

WILL NOT BE IN THE DARK

BONANZA OFFICE IS NOW EQUIPPED WITH ILLUMINATING GAS.

The Bonanza office is equipped with illuminating gas, so that the next time the power plant shuts down from any cause whatever, the office will not be left in the dark. The Bonanza was the first house in the town in which the new gas was installed, and the fluid has been in use ever since in the working of the linotypes.

But the gas for illuminating was installed only yesterday, and the result is more than pleasing. One jet, with a Welsbach burner, gives more light than several incandescent lamps, and it burns with a softer light, and is not so hard on the eyes. There is no longer any doubt that the new company has come to stay in Tonopah, and when it has installed a number of heating stoves and heaters throughout the town, then will its revenue begin to come in in such a manner that the cost of production will be much less, and as a consequence, gas to consumers will be correspondingly cheaper.

PERSONAL MENTION

H. W. Redfield of Silver Bow is in the city.

F. A. Regan of Carson City is here for a short business trip.

L. L. Mudgett has returned from a visit to the State Fair at Reno.

Mr. and Mrs. Aleck Dewar have returned from a trip to California.

F. V. Krohn is here from San Francisco, and is a guest at the Mizpah.

Frank Naughton of Manhattan was in the city yesterday on business.

Assistant District Attorney Cleveland Baker returned to the city last night after an absence of three weeks.

William Sheets of Kawich has just returned here from a trip to the Walker Reservation and is on his way to Kawich.

Donald B. Gillies, president of the Montgomery Shoshone Mining Company, made a flying trip to Beatty yesterday, leaving in the afternoon and returning last night.

Don C. Aldridge, formerly of Tonopah and now of Goldfield, is here on his way to the southern Utah oil fields, where he has interests, and where he will make his future headquarters.

R. T. Harris, cashier of the Nevada First National Bank, left last night for Ogden, where he goes to look after his private affairs. He will return early next week, bringing his family with him, unless his mother, who has been ill, proves too sick to make the trip.

H. M. Rayborg, vice-president of the Tonopah Extension; Dr. M. R. Ward, treasurer of the company, and brother-in-law of Charles M. Schwab; and J. E. Brown, a capitalist of Pittsburg, who is a large stockholder in the Tonopah Extension, arrived here last evening, and will spend several days in the city.

Miss Turner, a private nurse, arrived here yesterday from Sonora, California, where she had been in Dr. Bromley's sanitarium. She came here on a special case and will probably remain. If she elects to remain Miss Turner will be a valuable acquisition to the ranks of missionaries of health. She has had the necessary experience, and has the youth, gentleness and refinement which means so much in the sick room, and which help the patient as much as do the doctors.

J. Holman Buck, the editor and proprietor of four newspapers, was a visitor in the city yesterday, and left for Mina last night. The papers of Mr. Buck are the Bodie Miner, Atwood Prospector, Duluth Tribune and the Western Nevada Miner of Mina. Mr. Holman is an all around newspaper man, from the circulation department to the editor's desk, and he is the kind of a booster that this part of the country is in need. It takes a genius to run one paper, and he is running four, and he is making successes of all of them.

Superintendent J. F. Hedden of the Tonopah and Goldfield railroad went as far as Mina yesterday in his private car, Mizpah. Mr. Hedden had with him as his guests, James Austin and C. K. Lord of Philadelphia, the former being a director, and Mr. Lord a large stockholder in the Tonopah and Goldfield Railroad Company. Both gentlemen had been here for several days, during which time they were taken all over the road. They were much pleased with their trip, and left yesterday for the East, well satisfied with the conditions of the camp, and the southern country.

TONOPAH MEN CLOSE UP TO TAFT

JACK SALSBERY AND CLEVE BAKER WERE RIGHT THERE.

Cleve Baker is back in Tonopah; back from the great northwest, from Seattle, Portland and Tacoma. And that reminds us.

Jack Salsberry returned a short time since, and he and Cleve were in Seattle at the time of Taft's reception. Cleve was there first and consequently had to be the host. On the night of the reception to Taft, Mr. Salsberry expressed a desire to go to the pavilion.

"Why, certainly," responded Mr. Baker, "we will go and have the best seats in the house."

"I like your nerve," responded the other Tonopah man. He had passed the pavilion at 4 o'clock and the crowds were then struggling for entrance. But they went.

At the door they were met by a platoon of soldiers, who were drawn up with presented arms, with bayonets sticking out of the arms.

"A fat chance," soliloquized Mr. Salsberry.

"Stand back!" shouted a husky sergeant.

"Associated Press," responded Baker, with the nerve that has characterized him in many a Mizpah jinks.

The sergeant saluted, and the bayonets were lowered, and the two Tonopahans walked along.

"You're a wonder," said Mr. Salsberry, softly.

"Can they beat us?" responded Mr. Baker, modestly.

"Halt!"

Another line of bayonets and more orders to get out of there and chase to the gallery. This time the Baker anatomy was nearly pricked.

"Associated Press," was the ready come back.

More apologies, more deferences, and Baker passed along, but they called Salsberry.

"Where are you going?" they demanded.

"Associated Press," responded Jack, just to see how it felt.

"What, two of you?" demanded the sergeant.

"Of course there's two," responded the copper king of the Ubehebe, slipping him a cigar. "How could we be associated if there was only one?"

"Ha, ha, ha," laughed the soldier, pocketing the cigar. "I beg your pardon; pass along."

"Oh, you ain't so much," said Jack when he had joined the fugitive Baker.

"All right, you try the next one."

