REQUISITES FOR MINE MAKING.

Mine making is not always as easy a task as it may look, or as the investors back east think it ought to be, according to the Mining World. That paper goes on to state that the variety of difficulties that frequently confront the manager who is in direct charge of operations is sometimes astonishing. These difficulties may be extremely annoying and tax the manager's patience and resourcefulness to the limit. Greater ability is usually required to convert a prospect into a paying mine—unless it happens to be a "jewelry shop," which is the exception rather than the rule—than is required to keep a well-established mine in successful operation.

In making a mine, the following three conditions must obtain: First, the mineral must exist in the property; second, the manager must not only understand how the mine should be developed and the ore treated, but he must have the ability to carry out his plans in such a manner as to insure future successful operation; third, the manager must have the full confidence and support of the directorate, supplemented by ample funds and be free from petty interference. To weakness in any one or all of these conditions, most mining failures are due.

The first condition is self-evident, and the second should be, but, unfortunately, it doesn't always seem to be. Too often the manager, into whose charge the working out of difficult mining and engineering problems is placed, is chosen from among the stockholders of the company, from his financial or other influence, rather than from his knowledge of mining. The result of such a procedure is very apt to be a failure, and he very soon finds out that there is very much more to mining than digging a hole in the ground. It is unsafe to put any man in charge of a property who is not equipped with practical experience and training to direct all operations and select, buy and install any equipment that may be necessary. To be successful he must also be tactful in his handling of men, as a lack of this quality unfits any man, no matter what his technical knowledge may be, for efficient service.

In the selection of a manager too much stress should not be laid on the question of salary; the decision should hinge on the candidate's ability and efficiency. It may be much cheaper in the end to pay one man $6000 a year than another $3000. A cheap man will very likely give expensive service. Book learning alone is not sufficient preparation for the manager of a mining company; practical experience also is necessary, to give that quick perception and decisiveness that he will often be called upon to exercise. And when the ability of the man selected has been demonstrated, he must be supported in his acts by the directing body.

PERSONAL

A. H. Deahl, the Manhattan business man is in town.

Arthur J. Aylesworth went to Goldfield yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Lizzie Stenson returned Sunday from a visit to Reno.

H. Hazard left Sunday for Luckyboy, Hawthorne and Rawhide.

L. L. Patrick of Goldfield came over from the southern city last evening.

O. B. Steen, the Manhattan mining man, was an arrival from the north last evening.

A. J. Crocker of the Tonopah Lumber company came down from Reno yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Hart have gone to Battle Mountain, where they will reside in the future.

Mrs. G. E. Howard and daughter Ruth left Sunday for Reno, where they will spend the winter.

Si Parker, the popular conductor of the Tonopah and Goldfield road, arrived from Yerington yesterday.

Professors James J. Voss and Alvin Tatrol left yesterday afternoon for Goldfield. They will return today.

W. H. Bohannon, editor of the Round Mountain Nugget, came in from the hydraulic camp last evening.

Al Revert, president of the Tonopah Lumber company, came down from Reno yesterday on legal business.

Earle R. Clemens departed yesterday for Rhyolite, where he will resume the writing of editorials on the Herald.

Edgar F. Collins, superintendent of the Montana, left yesterday for Los Angeles and other southern California cities.

John Gallagher returned yesterday from Yerington where he was called several weeks ago by the death of his sister, Mrs. Si Parker.

C. D. Terwilliger and W. A. Viney, of the Tonopah Lumber company, came down from Reno yesterday afternoon.

Ed Norton and family left yesterday for Sacramento, where Mr. Norton will re-enter the employ of the Wells Fargo Express company.

Robert L. Prouty has returned from Reno, where he was called on business relating to the State Pharmaceutical association, of which he is president.

"Berg" Bergstrom, who has been looking after the business end of the Simplex Auto company for the past six months, departed yesterday for Detroit.

H. W. Scheid passed through Tonopah Sunday enroute to Goldfield from Mina. He will defend "Slim" Grimmett, who was held to answer for the killing of Ed Baker.

W. T. Voorhees, the newly appointed constable at Pioneer, came up from the southern camp Sunday and yesterday took the oath of office at the county court house.

United States Deputy Marshal Tom Rogers, with a prisoner named Peter White, passed through Tonopah Sunday enroute to Carson, where White will answer trial on a charge of counterfeiting.

F. Halliday of the National Cash Register company, and J. H. Sims, of machine man, are in Tonopah. Both gentlemen have been employed new cash register at the Nevada Club. They will commence work on the electric piano in a few days.

J. H. Fisher and G. Dugdale, representatives of the American Type Foundry, with headquarters in San Francisco, spent Sunday in Tonopah, the guests of W. W. Booth, and departed yesterday for the coast. The gentlemen have spent the last two weeks in Goldfield, where they have been occupied in dismantling and crating the presses and other machinery formerly owned by the Goldfield Review, which they shipped to the coast. The plant was confiscated owing to the non-payment of the purchase price. The gentlemen state that a suit will soon be filed against the Goldfield Tribune to recover damages for material taken belonging to the Review.

"THE DAYS OF FORTY-NINE" Stockton, Cal., has just pulled safely through a celebration of a regular old fashioned gold seekers' rush, such as they had in the "Days of Forty-nine." "Nevada Will" Davis, who served his apprenticeship on the Appeal, went into the clothes of that period and, strapping a six-shooter on his right hip, published a paper called the "Gold Gulch Gazette."

He was shot at four times during the week and the paper was a hummer while it lasted. Here are some of the items called at random:

"Plute" Cobb Rebuked

"Plute" Cobb, a little sawed-off runt from Shirt-tail Gulch, was in town wearing a pair of button shoes. Now, if there is anything the boys delight in, it is to manhandle a dude. "Plute" resented their familiarity and tried to make a gun play. The boys took his possum away from him and then decided to remove his shoes. There were ten of
