EDITORIAL COMMENT.

OUR DEALINGS WITH ANARCHY.

The President has notified Congress that, under the advice of the Attorney General that he has the power to do so, he shall prohibit the use of the mails for the distribution of matter advocating "murder, arson and treason." He also declares that, in his opinion, there is need of further legislation by Congress for dealing with the anarchist, whom the President properly declares to be "the enemy of all mankind," with a deeper degree of criminality than any other.

The number of anarchists in the country is insignificant. All those who are active in the cult are physical and moral degenerates of the criminal or criminaloid class. As they show no mercy to society, they deserve no mercy at the hands of society. Whatever course, therefore, the people choose to take with regard to these public enemies will be determined solely with reference to the public interests without the slightest regard to the alleged rights of these creatures, who, by separating themselves from society and making war upon it, voluntarily abandon all claims for its protection. They have no ground for complaint if they receive from the hands of the people the same treatment which they advocate to be given to the people.

There is legislation which Congress ought to enact in respect to this people. It should make the profession of anarchy or membership in an anarchist society work a forfeiture of citizenship, to be followed in case of a naturalized alien by immediate deportation. Whatever can be done under the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution to deprive anarchists of the protection of the courts should be done. They have no right to the use of the machinery of the society against which they have declared cowardly but bloody war. Transportation companies should be forbidden by law to transport anarchist literature which is excluded from the mails.

One measure which would apparently be effective would be such an amendment of the law of conspiracy as would make members of any organization advocating murder accessories before the fact to any murder or attempted murder committed by one of their number without being compelled to prove that they were cognizant of that particular crime. Such a provision would not be unjust. If a body of people habitually meet and harangue each other with incitement to murder it is not unjust to hold them criminally liable upon some one of their number more crackbrained or more malignant than the rest goes out and actually does or attempts to do that which they have constantly incited him to do. Besides, it is never to be forgotten that anarchists have voluntarily broken out of the pale of society and by their own act are logically precluded from claiming any social rights whatever. Possibly a more humane and equally effective method would be to make the profession of anarchy conclusive legal evidence of insanity. They might then be confined in special asylums. They would be incapable of making wills or suing in court, except through a guardian. The objection to that, of course, is that they could not be found guilty of crime and could murder without fear of penalty except the insane asylum. There are many effective ways by which society can rid itself of these parasites. It is time that some of them were employed.—San Francisco Chronicle.

THROW OUT STORY OF HELEN MAR

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, April 13.—The testimony given by Helen Mar in the divorce suit brought by Katherine Clemmons Gould against Howard Gould was stricken out today by the Appellate division of the Supreme Court. Helen Mar's deposition covered episodes connecting Mrs. Gould with William L. Cody (Buffalo Bill) before she became the wife of Howard Gould. The order for the examination was obtained by Gould on the ground that she was an important witness in the suit and was about to depart for London.

Gould alleged that Miss Mar's testimony would disprove Mrs. Gould's statement to Gould, before their marriage in 1898, that her relations with Colonel Cody had been of a purely "legitimate business" character. He alleged, also, that this representation of Mrs. Gould had induced him to marry her, and it was important and necessary for him to contradict her ante-nuptial statement by Miss Mar's testimony.

The decision today holds that Gould's affidavit did not comply with the legal requirements, and that Mrs. Gould's alleged ante-nuptial acts did not constitute a defense in her suit for separation on the ground of cruelty since the marriage.

SURPRISED AT ANARCHY'S LIST

WASHINGTON, April 13.—The secret service officials are astounded by the wonderful growth of anarchy in the United States during the last twelve months. This expansion has been swift and secret.

It was hardly realized by the detectives until a short time ago, when a list of practically every anarchist in the United States fell into the hands of the service. It was large, much larger, in fact, than the authorities believed to be possible.

When detectives were sent out to test the accuracy of the list, they found, to their astonishment, that where one anarchist's name was mentioned in the list, he in reality represented a group of three to ten.

JUDGE'S CAUSTIC REMARKS TO JURY

DETROIT, April 13.—"This is one of the vilest miscarriages of justice that has ever been heard of in this community," said Judge Phelan in the recorder's court this afternoon, when a jury found 18-year-old Percy Bowin of Woodville, Ont., not guilty of the murder, on January 7th, of 63-year-old Mrs. Cornelia Welch, proprietor of a disreputable place on Congress street, which Bowin had frequented. Mrs. Welch was found to have been beaten to death in her room. Bowin, when arrested, admitted his guilt and made a detailed confession of how he killed the old woman and stole and pawned her diamonds. Later he took the stand last week and repudiated his confession.

