WILD NEVADA.

And now Nevada has answered the prayers of the anti-gambling league. The wallings of the various organizations in outside states that have long attempted to dictate to the people of this state, have borne fruit, and those who were instrumental in passing the act, should be happy. Nevada has been pictured as a territory of the real western sort; a place where men die with their boots on and eat with one hand, using the other to toy with a six-shooter or else shoot out the lights in the eating house; a place where rough miners and uncouth desperadoes gather and revel in lawless deeds; a place where tenderfeet are taught to dance to the tune of a Colt's forty-five; a place where cowpunchers shoot up the town once a week with astonishing regularity.

Yet to those who are acquainted with the people who reside within the confines of this domain, the description and belief that prevails in the east, is entirely of the opposite. Nevada today is peopled with a class that can be described as true westerners. The effete east would do well to visit this section where every person is known for his true self and his calibre is measured and known by the community. A man is a man in Nevada and when he ceases to prove himself one, he is informed of the fact. Hypocrisy may exist, but it will always be found in those unused to the ways of the west. A man's friends in Nevada can be counted on, no matter whether he is a millionaire or a pauper. Should one be a stranger and in the hour of stress, the true Nevadan, and they are all true, will come to one's aid.

The east would do well to follow the teachings of friendship as practiced in this commonwealth, as it would undoubtedly result for the betterment of all concerned. Lynchings in this state are unknown, yet one can hardly pick up a paper unless one reads the chronicling of a mob storming a jail in the eastern, southern or central states and hanging some poor unfortunate who is denied the right of a trial. There is an old saying that charity begins at home, and we would advise the other states to look to their own knitting.

TO THE MANOR BORN.

The red hot republican rally at Sparks brought out a large attendance at Robison's hall. Everybody was intellectually entertained by the republican spell-binders (considering that we, the people, had already read the platforms of both parties). The most effective speeches of the evening were made by Senator Nixon and Billy Booth. Well, what else can you expect, they are to the manor born.—Sparks Tribune.

Another Sale Reported Conveying Large Interests In the Ely District

During the past week the camp has been full of rumors to the effect that the Giroux company has purchased the holdings of the Ely townsite company and the properties of the Coppermines company, including its ranches and water rights in the Steptoe valley. These rumors have not been confirmed, but many circumstances with direct bearing hereon have led to their acceptance by the public, says the Ely Record. It is known that the directors of the Giroux company recently published a circular letter to the stockholders in which the statement was made that the company would erect its own plant in the district. It was also announced at this time by Thomas F. Cole that the company would soon commence the erection of its own plant in the district, which was confirmed by John D. Ryan in an interview in the Salt Lake papers last week. It is further known that the company is about to complete its equipment of the new Giroux shaft, and that the mines will soon be ready for production. It is also known that the company has measured the water supplies on the western side of the range, at Arnes, White River and Illipah, and is in fact familiar with the entire water supply of the district. The Giroux company owns two-thirds of the waters of Steptoe creek, and as it is in the market for water, it is only reasonable to suppose that it has at last closed a deal with the Coppermines company for the other seven-ninths of the water of that creek, which would afford the company an ample sup-

ed, would be constructed with the ultimate design of treating 10,000 tons of ore daily, which means the erection of another plant equal to that of the Nevada Consolidated company, from which Ely and East Ely would receive the entire benefit.

BLOWN UP BY DYNAMITE BUT IS NOT INJURED

SPOKANE, Oct. 3.—Peter Buhfor, a laborer, was hurled into the air with several tons of broken stone by the explosion of 85 sticks of giant powder while blasting in North Division street here, sustaining only a slight scratch on the fourth finger of his left hand.

He was standing directly over the charge when the blast was made. Workmen on the scene believed the man had been blown to pieces, but in a few moments Buhfor emerged from the debris, shook himself and asked to be taken to his home.

Afterward he said that the peculiar sensation of his hurried flight through space was the sound of sweet music and a display of brilliant colors. However, he added, he does not believe he lost consciousness from start to finish.

All Voters Must Register for Forthcoming General Election

The great register for the general elections to be held on November 8 will close on October 20 and those who have not registered at that time will be deprived of the privilege of voting at the fall election. Many persons have inferred that the fact of their having registered for the recent primary election or having been on the great register before the last general election would entitle them to vote this fall, but such is not the case. Every voter, no matter where he lives or what registry book or books he has signed in the past, must have his name entered on the great register before October 21, if he would vote at the general election this fall.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS ARE IN SESSION

The board of county commissioners met this morning at the regular monthly session. Regular routine business was practically all that came up for discussion and the members of the board spent the day in cleaning up the slate preparatory to starting on the county and town bills.
