INCUBATOR BABY DIES
 It is with regret that the Post chronicles the death of the incubator baby mentioned in last week's issue—born to Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Clark. The little fellow seemed to thrive nicely until cold weather set in, after which all efforts to sustain a proper circulation were futile. The baby weighed 1 1/2 pounds at birth.—Manhattan Post.

NATIONAL MURDERER
 DRAWS LIFE SENTENCE FOR HIS AWFUL CRIME

Riley Wooten was found guilty of murder in the first degree at Winnemucca Friday morning and the jury fixed the punishment at imprisonment for life in the state penitentiary.

The Humboldt Star tells the following story of the crime:

Wooten shot and killed Deputy Sheriff Holmes at National on the night of August 27 last. The tragedy occurred on the street in front of the National hotel. Wooten had had trouble with a man named Lynch in a house in the tenderloin district. Wooten was induced to leave the house and went to Guy Bishop's tent and armed himself with the latter's rifle. Wooten was dissuaded by the woman who conducted the house from going back into the place and renewing the quarrel and he started up the street, having been joined in the meantime by Guy Bishop. In front of the National hotel they met Officer Holmes, between whom and Wooten it is said there was unfriendly feeling. Exactly what occurred will perhaps never be known. Several persons who were in the neighborhood heard three shots fired, one as from a rifle and two a few seconds afterwards as from a revolver. Immediately afterward Wooten and Bishop were seen running away from the scene and persons who rushed to the place found Officer Holmes lying dead. He had been shot through the heart by a rifle bullet.

Wooten made no attempt to escape but gave himself up to Sheriff Lamb the next day.
 All the circumstances of the tragedy pointed to the killing of Holmes having been a cold-blooded affair. Wooten was drunk at the time and had been in that condition for a number of days and has the reputation of being of an ugly disposition when under the influence of liquor. On the witness stand Wooten declared that Holmes fired the first shot. Bishop, the only other witness of the tragedy, did not testify at the trial. At the coroner's inquest and preliminary examination his testimony was not positive as to who fired the shot.

Wooten has been a resident of Nevada for several years and before going to National he worked in Seven Troughs, Chafey and Gold Circle. He is a stationary engineer and miner and a capable and industrious man when not under the influence of liquor.
 When the jury's verdict was rendered, Attorney T. A. Brandon appeared for the defendant, General Donovan having departed the evening before when the case was submitted. Judge French fixed February 5, 1911, as the date of pronouncing sentence upon Wooten, the sentence being deferred in order to give defendant's counsel time to prepare and offer a motion for a new trial, notice of such motion having been given.

BILL NYE'S
 FAMOUS OLD
 CELESTIAL MINE

EXPERIENCE DESCRIBED BY HUMORIST WILL APPEAL TO MANY READERS

I have decided to sacrifice another valuable piece of mining property this spring. It would not be sold if I had the necessary capital to develop it. It is a good mine, for I located it myself. I remember well the day that I climbed up on the ridge-pole of the universe, and nailed my location notice to the eaves of the sky.

It was in August that I discovered the Vanderbilt claim in a big snowstorm. It cropped out apparently a little southeast of a point where the arc of the orbit of Venus bisects the Milky Way, and ran due east 80 chains, three links, and a swivel, thence south fifteen paces and a half to a blue spot in the sky, thence proceeding west 80 chains, three links and a half to a fixed star, thence north across the lead to place of beginning.

The Vanderbilt set out to be a carbonate deposit, but changed its mind. I sent a piece of the cropping to a man over in Salt Lake, who is a good assayer and quite a scientist, if he would brace up and avoid humor. His assay reads as follows, to-wit:
 "Salt Lake City, U. T., Aug. 25, '77
 Mr. Bill Nye:—Your specimen of ore, No. 35,332, current series, has been submitted to assay, and shows the following result:

Metal	Ounces per ton
Gold
Silver
Stove polish trace
Old gray whetstone01
Bromide of axle-grease stain
Copperas trace 5c worth
Blue vitriol trace 5c worth

McVicker, Assayer.
 Note—I also find that the formation is igneous, prehistoric and erroneous. If I were you I would sink a prospect shaft below the vertical slide where the old red brimstone and predamite slag crosscut the malachite and intersect the schist. I think that would be schist about as good as anything you could do. Then send me specimens, with $2 for assay, and we shall see what we shall see."

