PRINTY TRIO WILL APPEAR AT BUTLER TONIGHT

CLEVER LITTLE JUVENILES ARE HERE FOR A WEEK'S STAY

Today's program at the Butler contains a beautiful Biograph drama entitled "The Fugitive," which is a psychological picture based upon the strength of mother love. Other pictures to be shown are "Tragical Concealment," "Crossing the Andes Mountains in South America," "A Trip Over the Rocky and Selkirk Mountains in Canada," and a roaring comedy entitled "The Lassie's Birthday." ALL WRECKED STEAMSHIP ARE RESCUED

Government Launch Aids Shipwrecked Passengers While Vessel Flounders Off The Alaskan Coast.

By Associated Press.
SEATTLE, Dec. 12—No news was received this morning from the Alaska Steamship company's steamer Olympia, which went ashore Saturday night on Bligh Island, Prince William Sound, while bound from Cordova to Valdez with 106 persons on board. There is reason for believing that all will be saved by the relief vessels sent to the scene. Officers of the company say the hull of the vessel is strong and will not break up. There is an abundance of food on the ship. The wireless apparatus on the steamer is out of commission. Twenty-eight of the 52 passengers were bound for Valdez, including United States District Judge E. E. Cushman, his wife and a number of the officers of his court, which was to have convened today at Valdez. The vessel struck during a high gale, and the seas were breaking over her when the last wireless was received.

By Associated Press.
VALDEZ, Alaska, Dec. 12—All the passengers of the steamship Olympia have been saved. Some of them were brought here by a government launch, while others are safely housed at Ellemar. The Olympia unloaded her after-hold at Cordova and a gale hitting her, she became unmanageable.
The crew of the Olympia was also saved, with the baggage and mails. It is hoped to save the cargo also, but the steamer, it is now feared, will be a total loss. The rock crashed through hold No. 1.

HOLD QUARTERLY MEETING OF BOARD OF DIRECTORS

AFAIRS OF TONOPAH BANKING CORPORATION IN EXCEL- LENT CONDITION

The regular quarterly meeting of the board of directors of the Tonopah Banking corporation was held in this city Saturday afternoon at the private offices of the bank. During the meeting the conditions of the bank were carefully examined and everything found to be satisfactory. Vice President F. M. Lee presided while W. J. Harris and H. C. Brougher came down from the north to be in attendance.
The quarterly report, as submitted by Eugene Howell, cashier of the institution, clearly showed the excellent condition of the bank with regard to the large number of deposits now carried, and the surplus on hand. In fact the bank is carrying a larger surplus on hand than is required by the state banking board, which speaks well for the policy of the directors.

WANT GUNS RETAINED FOR ORNAMENTS

Some time ago the government ordered the old ordnance used by the national guard of this state returned to the department, part of it going to the Presidio and the balance to posts in the east. This includes the old guns that were trotted over the state by the different military companies, and also the gatling gun and the two old cast cannon that the Virginia City boys used to parade with.

All of the outfit is obsolete and out of date, and would probably blow the first man off the face of the earth who attempted to fire them.
Governor Dickerson has written Senator Newlands to see if it is possible for the state to retain the old pieces of fighting machinery as ornaments to the public park at the capitol in Carson. The governor figures that by placing the guns on the lawn, where the kids can ride them and look over the ancient pieces, that they will do more good than if broken up for the scrap pile.

Every mother's son has a natural reverence for an old cannon. It matters little how useless it is, and if the guns could be placed on the lawns it would be a source of interest and amusement to the young as well as the old soldiers.
The pieces are nearly as much out of date as the Spanish guns that have been distributed throughout America, and quite as harmless. It is hoped the governor will succeed in his endeavor to keep the old trappings at Carson.—Carson Appeal.

MINES AT BUCKHORN HAVE CLOSED DOWN

From parties arriving in Eureka from Buckhorn a few days ago the Sentinel learns that the company operating there the first of the week closed down its works and laid off all the men in its employ with the exception of a couple of watchmen. The company has already developed its mines there sufficiently to begin the extraction of the ore and the building of a mill to reduce it, and it is understood that before bringing in the machinery for its new mill it will await the rebuilding of the Eureka and Palisade railroad.
