from following their example.

On Monday we visited the thriving little town of Big Timber and found the enterprising business men enjoying their usual prosperous trade, although the town lacks much of the bustle incident to the immense wool shipments it has heretofore enjoyed at this season of the year. This may in a measure be attributable to a depression in prices caused by the proposed removal of the tariff on this product as advocated by the Mills bill, and partly to the lateness of the season which has prevented the flock masters getting their clip to market. There is little doubt, however, that with a more confident feeling among buyers, as a result of the Mills bill failing to become a law, Big Timber will maintain its wonted distinction of being the greatest wool shipping point on the line of the Northern Pacific in Montana.

Northern Pacific freight trains Nos. 13 and 14, each drawn by two heavy engines, collided at Prickley Pear junction, about five miles east of Helena, on Wednesday evening, causing a disastrous wreck. The crews had orders to meet at Prickley Pear, but owing to the heavy grade and a failure of the air brakes to work the east-bound train ran by the station and before it could be got under control came in contact with train No. 13. The engines of both trains, realizing that a collision was inevitable, reversed their engines and with the firemen jumped for their lives, thus escaping serious injury. The four engines, together with a number of cars, were derailed and dumped in a confused mass along the track. Locomotive No. 161, formerly run by Hugh Munroe and upon which he met his death at Gray Cliff last winter, was among those wrecked. It had but recently been turned out of the shops at this place, where it was repaired and remodeled into an extension front, straight stack engine. The accident caused a delay of several hours in the arrival of east bound trains at this station.

PERSONAL POINTS. H. J. Hoppe of Cinnabar was in town Monday. J. C. Vilas visited Gallatin county's capital Monday. Major F. D. Pease is at present sojourning at Stillwater. William Bause, the Cooke City merchant, was in the city Thursday. S. T. Marchington of Chico has been a visitor in Livingston the past week. George T. Chambers and family went to Hunter's Hot Springs on Sunday last. Frank Muench, representing Kirchoff & Neubarth, Chicago, was in the city the first of the week. J. T. Murphy of Helena is in the city receiving the band of cattle purchased of J. R. Bradley of Nevada. Col. E. Lamartine and Dr. G. L. Cline were arrivals from Mammoth Hot Springs by Thursday evening's Park train. Miss Carrie Kenyon visited Big Timber Thursday at the request of a class who desire her service as instructress in painting. County Attorney Frank Henry of Bozeman was in the city Sunday on his return from a visit to relatives in the upper Yellowstone. Gen. L. S. Willson of Bozeman was a passenger on Sunday's west bound train on his return from a trip to the Gettysburg battle field. S. M. Woodward, whose ranch is on Big Timber creek, was in the city Wednesday. He will shortly go to Pennsylvania to visit his old home at Tioga.

Isaac Orschel, senior member of the firm of I. Orschel & Bro., started east yesterday. He will go as far as Chicago and will probably be absent several weeks. Horn Miller, one of the old timers in Montana and among the first to locate in the New World mining district, was in town Tuesday on his return to Cooke City. T. B. Sackett and a party of Bozeman friends came over from Gallatin's capital the first of the week to enjoy an outing in the upper Yellowstone valley and indulge in piscatorial pleasure. Mrs. E. J. Nesbitt, mother of Mrs. John Mortimer of the upper Yellowstone, accompanied by her daughters, arrived from Pennsylvania Friday to visit the National Park and spend the summer in Montana. Frank Merrill was in the city the first of the week. He has resigned his position with Wannemaker & Brown and is arranging to engage in the drug business at Helena. His Livingston friends will wish him success in his new venture. D. V. DeHart arrived in Livingston yesterday from Wisconsin to join his family, who have been in the city several weeks. He is interested with his brother, J. E. DeHart, in stockraising on Rosebud and will spend the summer in Montana. J. P. Humphreys went to Castle yesterday to take charge of the Castle smelter and superintend its construction. He was accompanied by N. J. Treidnick, former manager of the mines at Nye City, who goes thither with the intention of locating. D. N. West came down from Castle Thursday. He reports new discoveries being made in that district almost every day, while work of development is being pushed by almost every mine owner in the camp. He is engaged in the saw mill business and is enjoying a good lumber trade. Editor C. H. Talmadge, of the Republican Gazette, West Union, Iowa, and member of the press association of that state, writes G. L. Henderson, a former resident of that place, that he will accompany the association on its excursion to the National Park, and avail himself of the hospitality of the Cottage hotel on that occasion. W. F. Lawrence, representing the Butler Paper company of Minneapolis, was in the city Wednesday. While on the road between Dickinson and Glendive he was prostrated by the extreme hot weather that prevails in that section and had to be carried from the dining car to the sleeper. He had fully recovered, however, before he arrived here.

Lee Beardsley was in town Monday on his way to Big Timber to close a sale of placer ground in the Boulder district. The property was sold to New York parties through John Duffy of Big Timber for a consideration of $6,000, a payment of $600 cash and the balance due September 1st. Mr. Beardsley will devote the proceeds of this sale to the purchase of horses with which to stock his Gardner ranch. Sheriff Carruthers of Madison county was in town the first of the week after a prisoner named Charles Tucker, who was arrested in the Upper Yellowstone and is wanted for some offense in Madison county. Mr. Carruthers, although a republican, has no trouble in being elected sheriff of the democratic county of Madison, an office that he has held two terms, being reelected two years ago by a largely increased majority. The Cottage Hotel association have been fortunate in securing the services of James H. Dean, so long and favorably known as manager of the Lower Geyser Basin hotel. He has won the reputation of being the Chesterfield of the National Park on account of his courtesy and kindness to tourists. Any one who meets him can at once recognize that he is a southern gentleman and one of which Maryland may justly be proud. Commissioner Myers came in from his Shields River ranch Thursday. He has been engaged with the Livingston and Shields river roundup, which has just finished its work. The calf crop was much larger than was anticipated, while cattle were never in better condition at this season of the year. The number of calves branded by Myers Bros. were 1,124, or about 80 per cent. of the total number of their cows.
