

NOTHING DAUNTED FIRE-SWEPT RAWHIDE STARTS REBUILDING

Not a Croaker in the Camp and Not a Man Flying the Signal of Distress.

(By JOSEPH S. JORDAN.) RAWHIDE, Sept. 5.—The day after the fire finds Rawhide in a most sanguine mood for her future.

were few, when it came to real distress. Money was the least thing that was needed; the food and supplies that the men of Tonopah brought were the real necessities, and the medical supplies were needed too.

The recital of what Tonopah did for the camp brought tears to the eyes of those who heard it. The men of the committee told us how the people got together in response to a false alarm of fire turned in.

While the relief committees are doing their utmost for the benefit of the distressed, the merchants and business men are going right ahead making their arrangements for the rehabilitation.

On those eleven flat cars were $55,000 worth of machines, most of them private cars, their owners being with them. It was a noble gathering, and they were all working in a most noble cause, rushing aid to suffering humanity.

From Reno and Fallon also came processions of automobiles over the desert rushing aid to the sufferers. A special train was sent from Reno in the afternoon, and assurance was sent from the Nat. C. Goodwin company that there was all the money that was needed for anything that might tend to relieve the distress of Rawhide.

The drawing of the lines was a wise provision on the part of the authorities, for the reason that there was considerable property inside the lines which might have been carted off either by thieves or curio hunters.

WEEKS IS VICTOR

Young Erlenborn Forced to Admit Defeat at Hands of Freddie Weeks in Middle of the Twelfth Round.

In the middle of the twelfth round of a scheduled twenty-round contest, the seconds of Young Erlenborn of Denver threw the sponge into the ring yesterday afternoon at the Casino arena, thus giving the fight to the little miner, Freddie Weeks of Tonopah.

The preliminary was a six round go between Billy Creelius of Goldfield and "Battler" Irwin of Detroit, and it was a rattling good go from start to finish. Creelius was blind in one eye, but the way he used the other in measuring distances to land blows was a caution and at the end of the sixth round he received the decision amid the plaudits of the assemblage.

Erlenborn was the first to enter the ring for the main event and he was heartily cheered by his admirers. He was closely followed by Weeks, who received an ovation that could be heard blocks away. The men were introduced by Announcer Bob Daly and were warmly greeted.

PAPKE DEFEATS KETCHELL

FORMER MIDDLEWEIGHT CHAMPION KNOCKED OUT IN THE TWELFTH.

(By Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 7.—Stanley Ketchell of Michigan, a former middleweight champion of the world, was knocked out in the twelfth round this afternoon by Billy Papke of Illinois, at Jeffries' Vernon arena. The fight was practically over in a minute and twenty seconds after the gong sounded in the first round.

Round 6—The miner rushes to the Denver lads corner and fierce fighting ensues followed by a clinch. Weeks lands upper rights to the head and body. They exchange blows and Erlenborn plants stiff right to Freddie's ribs. Weeks send right upper to head and left to body. Erlenborn delivers a right to the miner's neck. Erlenborn slips to his knees but was up in a second. Weeks presses the fight and as the gong sounds shot a left to Erlenborn's jaw.

Round 8—Weeks sends right and left to the jaw and they clinch. In the breakaway Weeks sends two lefts to the youngster's neck. Weeks led with left which was blocked. Weeks sends two rights to head and they clinch. Erlenborn shows evidence of being tired and sends two weak rights to the miner's body.

Round 9—Erlenborn leads for the head of the miner, who retaliates with right and left to the jaw. They clinch and both exchange body blows. The miner then sends in a tonerado of blows, causing Erlenborn to cover for protection.

Round 10—Erlenborn lands right to ribs and the miner returns the

MORAN-ATTELL FIGHT

CHAMPION FEATHER WEIGHT OF AMERICA AND ENGLAND FIGHT A DRAW.

(By Associated Press.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—Abe Attell, champion featherweight of America, and Owen Moran, England's premier boxer in the same division, fought a draw battle at Colma in the open arena this afternoon in the presence of 6000 spectators.

The battle lasted twenty-three rounds. At the conclusion of the contest the referee, Jack Welch, unhesitatingly grasped both lads by the hand, signifying the fight a draw. The fight on the whole was rather tame. This was offset by the cleverness exhibited by both fighters. The fight was very easy and was characterized by Moran's aggressiveness and Attell's cleverness in blocking and his all around work from a defensive standpoint. After the fight Moran stated that he broke his hand in the second round, and that he is willing to fight Attell forty-five rounds, the winner take all. Attell when informed of Moran's challenge stated he would fight no forty-five rounds as he wanted to live awhile yet. Attell said he would fight Moran a return match any number of rounds up to twenty-five.