The police offered evidence to confirm the statements in Bowin's confession.

APOSTLE SMITH TAKES ON DIMPLES

KANSAS CITY, April 13.—The reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints continued their annual conference at Independence today. The divorce question was disposed of yesterday after an interesting debate, and by the refusal to adopt a resolution forbidding the ministry to marry divorcees.

President Joseph Smith spoke at length, being opposed to undertaking legislative enactment against possible contingencies in the marriage and divorce laws.

"Suppose," said the speaker, "by reason of my fendishness, I was driven from home with a broomstick, where would the marriage contract be?"

President Smith referred to the cases of insanity and alluded to the Thaw case in New York.

"There is not a man who has married in his youth, who was not controlled by a dimple, a bright look, a toss of the head, who is not and cannot be held by the same dimple, the same toss of the head. They call it romance. Thank God, there is so much romance in the world."

KEELER IS COMING INTO PROMINENCE

A mining field that has every appearance of becoming of much importance is developing near Keeler, says the Inyo Register. J. M. Miller returned this week after spending a week on the ground, and kindly furnishes some interesting particulars of the situation.

The claims are situated about four and a half miles from the Darwin road, covering the first low range of hills on the western border of the valley at that point, and east of the south end of Owens lake. The known mineralized belt extends for a distance of between two and three miles, a mile, more or less, in width. It is easy of access, a wagon being easily driven to much of the ground.

Shafer, Thomson & Dickman, now owners of sixteen of the claims, began work, giving attention to a different character of rock. After sinking a twenty-five-foot shaft on the Woodpecker claim they shipped fifteen tons of ore to Goldfield for working, the milling returns being $82 gold and $6 silver per ton. They had thrown aside a worthless hematite ore locally termed black jasper, known by some as a variety of planks. Experimental panning, however, showed that it contained gold, and some of it carries $70 gold. The hematite lies in a streak through the four-foot ledge of somewhat decomposed quartz.

The general country rock is porphyritic lime, with reefs of upturned slate, appearing here and there. A lime and slate contact in a field known to be mineralized is accepted as an indication of a silicious deposit. Mr. Miller concluded to dig where a slaty point outcropped, but where no other indication of ledge matter appeared. He dug off but eight inches of gravel before he found a vein of decomposed quartz. The general trend of the ore channels is three degrees from a north and south line, though there are cross ledges.

The croppings are almost invariably decomposed quartz, the larger ledges carrying about $15 values. Word from another source says that strings of gold have been gotten by surface panning.

The richest pay shoots have invariably widened as sinking was done on them. Some high assays are reported, one running to $400.

FIRE DEPARTMENT CALLED OUT TWICE

The fire department was called out twice last night. The first alarm was sounded when the air pipe broke at the Mizpah mine, and about two hours later a fire in a tent at a wood yard in the lower part of town caused a second alarm to be turned in. The tent was completely destroyed when the department arrived. The fire department made good runs at both alarms.

LOOK AROUND YOUR OFFICE

For ledgers, daybooks, in fact for anything that may be lacking in your office, go to the Bonanza bindery. We have samples of the style of work which is turned out, but for the matter of that one does not have to visit the bindery. There are samples of our work in nearly all the offices in the city.

Our work stands as the best recommendation of the character of the stuff that we turn out. We can do anything in our line that can be done in any of the big cities, can do it as well, and give better service in the matter of prompt delivery than any other institution of the kind in the State.

If you desire ruling or binding in a first-class manner call up the Bonanza and our solicitor will attend to your wants.

CHARGED WITH LIBEL.
SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—Warrants charging criminal libel were issued yesterday by Judge Shortall for the arrest of J. R. Wardell, publisher and business manager; Chalmer Mundy, assistant business manager, and Joseph L. Brook, editor of the Mining and Engineering Review. The complaints were sworn to by James E. Kerr, a mining promoter, with offices at 368 Bush street, who alleges that the mining journal libeled him in an article that appeared recently, criticising his business methods.

A WORTHY CUSTOMER.
"My man, here's a nickel. Don't spend it foolishly."
"I won't, sir, I'll invest part of it in a good newspaper and inspect de business chances." — Kansas City Journal.
