EDITORIAL COMMENT.

A HURST PUBLIC CONFIDENCE.

The Bonanza has stated from time to time that mining must be put on a new basis in this state, and that instead of the public being regarded as a cow which is to be milked indefinitely, without being consulted as to the disposal of the milk, the public must be taken into the confidence of the mining man and shown just how he is spending the money which it is putting into his hands. It is the policy of some mining concerns to keep the public, even stockholders, from a knowledge of what is actually going on in those mines. This is all right when the corporation concerned is a closed corporation, with no stock for sale, or when it is selling no stock and the various holders of stock are manipulating it on 'change in order to thus take profits, instead of waiting for dividends from the mine or mines in which they are interested. Buyers and sellers of this kind of stock are gamblers, pure and simple, and whether winning or getting "stung" they have no kick coming. But we believe that the mining concern which is in the development stage, and is depending upon the public to finance its development should give the public the fullest details as to what it is actually doing, what it has, and what it proposes to do. The prospective investor should be even allowed to descend into the mine, with an engineer if he desires to take one. This policy may work a seemingly temporary hardship to some mine owners, who are going down in good faith, but yet sending out "boom" reports which are based more upon what the mine operator hopes and believes his property will produce, rather than upon what it is producing. But even at that, when the public sees that he is working in good faith, and stands a fair chance of making good, it will be right back of him, financially and morally. That is what the public wants—its money spent honestly. If its money develops a paying mine, all well and good. If the property never reaches the paying point, the public is not kicking, but is willing to try again, for it realizes all the time that it is taking a chance. And with money honestly spent in development in a district which is as good as most of the southern Nevada districts, the long percentage of the game is with the investor.

TWO MORE YEARS OF "UNCLE JOE"

A dead set, of phenomenal deadness, has been made this year against Speaker Cannon not only in the eighteenth district of Illinois but also by indirection elsewhere. Many circumstances have combined to make the re-election of the speaker to the sixty-first congress seem doubtful—doubtful, at least, to those who for one reason or another hoped for his downfall.

Mr. Cannon's triumph in his home district, assuring his continued usefulness in the exalted office he now holds, is one of the results of the voting on November 3 that gratifies us most, says the New York Sun. Every conservative citizen ought to be glad. The peculiarity of his tyranny is that Ego is not in it. This amiable and useful despot is not only one of the finest old fashioned Americans now in public life, but he is also one of the mainstays of the American system as he understands it, and as the Sun understands it, and as it will be understood, we hope, by an overwhelmingly majority of our fellow citizens after the recently prevailing murkiness of political thought has been dissipated.

A REVIVAL OF BUSINESS

Henry Clews says that one of the most gratifying features of the day is the unmistakable revival of business in many directions. Of course, improvement is much more pronounced in some quarters than in others, but the recovery is most certainly genuine and not of the imaginary sort talked about by last summer's "prosperity boomers." There is no extraordinary prosperity nor boom in sight, and none is desired, for the country has had enough of such and their disastrous reaction, and simply requires the gradual and steady resumption of normal activities, such as it is now experiencing. All that the country needs for the present is to be let alone for a period in order to recover its nerve and wanted activity. If we look for the quarters in which recovery is most pronounced, we find it in the building and engineering trades. This is to be expected. A great many important enterprises were in course of construction or about to be initiated when the panic came. These works, moreover, were often very urgent in their character, owing to the rapid growth of our great cities. Congestion of traffic and the demand for new homes and office buildings made many of these enterprises imperative. The great pressure upon the railroads for better terminal facilities and greater carrying capacity is already an old story, and their excessive demands upon the money market in 1907 were no doubt one of the elements which brought on the financial crisis that for nearly a year paralyzed all industrial pursuits. With easier conditions in the money market, and with a gradual revival of confidence, these activities are being gradually resumed; and now that the last element of uncertainty—the presidential election—has disappeared, the chief shackles upon industry have been loosened. Congress will open very shortly, and tariff revision promises to be one of the prominent subjects of discussion, both then and in a special session, if such be called.—San Jose Mercury.

