

DOUGHERTY KNOCKED OUT BY WEEKS

Irishman Is Outclassed By Mizpah Miner--Lawrence Is Forced to Take the Count in the Eighth--Both Fights Were Classy Affairs.

Before an audience of 1200 fight fans Kid Dougherty of Philadelphia went down to defeat in the fourth round of a scheduled twenty-round fight. The Irishman was outclassed from the start, the Mizpah miner having him at his mercy and landing blows at will upon the helpless fighter. The end came in the fourth, when Weeks smashed him right and left, sending him clean through the ropes to the floor. With a crash that could be heard over the entire arena Dougherty's head hit the floor. Physicians at once came to the man's rescue and administered restoratives, but it was fully ten minutes before the defeated man came to. He was bleeding profusely, while the miner bore but few marks.

The fight was rather late in starting, although Manager Miller did his best to get the men in the ring. The arena was filled with a most orderly crowd and the classy matter doped out to the fighters will insure a much larger crowd if fights of the calibre of last night are put up.

Booze Byer, who refereed both preliminary and principal events, gave complete satisfaction. Some question on the interpretation of Marquis of Queensbury rules was raised last night. For the benefit of the public we here reproduce from "Siler's Book on Pugilism:"

"Regarding what is now termed 'straight Marquis of Queensbury rules,' I will say there are no such rules in print, and that, instead of these being, what there is of them, Marquis of Queensbury, they are the rules interpreted by me at Carson City, Nevada, for the heavyweight championship battle between Jim Corbett and Bob Fitzsimmons.

MARQUIS OF QUEENSBERRY RULES.

1. To be a fair stand-up boxing match in a twenty-four-foot ring, or as near that size as practicable.
2. No wrestling, or hugging allowed.
3. The rounds to be of three minutes' duration, and one minute between rounds.
4. If either man falls, through weakness or otherwise, he must get up unassisted, ten seconds to be allowed him to do so, the other man meanwhile to return to his corner, and when the fallen man is on his legs the round is to be resumed and continued until the three minutes have expired. If one man falls to come to the scratch in the ten seconds allowed, it shall be in the power of the referee to give his award in favor of the other man.
5. A man hanging on the ropes in a helpless state, with his toes to the ground, shall be considered down.
6. No seconds or any other person to be allowed in the ring during the rounds.
7. Should the contest be stopped by any unavoidable interference, the referee to name time and place, as soon as possible, for a finishing contest; so that the match must be won and lost, unless the backers of both men agree to draw the stakes.
8. The gloves to be a fair-sized boxing glove of the best quality, and new.
9. Should a glove burst or come off, it must be replaced to the referee's satisfaction.
10. A man on one knee is considered down, and if struck is entitled to the stakes.
11. No shoes or boots with springs allowed.
12. The contest in all other respects to be governed by revised rules of the London prize ring.

Announcer Daly read a telegram from Terry Mustain that if he was successful in his coming bout with Joe Willis that he desired a fight with any good man in Tonopah on Labor day, Kid Heffron, who defeated Menney at Goldfield, challenged any bantam weight in the world and also challenged the winner of the Weeks-Dougherty fight to a match, both men to make 120 pounds.

The preliminary between Odell, the fighting miner, and Kid Lawrence of Joliet, warmed up the crowd for the principal event. The talent had picked Lawrence for a winner, but Odell was the aggressor throughout. In the eighth he put the wallop to the Joliet man's jaw and he took the count. Considerable money changed hands, Lawrence being the favorite at 2 to 1, which the miner's friends greedily absorbed.

The starting of the event was postponed for a great length of time and the crowd urged the fighters to get at it. Dougherty's mitts were in poor condition and a great deal of bandaging had to be attended to before the men were ready, Weeks frequently going to the Irishman's corner on a tour of inspection. In the corner for Weeks were James Kelly, George Peterson, Howard Troutman and C. H. McCrimmin, while Dougherty's sponsors were Dennis Butler, Benny Smith, Billy Woods and Bud Mills. H. C. Proctor acted as timekeeper.

THE FIGHT BY ROUNDS.

Round 1—Men advance to center and shake hands. Dougherty leads to face. Weeks responds with right to jaw. Both exchange punches in a clinch. Weeks sends left and right to head. The Irishman tries right for the miner's stomach. Freddie lands left to face and follows it with right hard to neck. Both exchange jabs in clinch. The Kid ducks a lead for the head. Both exchange blows to body. Weeks rushes his opponent to the ropes and whips right and left to the body. Dougherty puts hard right to Freddie's jaw, staggering the miner. Weeks sends left to head and then jabs the Joliet boy in the mouth. Weeks follows up his advantage by sending blow after blow to the Kid's head, sending him staggering to the ropes. Dougherty is bleeding at the mouth from the terrific jabs that the miner sent in. Weeks hooks two hard lefts to the head as the gong sounds.

Round 2—The miner sends short arm rights and lefts as he rushes Dougherty around the ring. Dougherty puts light left to Week's stomach. Weeks lands two lefts to face and then kept up a constant chopping to the head, staggering the Irishman. Dougherty is covering in his corner, but the miner makes a chopping block out of him, forcing him around the ring. Dougherty is covering and seems unable to fight the miner. Freddie has the Joliet boy again in his corner and is administering a rain of blows which Dougherty is unable to ward off. Dougherty tries at this stage to fight back, but Weeks has his face looking like a piece of Hamburger.

Round 4—The Kid tries for Freddie's head, but falls short. Weeks lands terrific right on face, then hooks a stinging left to the cheek. Dougherty puts up a rally and lands left on the miner's head at which the crowd cheers. Dougherty lands stiff left to the cheek. Weeks forces the Kid into a neutral corner and lands terrific blow on head. Weeks is using choppy short arm blows much to Dougherty's distress. Weeks turns Dougherty completely around with a hook to the head and sent him through the ropes, and the Irish lad dropped to the floor, where he was counted out, being unable to respond.