"But I didn't have the gall," said Mr. Salsberry, "and we were stopped twice more, and finally we landed at the press stand. We were right under Taft, and if he had ever fallen off the platform it would have been all off with us. There weren't any seats for us, and I made quite sure that fellow Baker was going to call up to Taft, and ask him to give us a hand up to the platform. But he didn't; he just waved his hand to Taft, who got up and bowed, and then Baker turned to some kind of an orderly or soldierly, who had more medals on his breast than I ever saw at a target shoot, and says to him: 'Where are our seats?'"

Well, that fellow moved as if the power had suddenly been turned on and he went up on the platform and dragged down two of those high backed, soft-cushioned reeves. We sat there all night right under Taft, and Baker applauded him as if he were the mayor of Seattle. He wanted to go up and invite Taft to a dinner after the reception, but I told him that the citizens had prepared a banquet for him, and that seemed to make him mad, because the citizens hadn't consulted him about it."

CONSTRUCTING SAMPLERS.

Scott and Amman, formerly brokers of Goldfield, are now engaged in putting up two samplers, one at Goldfield and the other at Hazen. They have incorporated the Nevada Ore Sampling Company, which will operate the new concerns, and go into the purchasing of ore on an extensive scale. Mr. Scott passed through here yesterday morning on his return from Hazen to Goldfield.

GREAT PLANT AT MOUND HOUSE

DEPOSIT OF GYPSUM IS BEING CONVERTED INTO PLASTER.

F. A. Regan is here from Carson and Mound House. Mr. Regan is the promoter and principal owner of a big plaster plant at Mound House, and is rapidly developing one of the greatest industries of this section of Nevada. He has there an immense deposit of gypsum, which is being converted into a plaster for finishing houses both outside and in.

"We had been shipping the gypsum to California and there converting it into the plaster, but the San Francisco fire wiped out our plant, and we resolved to build one right at the deposit and ship the finished material. We put up a plant that cost us $20,000, and are shipping all over the country. I think that this is just what is needed for the finish of the houses here and in Goldfield, and this is the object of my trip this time. We have made arrangements with the Nye Mercantile Company to handle the product here, and I will have an agency in Goldfield. There is no more durable material for the purposes for which it is intended and I am quite sure that we will meet with the success here that has greeted us elsewhere.

"We have a deposit there which will last for many years. We could take out one hundred tons a day, and I don't think that there would be a perceptible decrease in the supply in twenty years."

JUDGE BRISSELL DISMISSES CASE

The trial of Jung Wing Lee, charged with assault and battery, was held yesterday morning in Judge Brissell's court. Gussie Albert, a resident of the tenderloin was the complaining witness. The trouble arose over a dispute between the two when Jung informed Gussie that she would have to remove her belongings from his land as she was driving all his tenants away. And then Gussie charged on Jung with a broom. Gussie weighs 250 pounds, while Jung will have a hard time to tip the scales at the 120 mark. There were several witnesses to the affair and all seemed to think that Jung was the one assaulted. Judge Brissell dismissed the case.

CLEVER ARTIST IS MR. RUNYON

As a reminder of the late battle on the ball grounds between the Elks and the Eagles, there is a clever cartoon in the show window of the W. B. Sollermer Mercantile Company. The dope is from the clever pencil of Mr. Runyon, who made a number of striking sketches during the preliminaries to the great game. The subject of the Sollermer skit is what the Elks were going to do to the Eagles, and what the Eagles were going to do to the Elks, and the characters in the drawing are easily recognizable. Mr. Runyon displays remarkable skill with his pencil and will no doubt be heard from high up in the artistic line.

McNAMARA IS CHESTY.

The home of J. E. McNamara, of the firm of J. E. McNamara & Co., was made happy early on Thursday morning by the advent of a little daughter. Mr. McNamara has been doing the happy father role for the last two days, and it is a very becoming role to him. At last reports mother and daughter were doing finely, and the household, while not a very quiet one since the coming of Miss McNamara, is a very happy one.

CLEANLINESS TO BE ENFORCED

LAWS REGARDING SANITATION MUST BE LIVED UP TO.

J. J. Degan, general overseer of Tonopah, was a busy man yesterday and he did some work that will redound to his credit, and to the benefit of Tonopah. The Miners' Union served notice upon him that there were eighteen cases of typhoid fever in the miners' hospital, and that the majority of the cases were due to negligence of the laws of sanitation. He was told of certain restaurant men and boarding house keepers who were throwing their refuse and garbage out in their yards, on the streets, any place but into the garbage can. Mr. Degan made the rounds of these places yesterday and found that the statements had not been exaggerated, and forthwith, he served notice upon the owners to clean their premises and put them into a sanitary condition. They were given the alternative of being arrested if the law had not been complied with today, when he will make another personal inspection of the premises.

"It is most important that the health of this town be maintained," said Mr. Degan last evening, "and it should not be necessary to warn people of fostering nuisances. Their common sense should teach them the danger of permitting refuse and garbage to remain on their premises. I notified the people I visited today that I would be around tomorrow, and if the nuisances had not been abated in the meantime, complaints would be sworn to under ordinance No. 9. This should not be necessary, for the people would understand that it is their duty to see that no such nuisances could be maintained. It is not an easy task to watch them all, and the best help that can be had in carrying out the law, is that which is given by the people themselves."

DOOLEY'S MARRIAGE AT THE BUTLER

Two crowded houses greeted the managers of the Butler last night to witness "Dooley's Marriage." It was about the best that has been put on and Onslow and O'Brien are getting better all the time, and make the best kind of fun, clean and catchy. Helen Douglas and Millie Garnett have pretty numbers, the pretty chorus assists them all. Fred L. Griffiths has a part which he takes well, and including the new motion pictures it is about the best show we have yet seen.

SECURE OPTION ON RICH PROPERTY

Senator T. L. Oddie, E. E. Knapp and J. McClelland returned yesterday from a trip to Barber's Canyon, the scene of a recent rich strike. It is said that the gentlemen secured an option on a very fine property.