SHERIDAN STATUE UNVEILED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—With military pomp and splendor the heroic statue of General Philip Henry Sheridan was unveiled in this city today. The president of the United States and members of the cabinet, the diplomatic corps, justices of the supreme court of the United States, senators, representatives in congress, veterans of the civil war and many others prominent in official life as well as a large concourse of citizens were present. Thousands of soldiers of the regular army and of the national guard and United States marines and bluejackets from the navy were assembled as a tribute to the dashing soldier of the civil war whose effigy was displayed to the public gaze for the first time in this city today.

The statue is the work of Gutzon Borglum. It represents General Sheridan on horseback, his steed being shown in a position of action rather than standing placidly as is the case with so many of the equestrian statues of this city.

The statue is one and three-quarters times larger than life and depicts General Sheridan at the age at which he performed his greatest deeds. He is mounted on his celebrated horse Rienzi. The sum of $50,000 was appropriated by congress for the statue which is said to contain more molten brass than ever before cast in this country. The piece is twelve feet long, eight feet wide and as completed the entire bronze piece is fourteen feet in height.

President Roosevelt made the dedicatory address and pronounced a splendid tribute to the valor and the military genius of Sheridan. Horace Porter, formerly ambassador to France, also spoke in honor of the soldier and patriot and told of his daring deeds on the field of battle.

TURNING OUT THE BEST WORK

The bindery of the Bonanza is turning out the best work in the city, and it is giving such great satisfaction that anyone who has his work done there once, never goes anywhere else. The plant is the finest and most complete, not only in the State, but this side of San Francisco. We can turn out all kinds of work that is demanded in the offices of lawyers, brokers, promoters, mining companies, or for any other kind of business, and we guarantee satisfaction in every respect. One trial will be sufficient to establish the truth of this statement. It pays to go where only the best kind of work is done, and it pays to patronize home industry.

OLD McNAMARA IS AGAIN PRODUCING

BLAIR, Nov. 26.—A shipment of thirty tons of ore is being prepared at the old McNamara lead mine. The metallic values run about $65, in gold, silver and lead. The latter runs 50 per cent, the silver being twenty-four ounces, while the value in gold is only about $1.50 per ton.

The McNamara, from which the shipment is taken, is an old producer, lying about eighteen miles south of Blair, and on the north side of the Palmetto range of mountains. It is the property of the O'Meara brothers, who recently disposed of the Valcaida to the Newhouse syndicate. A lease was taken on the McNamara recently by Norman Campbell, formerly foreman for the O'Mearas, and who has some half dozen men at work, and will continue operations through the winter. The property is developed by means of a tunnel which is in some 600 feet, and from which a winze was sunk and new ore reserves opened.

At present the mine is somewhat inaccessible, and supplies and ore have to be carried in and out by pack animals, but a new road of a mile or less in length, is under way, and will permit of team or wagon being taken direct to the mouth of the tunnel. There is plenty of timber for all purposes close at hand, and a spring of fine water nearby, leaves nothing to be desired in that connection.

Mr. Campbell expects to send out at least a carload per month during the winter, and by early in the year will greatly increase the quantity.

A CHARACTER TALK

THEY SAY YOU CAN TELL A MAN'S CHARACTER BY THE KIND OF SHOES HE WEARS. IT IS MUCH MORE TRUE THAT YOU CAN TELL THE COMPLEXION OF A BUSINESS HOUSE BY THE STYLE OF ITS STATIONERY. CHEAP, POORLY PRINTED STATIONERY DENOTES THE CHEAP, ILLY MANAGED FIRM. WE DO THE KIND OF WORK WHICH HAS "CHARACTER" AND IF YOU WANT ANY SUGGESTIONS AS TO HOW TO GET YOUR STATIONERY UP IN "CLASSY" SHAPE, ASK US FOR SUGGESTIONS. OUR PRICES ARE AS LOW AS IS CONSISTENT WITH GOOD WORKMANSHIP AND STOCK.
