communities, and the conditions on the frontier were such that the qualities of the good and bad alike were rather more strikingly manifested than in older communities; but among the men who tried to lead hard-working, decent lives, there was a feeling of genuine democracy, which represented an approach to the American ideal, which we certainly should do everything in our power to preserve. We did not try to say that men were equal, but we did our best to secure something like an equality of opportunity and an equality of reward for good service; and, moreover, each man expected to be received, and, on the whole, was received, wherever he went, on the footing that his merits warranted.
"Now, so far as possible, these qualities and the conditions that bring about these qualities should be kept in the great states which are growing out of the old frontier communities. We need to strive for the general social betterment of the people as a whole, and yet to encourage individual liberty and set high reward on individual initiative up to the point where they become detrimental to the general public welfare. In continually and earnestly striving for this betterment of social and economical conditions in our complex industrial civilization, we should work in the old frontier spirit of rugged strength and courage, and yet with the old frontier spirit of brotherly comradeship and good will. I do not mean that we should refrain from hating wrong; on the contrary, I would preach fiery wrath against wrong. But I would not preach such ROOSEVELT GALLEY THREE 33 wrath against the wrong doer; save in those cases where his wrong doing really is due to evil moral attributes on his part, and not to a wrong or false system, of which he is almost as much the victim as the beneficiary. Sometimes a wrong represents the deliberate wickedness of the wrongdoer, in which case the remedy is to punish him; but sometimes it represents the effects of a false social system, in which case the right course is to alter what is false in the system. Both principles need to be kept in view, as guides to our conduct, and it is necessary, sometimes to work in accordance with the one and sometimes with the other.

SPLENDID PROGRAM AT THE BUTLER TONIGHT
The usual large Saturday night crowd was in attendance at the Butler last night, and it goes without saying that they certainly enjoyed the best of the season. Commencing at today's matinee there will be another entire change of program, at which time the management will show five pictures. The following will be the program: "Through the Enemy's Lines" (drama); "Pelkin, the Walled City" (scenic); "Mistaken Identity" (drama); "Awful Sympathy" (comedy); and a big Lubin feature drama entitled "Red Eagle's Love Affair." This is a splendid Indian picture with lots of life and excitement. This program is on for today only. It is a well-balanced program and should be witnessed by everybody.

WANTS THE SHORT TERM.
Joe Cook, who has submitted his name to the Republican voters as a candidate for the short term county commissioner, was a visitor in Tonopah yesterday from Manhattan. Mr. Cook has been a resident of Nye county for a number of years, five of which have been spent in Manhattan, where he is engaged in the business of mining and contracting. He knows the wants and needs of the county and if he gets the endorsement he is seeking his election is almost certain.

BACK TO HIS FIRST LOVE.
Yesterday's train brought C. R. Coykendall back to the old "Mother Camp." For the past year or two "Coy" has been nursing a raisin farm near Fresno, but the call of the desert got in his hood and he had to respond. He is here this time, he says, for a year at least, but he is such a good fellow that he will probably be kept longer.
