BONANZA ACKNOWLEDGES INVITATION FROM SPARKS

The Bonanza acknowledges with thanks the receipt of an invitation to be present at the "Sparks Fizz," to be held in the city of Sparks July 5, 1909, as a guest of the city. There will be so much doing in Tonopah on that date that it will be impossible for us to attend. We do not quite understand what "fizz" stands for. Tonopah has a great variety of fizzes, and sizes and sizes of which we are somewhat familiar. Don't think we will take any chances putting up against a proposition we know nothing of.

WHAT BECAME OF THE GOLD

The regular meeting of the Stove Herders club was called to order by Major Rubicund Snore, after which all smoked up and a question of the scarcity of gold brought Smiling Happigan to the fore.

"Gold scare, eh? Forty years ago a man cud pick up a day's wages anywhere between here and the lake in a mile walk, but you can't do it now."

"What' become of it all?" asked Tenderfoot Willie.

"These dummed kickers have kicked and kicked so much they've kicked every bit of gold dust out of the ground until it is all bein' blown over into Nevada, and we can't do anything to stop it."

Happigan dodged a spittoon, poker, two sticks of wood and a prospect pick before quiet was restored, when the tenderfoot crawled from behind the ice box and said:

"I can save it!"

"Save what," came in a chorus.

"The gold," replied the individual whose pedal extremities are not yet calloused.

"How?"

"We will first procure an asbestos curtain or veil which we will stretch across what we will be pleased to call the gold stream or air current carrying the precious metal. This we will spray with mercury, which will collect the dust and we will collect the dividends."

"Great, Great!"

"We will now proceed to form a stock comp—"

The earthquake broke loose just then and when the tenderfoot came to he was on Hank Blanchard's turnpike, headed for the rising sun. The boys had been all through the stock game.—Bodie Miner.

CORNED REDSKIN ORIENTAL HASH

At one time a Mono county merchant supplied his customers with a dish not known to other parts of the world—corned Indian. Of course the merchant, who was a Chink, didn't advertise the fact that he was handing them out salted and saltpetred Indian, but they absorbed the delicacy with much gusto and paid the price.

The inspiration was furnished the Oriental by a poker game. The native visited the hop joint, burdened with a jag, and more money than discretion. John Chinaman and Poor Lo engaged in the great American game of poker and before sunrise the simoleons belonged to the heathen and the redskin possessed only a bad head and added experience.

Finally through the befuddled wits of the Indian came the knowledge that he had been jobbed, and with it a desire for revenge. Having no firearms he grabbed a big iron poker and proceeded to start a hurdle race over tables and chairs, with the cue-bearer about two hurdles ahead. But the gap shortened, the pursuer was nearing the pugged, the firestrir implement had jolted the ribs of the Chink and something had to be done or there would be a strange face in Chinese hell, without advance notice.

Above the door of the emporium hung a sword, the former property of an imperial ancestor. This the child of a mandarin laid hold of and, like a warrior of old, smote his antagonist, slit his windpipe and made a good Indian.

In the economy of the Oriental there is no such thing as waste. Preparing a brine the celestial made a soured or pickled meat that sold like hot cakes to all the gourmands and epleures of the town. But the store run out of meat, the Indian tribe was short a member, the county officials got busy and a Chink landed in jail.

When the hearing came up a band of Indians appeared on the scene, carried the Chinese to the open country, hacked him to pieces and feasted on Oriental hash for a week.—Bodie Miner.

IMPROVEMENT NOTICEABLE.

Real estate men report quite an increase in their business the past few weeks. It is a noticeable fact that many of the houses which have lain idle for many weeks and even months are devoid of the for rent and for sale signs which is proof positive that times are picking up.
