

Ensemble---Act II---The Musical Comedy Hit "The Gingerbread Man."

"The Gingerbread Man," a comic opera of the real school is scheduled for presentation here. The first performance will be given at a matinee Sunday afternoon at the Nevada theater. The company will play Sunday and Monday nights and will then leave for Reno. This genuine musical offering has demonstrated its merit for the past three years with unusual success, and has made one of the greatest impressions on the quality of its music alone, of any opera of recent years. It has a pretty little fantastic story and a superabundance of good comedy, and as its characters are particularly interesting, it has never failed to give genuine satisfaction to its auditors. This season the original No. 1 cast is appearing in it, and as it comes fresh from the larger cities with the original production, it should demand attention. The cast is an unusually good one, and the chorus are said to be comely and sufficient in quantity. It has some very good lyrics written by Frederick G. Ranken and the music by A. Baldwin Sloane in his best style. Mr. Sloane has been responsible for the scores of "Coming Through the Rye," "Lady Teazles," "The Mocking Bird," and several other comic operas and musical comedies, and his music has never yet failed to score in anything that he has ever done. By music publishers he is considered "sure fire" and he receives a large sum yearly from the publishers for an option on the publishing of his scores alone. Seats will be on sale Thursday at the Miners' Drug store.
