

ODDIE USED OWN MONEY TO AID LEASERS

LOANED A SMALL SIZED FORTUNE THAT OUTPUT MIGHT BE INCREASED

Many men throughout the state are familiar with the interest that T. L. Oddie, the republican candidate for governor, has always shown for the man who is compelled to toil for a living. A striking example is that of Senator "Shorty" Kendall, now a senator from Nye county. Kendall and his partner, McMahon, had a lease on the Mizpah; they struck a shoot of ore and took out about $50,000 apiece. A dispute arose as to the ownership of this ore, the company claiming it under a technicality. Oddie knew that these men were right, as he and Jim Butler had made an agreement with them and when the company refused to allow them to receive the money from the smelters, Oddie instantly espoused their cause and sent word to the officers of the company that he would resign as their manager and take the case himself for Kendall and McMahon and fight it to a finish. The company realized that Oddie, as usual, was standing for a "square deal," and rather than lose him as manager, because they knew he was serving everyone's interest to the best of his ability, they backed down and told him to pay over the money.

In this connection, it might be well to add that Oddie did in the early days of Tonopah what has never been done before in any mining camp on earth. He used all his own money and borrowed all he could—and it amounted to several good-sized fortunes—and loaned it to the leasers in order that they might increase their output. He did not make one cent by doing this and did not intend to at the time—he did it for the purpose of helping the men who needed help in the camp; they were all poor men when they came here and so was he.

He saw a chance for Nevada to be rejuvenated by men who would make money through their own efforts and his help, and as a result, Tonopah is recognized as one of the most substantial mining camps in the country today.

MINE OUTPUT ESTIMATED AT FORTY MILLIONS

State Bullion Tax and License Agent Considine has submitted his report for the second quarter to the governor. Mr. Considine's report shows that Esmeralda county leads in the payment of the bullion tax, the returns for the second quarter amounting to $52,806.97. Nye county is second with $12,638.02. White Pine comes third, paying $7,706.24. Humboldt is next with $2,469.74. The report shows that for the second quarter the state received something over $75,000 from the bullion tax. This is at the rate of more than $300,000 a year. Mr. Considine states that the gross output reported for the quarter approximates $8,000,000 and estimates the production for 1910 at something like $40,000,000.—Virginia Chronicle.

FOOD PACKAGES MUST BE PROPERLY LABELED

The board of control of the Nevada pure food commission has issued circulars informing all merchants, butchers and ice cream men that if they use certain artificial coloring matter or preservatives they will be prosecuted unless the articles containing the same are labeled as containing the foreign substance. The pure food commission has discovered that much benzoate of soda is being used and also that ice cream cones are being colored artificially. Unless this is stopped prosecution will follow.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MAURICE HARTNETT

PIONEER MINER OF EUREKA DISTRICT KILLED BY GIANT POWDER EXPLOSION

About 1:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon an explosion was generally heard in Eureka, the sound of which seemed to come from Prospect mountain. Later it was ascertained by those who heard the report in town and saw the smoke arising thereafter that it was in the vicinity of where Maurice Hartnett's cabin was located on the east side of Prospect mountain, about four miles from Eureka.

Shortly after the explosion James McVey and R. A. Laird drove up to the place from which the report had come, when they discovered that Hartnett's cabin had been blown up and was on fire. Upon further investigation they found the mangled dead body of Mr. Hartnett about 50 feet from the cabin, where it had evidently been blown. The left arm was missing and a piece of board or timber had evidently struck him in the breast and, taking a downward course, completely disemboweled the body.

They then returned to Eureka and informed Coroner L. W. Cromer of what had happened. The coroner shortly after summoned a jury and visited the scene of the explosion and brought the remains to town. Wednesday morning a coroner's inquest was held and the jury returned a verdict that his death was caused by an accidental explosion of giant powder.

Deceased had been in Eureka for nearly a week previous to his death and returned to his cabin last Monday. How the explosion occurred is not known, but it is thought by some that he had put giant powder in the oven of a cooking stove in the house to thaw it and then laid down and fell asleep. Others believe the cabin in some way caught fire and the powder and caps which he kept in the house became ignited and produced it.

Deceased was one of the pioneer miners of this district, coming here from Treasure hill and Hamilton in 1870. He came to this state from California in the late 60's. He was a gold miner in Chile and Peru over fifty years ago. For a number of years he was foreman of the Diamond mine at Prospect.—Eureka Sentinel.

CANDIDATES FIGHT FOR NOMINATION

The supreme court handed down a decision Monday sustaining the decision of the district court of White Pine county in the contest between Henry C. Nicholson and H. A. Comins for the republican nomination for county commissioner of that county.

There were only five votes difference and Nicholson contested the primary election because the election board, after the polls had been closed, adjourned to another house to count the ballots.

The district court decided in favor of Comins and the supreme court affirms the decision of the lower court. Therefore H. A. Comins will be the republican nominee.

STATE BANK CASE WILL BE HEARD

The attorneys in the State Bank case arrived in Carson Monday morning to take up the bank suit. Judge Massey, on behalf of Attorney Peck and T. B. Rickey, presented affidavits and made an argument for adjournment of the case until the 8th of November, on the grounds that Attorney Peck is now in Washington where he has been called in the Miller & Lux case and is being held there by an adjournment of the arguments until a later date. Judge Langan refused to further adjourn the case but did postpone the hearing until Tuesday morning that Mr. Rickey might be represented in court by an attorney.—Carson News.

WILLIAM EASTON; IDEAL CANDIDATE FOR LIEUT. GOV.

WAS THE FIRST TO RAISE ASSESSMENT OF SOUTHERN PACIFIC

William Easton, republican candidate for lieutenant-governor, was born in the province of Quebec in 1854, of Scotch parentage. He spent his early life in the province of Ontario working on a farm. At the age of fourteen he left home, and from that time on made his own way through life. He had learned the blacksmith trade at the age of 17, and can shoe a horse or set a wagon tire now.

He came to Austin, Nevada, in 1875, and worked at his trade in summer and chopped cordwood in winter. In 1877 he went to work in the mines, following this occupation until the people of Lander county elected him to the office of sheriff and assessor. He held this office continuously for four terms, and after the two offices were made separate, was assessor for four years. During the past four years, he has served his county as state senator.

As assessor, Mr. Easton was the first official to raise the assessment of the Southern Pacific to $20,000 per mile. This was in the year 1891, when the 29.15 miles of main line track of the company in Lander county was assessed at $20,000 a mile and the side track at $10,000 a mile. The board of equalization, rather than risk a lawsuit, nullified the assessor's work by reducing the assessment to $13,000 a mile.

In the senate, Mr. Easton was chairman of the committee which reported favorably on the bill creating the present Nevada railroad commission. He also stood for the anti-gambling bill, and all legislation calculated to improve the conditions of labor.

When the railroad rate bill was pending in congress last winter, Mr. Easton circulated a petition in support of the enactment of the long and short haul amendment and wired the same at his own expense to Nevada's representatives in both house and senate.

In 1899 he purchased the international hotel in Austin, and has also been engaged in the hardware and farm machinery business for a number of years. In 1888 he married Mrs. Lucy Stowe and has a family of three children, a daughter and two sons.

He is the only candidate on either of the state tickets from that section of the state comprising the counties of Churchill, Lander, Eureka, Humboldt and Elko.

For seven years he worked in the mines of the Manhattan Silver Mining company. He was president of the Austin Miners' union when it had 500 members, and was its treasurer when it had one of the largest funds in the state. In the operation of numerous mining properties for himself, he has always paid miners the top scale.
