SUFFER TERRIBLY ON THE DESERT

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 13.—Harold Braly, assistant superintendent of the Skidoo Mines company, and Miss Lottie Davis, the postmistress at the camp, after a terrible five-days' ride across the desert, reached the mining town alive by the narrowest of margins. Braly was taking the company's automobile through from Los Angeles and picked up Miss Davis on the way. They went into the Death valley country by way of Mojave, and the trip from the latter place to their destination should not have occupied more than eight hours. The terrific roughness of the road threw the machine out of gear frequently. The Garden station was reached after forty hours of alternate repairing and traveling. The occupants were then exhausted. Ten miles north of Ballart the machine broke down and the man and woman decided to walk to the stage station at Wild Rose. They were so affected by the heat that they were able to crawl but a few steps at a time. At 8 o'clock in the evening Braly collapsed and was unable to arise. Miss Davis staggered onward and in eight hours she had covered the four miles to the stage station, arriving at 4 o'clock in the morning. A relief party was sent out to Braly, who was found in an unconscious condition. The physician said he could not have lived two hours longer. He lost forty pounds in the five days of torture. They were taken on to Skidoo in a wagon.

OFFICIALS ENLISTED IN CAUSE

President Austin and Director Whitman of the Tonopah Mining Company Will Confer With Associates on the Matter of Free Water for Additional Fire Hydrants.

Some weeks ago, at a rousing and enthusiastic meeting attended by practically every business man in this community, a committee was appointed to carry out the plans of citizens to install additional hydrants for fire protection and to secure additional power in order that the water might be effectively carried to the higher and residence portion of the town for adequate protection against a possible conflagration. This committee met with the board of county commissioners and found that body willing and anxious to co-operate, financially and otherwise. It was agreed that the town at its own expense would lay the added mains necessary to the installation of the required additional hydrants, turning the whole over to the water company at cost, the water company paying for same in water furnished to the community for fire purposes. At the same time a plan was formulated for the installation of an electric power pump on the main water pipe leading to town, so that the water could be drawn from the reservoir and forced through the town mains in case of a fire on high ground where gravity pressure would not answer.

The presence of President James S. Austin and J. Harvey Whitman of the board of directors of the Tonopah Mining company, which owns the Tonopah water system, who are in this city at present on business in connection with the company, led the Bonanza representatives to ask for an interview with these gentlemen which was cordially granted. Said President Austin: "We have the interest of your city at heart as what will inure to your benefit will certainly redound to our good. We shall thoroughly look into the matter and use our best endeavors to secure for your city the requests that you make of the company. The investment in the water company has never been a paying one and we have never realized anything in the shape of a dividend from it. Personally I think every municipality should own its own water works system. It is one of the utilities that I believe actually belongs to the people."

To the question would the water company dispose of its holdings, Mr. Austin responded: "I think some arrangement could be made whereby the city could take over the property on a reasonable basis if it so desired."

On the condition of the mine holdings and dividends of the company he said: "Our property I think is in better shape than at any time in its history. We have been making an inspection of the underground workings and find the physical condition of the mine in excellent shape. On the score of an increased dividend I can not just at present say. I am a believer in a good fat treasury and a sinking fund for the purpose of development. We shall run the shaft on the Mizpah to a depth of 1500 feet, where we expect to open up new ore bodies and from that station shall crosscut and drift. This work will be completed it is expected by the first of the year."

Mr. Whitman, who was here in 1902, said: "This is my second trip to Tonopah. I am delighted with your people and your magnificent climate. I was most agreeably surprised at labor conditions in the camp. In my visit to the mills and mines I was forcibly struck by the character of the men employed therein. I found that the great percentage of employes were young men of high intellectual attainments who were willing to don overalls and get down to hard work in order to acquire a practical knowledge of mining and milling. It is to be assumed that these same men in their social life would naturally crave and insist that their surroundings be of the same high order and that the average eastern man's idea of conditions in a mining camp would be dispelled by the culture and refinement that predominates."

Both gentlemen will leave in a few days for San Francisco before returning to their eastern homes.

GOULD SEEKS A NEW ALLIANCE

GALVESTON, Tex., Aug. 13.—Representatives of the Yoakum lines in Texas have been advised that negotiations are pending between the controlling spirits of the Rock Island-Frisco system and Gould whereby an exchange of rights of way and courtesies is about to be completed. Coupled with this information private dispatches say that the Harriman-Gold coalition has not been entirely successful and that one of the most serious objections to the combination is the protest of the Texas railway commission which declares the Harriman-Gould combination a violation of the Texas constitution for the reason that both systems have competing and paralleling lines operating in Texas.

The Gould-Yoakum combine has none of these drawbacks. Gould's Western Pacific would give the Rock Island a line to the Pacific coast and far west, while at present the Rock Island is dependent upon Harriman's lines through Pacific connections. The Frisco-Rock Island and Colorado Southern group offers several advantages to Gould which he has craved for in the southwest.

AWFUL TORTURE IN MEXICAN PRISON

PITTSBURG, Aug. 13.—Police officials here have received news of the torture of William Moffat and Edward Maloney, who were arrested recently in Mexico City on a charge of robbing a bank messenger. Moffat and Maloney, the police here say, were well known to them before leaving for Mexico. Two companions escaped the officers when the Pittsburgers were arrested and the Mexican police demanded their names. Refusing to betray their companions, the men allege that they were strapped by the wrists to the bars of their cells while the officials, with forceps, tore the nails from their hands. Unable to bear the agony the men gave the names of their companions.

"I suppose," said Captain of Detectives Edwin T. McGough today, "if it were not for the record of the men their torture would mean international complications."
