Showings are Sufficient to Predict that it Will be the Greatest Mining Dis- trict in Southern Nevada.

Thirty miles east of Tonopah and about four and one-half miles south-east of Salsbury Wash, is the scene of the latest mining excitement in southern Nevada, and from the reports received from those interested in the property it will prove to be the "biggest thing" ever found in all Nevada.

Rumors of all kinds have been flying around the southern country for the last three weeks concerning the magnitude of the strike, but a statement from the owners is to the effect that the ledge is between six and eight feet in width.

The ground was first located the latter part of March by Mrs. Joe Nay, who recorded the claims in her own name, her mother, Mrs. Ed Clifford, Sr., and her brother, Ed Clifford, Jr. Shortly after that while out with her husband prospecting she discovered a piece of float and on the following day in company with Ed and John Clifford, they returned to where the float had been found and after a short search discovered the ledge. Eight claims were then recorded and these form the original group. Adjoining this Jim Clifford has secured a number of choice locations. In all about 1000 claims have been taken up in the district, which comprises an area six miles square. Besides the main ledge, numerous other veins intersect the country and all have excellent values.

Several assays have been taken of the main ledge, and one last week gave the startling returns of $31,400 to the ton, the values being in free milling gold. Specimens displayed around this city show the ore to be the purest. Of the many people of Tonopah who have visited the scene none were allowed the privilege of inspecting the strike and according to the statement of Ed Clifford, this site will not be shown until the plat for the township is filed with the board of county commissioners tomorrow.

M. D. Bally has been employed on this work for the past two weeks and the plat of the original town has been completed. Additions, if needed, will be added as the occasion requires.

The camp will be named Ellendale, and the district is called Ellen, in honor of Mrs. Joe Nay, whose Christian name is Ellen.

The only leases secured up to date have been granted by Jim Clifford to Tonopah people and were secured in the following order:

- Lease No. 1—Eugene Howell, R. C. Moore, W. S. Johnson, M. R. Averill, Harry Epstein and Puddy Grimes.
- Lease No. 2—Zeb Kendall, Tom Kendall, Billy Douglass, Puddy

Grimes, Paul Tarpey, Ed Malley and J. J. Owens. This party also has secured another lease, making two in number.

Lease No. 3—W. W. Booth, Frank Golden, R. P. Dunlap, Dave Holland and Clay Tallman.

Lease No. 4—Malcolm L. Macdonald, Puddy Grimes and R. T. Harris.

Lease No. 5—R. G. Pohl, Lowell Daniels, Vall Pittman, N. B. Phillips and Clay Tallman.

Lease No. 6—R. F. Gilbert.

In all there are about 100 men in the district, many of them developing their properties and a few waiting to secure leases. The only business house is a saloon operated by Goldfield people.

The values are not confined to the quartz ledges for in the wash, placer gold has been found and nearly all this territory has been staked out.

The water for the camp has to be secured from Salsbury, and it would be well for those who contemplate visiting the strike to carry a sufficient supply or go thirsty for their negligence.

Joe Nay, who spent several days in Tonopah during the early part of the week, expressed a great reticence when approached and asked about the discovery, but confirmed the report by stating that when the proper time came, the ledge would be shown to the world. He explained the reasons for keeping the find quiet, was the desire to avoid any future law suits, that in spite of all precautions, will spring up in a mining camp. With this in view the owners have had the claims surveyed and also the townsite plats laid out.

"The entire district is crossed with ledges," said a Tonopah gentleman who was one of the first to visit the vicinity of the find. "Many of which parallel each. One of the largest veins can be traced from Sugarloaf mountain and this is also intersected by another of about the same dimension.

Judge M. R. Averill, who was on the ground when the first reports were received in Tonopah, stated last night that the district should prove to be the richest yet encountered in this section.

"According to my inspection of the district, I would call the main formation where the values are secured a lode rather than a vein. This I traced from the side of Sugarloaf mountain across the Sawtooth range and up to Mount Ellen. The lode is about 300 feet in width and the distance I traversed was about three miles. From the occasional croppings of quartz good assays have been received. I have seen certificates from the assayers showing values from $3 to $3200 that were received from this lode. Pannings also were shown me that went from $200 to $500 to the ton. The lode is of a formation similar to what I have seen in Tonopah, Virginia City and several other places in this state. That is, earlier andesite, or lode porphyry and is highly silicified.

"I did not have the pleasure of visiting the original strike, but from appearances the entire vein should prove to be of an equal richness. I understand that to the west of the district there are a number of parallel veins, but did not have a chance to inspect this section.

"Last Sunday Superintendent J. W. Chandler of the MacNamara property journeyed to Sugarloaf with me and confirmed my ideas as to the formation. In following the lode we traveled in a course that resembles a sickle.

"The possibilities in this section are enormous and one does not even have to visit there to appreciate them. To my mind it will prove to be a second Comstock and should the development prove that the veins extend to a great depth, the camp will eclipse all others in Nevada."

The Cliffords, who practically control the district, are pioneers of Nevada and have been engaged in this industry for years. The boys and the sisters, Mrs. Joe Nay and Mrs. H. H. Warburton of Tonopah, have been reared in Nye county, residing a number of years ago in Belmont, afterwards moving to Stone Cabin. As the old saying goes—their word is as good as their bond—and they have always worked for the betterment of this county. Several months ago when the county treasury was depleted owing to the funds being tied up in the Nye and Osmey County bank, Ed Clifford, Sr., offered to advance any amount for the maintenance of the county affairs with practically no interest. He is a specimen of the hardy pioneer who emigrated to Nevada in the early days.

W. B. Sollerider, who arrived yesterday from Bishop, stated last evening that he had a twelve mile team enroute which he would place on the road hauling freight as soon as it arrived. He will open a restaurant and furniture store in Ellendale, as soon as the town lots are placed on sale and will also move his large stable now standing on California Heights ground to the new camp. Mr. Sollerider is but one of the many business men of this city, who will open branch stores at the new town and inside of several weeks it is predicted that the place will be able to boast of dozens of business houses.

INSANE BUTCHER KILLS FOUR AND WOUNDS FIVE

Runs Amuck in Slaughter House and Drives Three Hundred Men Out.

(By Associated Press.)
SOMERSVILLE (Mass.), June 5.—John Murphy turned from pig sticking to man killing in a slaughter house here today and driving his fellow workmen before him slew five of them and wounded four others. Two of the wounded are not expected to survive. Murphy had been acting peculiarly for some days, but returned from dinner apparently in a normal condition. An hour later he sprang at Dr. Hayes, the government inspector, with a fifteen-inch knife, and practically disembowled him. The terrified workmen ran for the door with Murphy in pursuit. Down the stairway he continued to slash the men until an Italian seized a heavy iron bar and felled him. He arose and wounded another man and was dealt another heavy blow and the knife wrenched from his hand. Two policemen then beat him nearly to death before finally subduing him. More than 300 men were driven from the building when Murphy started to run amuck. Murphy is 50 years old and a giant in physique.
