It is intimated on high authority that W. Cameron Forbes, the vice governor, will succeed Smith. Smith went to the Philippines as colonel of the First California regiment of volunteers, which was part of the first expedition sent during the Spanish war in 1898. He rose to the command of a brigade, then to a place on the supreme bench of the island court, and finally to his present position as governor general.

MANY OBSERVE STRANGE MIRAGE AT SAN DIEGO

(By Associated Press.) SAN DIEGO, April 1.—A mirage having no parallel in the history of these strange air pictures on this coast was seen off Point Loma today. It took the form of a vast castle painted on the mist bank spreading over the sea and remained visible for several minutes. Many people witnessed its appearance and a sign went up as the beautiful scene faded slowly away in the changing light of the clear bright day.

O'Farrell, Goldfield brokers, were indicted by the federal grand jury today for the alleged fraudulent use of the mails in connection with mining stock promotions. Two counts were found against each. The indictments set forth that Patrick and O'Farrell sold personal or promotion stock in the Manhattan Mizpah mine to A. B. Reeves of Dodge City, Kansas, and Dr. Otto Kleister of San Diego, California, under the guise of treasury stock, the money for which was to be used in the mine. Extracts of market letters and advertisements of the brokers were quoted in the indictments. It is believed here these are the first in a series of indictments for similar misuse of the mails.

HARRIMAN SUED BY JOHN DONOVAN FOR $800,000

(By Associated Press.) NEW YORK, April 1.—John Donovan, of St. Joseph, Missouri, is plaintiff in a suit that has been brought here against Edward H. Harriman for $800,000, which Donovan alleges was his share of the profit made by Harriman on the sale of the stock of the St. Joseph Railway, Light and Power company, which Harriman controlled. This company operated an electric trolley railroad at St. Joseph. Donovan in 1889 arranged for the construction of a competing trolley line. He says he abandoned this enterprise and gave his time and services to advancing the interests of the Harriman line, when Harriman agreed to give him 25 per cent of any sum Harriman might realize above $1,100,000, which the latter had expended in purchasing and improving the road. In 1901 Harriman sold his holdings for $4,400,000, he alleges. Harriman, in his answer, denies making any such contract with Donovan. He admits that Donovan did co-operate with Harriman's road instead of establishing a competing line, but avers Donovan's action was purely voluntary. Harriman admits he sold his stock for a large sum, but denies that it was $4,400,000. He also pleads the statute of limitations.

DEMOCRATIC MEMBERS CONSIDER TARIFF BILL AS A HUGE JOKE

(By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, April 1.—The whole day was devoted in both houses to the discussion of the Payne tariff bill. In the house the expected effort to set a time for the closing of the debate failed to materialize owing to the complex position in which the leaders of the majority find themselves as a result of threats of further insurrection. The Democratic members continued the assault on the bill, characterizing it as a huge joke which was revised only upward. In the senate a debate was started by a resolution offered by Bacon favoring the consideration of the tariff measure by a full committee on finance instead of Republicans only. After a hot argument both for and against the resolution it was finally referred to the committee on finance. During the debate Raynor attacked the majority method of framing the bill, saying, "While you are dividing the plunder, at least be fair to each other. On behalf of the senator from West Virginia I beg you to give him back his raw material." He referred to the indignation of Elkins over the proposal to remove the duty on products from his state.