Well, I didn't know he was "an humorist," you see, so I went to work on the Vanderbilt to try to do what Mac said. I sank a shaft and everything else I could get hold of on that claim. It was so high that we had to carry water up there to drink when we began, and before fall we had struck a vein of the richest water that you ever saw. We had more water in that mine than the regular could use.

When we got down 60 feet I sent some pieces of the pay streak to the assayer again. This time he wrote me quite a letter, and at the same time enclosed the certificate of assay.

BULLION THIEVES TO BE TRIED

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 2.—The four prisoners charged with bringing into this state the bars of stolen Alaska bullion—Elmer and Margaret Smith, "Big" and Little Tex Woodson—base their hopes for dismissal in the police court and freedom from further prosecution on their knowledge of the great difficulty of identifying the bars in the possession of the police.

Unless this identification can be made by men who handled the gold in Alaska nothing more definite can be proven than that the bars were probably stolen, which would be insufficient evidence to hold the four prisoners longer in custody.
 The American Savings and Trust company of Seattle, evidently unaware that Inspector Durand had viewed the bars and had positively declared that they were not a part of the gold stolen in Alaska waters from mail pouches, sent yesterday the following telegram to Chief of Police Seymour:
 "We believe gold recovered from Woodsons is part of mail shipment made by the American Bank of Alaska last August and disappeared between Dawson and White Horse. If bars weigh less than four pounds we believe we can identify them."
 The attorneys for the defendants are confident that the cases against their clients will be dismissed and they intimate they will institute suit to recover the bars from the police and the large amount of coin which was found on the persons of the prisoners.

On the very first of Jan. A new diary he began; But before the first of Feb. His well-meant zeal began to ebb.

TWO YOUTHS TO APPEAR BEFORE
 GRAND JURY

YOUTHFUL RHYOLITE HIGHWAYMEN ARE PLACED IN THE COUNTY JAIL.

Constable Hofman, of Rhyolite, arrived from the southern camp this morning, having in custody Bert Doughitt and John Deal, the two young men who were arrested for holding up a crowd of Rhyoliters several nights ago. The two prisoners were placed in the county jail where they will remain awaiting the action of the grand jury. The following article from the Rhyolite Herald gives the full particulars of the affair, of which mention was made in Saturday's issue of the Bonanza:

Shortly after 10 o'clock last night, in Justice Kalaher's court, John Deal and Bert Doughitt, both under 18 years of age, were held to answer to the grand jury on the charge of grand larceny. The state was represented by Horatio Alling and the defendants by Clay Tallman. Miss Frances Smith of Tonopah acted as court stenographer. Bail was fixed at $1000 each, and in default of bonds, the boys are held in the city jail, awaiting transfer to Tonopah.

Deal and Doughitt are alleged to have held up a poker game at Gus Pistinat's saloon on Golden street, at about 4 o'clock on the morning of December 21, getting away with from $200 to $350, the amount of money in the game being variously estimated.

The hold-ups, who were masked and wore overcoats to conceal their identity, entered the front door of the saloon, and told the hangers-on to "put 'em up, boys! Hold up your hands!" The larger hold-up had two six-shooters and the other had one. While the larger robber trained his artillery on the victims, the smaller one raked the money from the table into the hat of one of the players, the owner of the hat being admonished to keep his hands high in the air.

Having cleared the table of the coin, the intruders drew away swiftly and disappeared. The victims and the lookers-on thought they recognized the hold-ups as soon as they stepped into the place, and the bunch gave chase immediately, locating Deal and Doughitt at the Novelty saloon. Constable Hofmann was summoned and arrested the boys. The hat with the money was found under the back porch of the Novelty, and a division of the money took place there and then among the victims.

The testimony at the hearing brought out the fact that a game had been in progress in Gus' place all night; that several had sat in the game, among them Deal, who it is said lost several dollars early in the night. Deal is said to have visited the saloon three times that night before the hour of the hold-up, while Doughitt had been in once. The witnesses for the state included Gus Pistinat, Milo Rudolovich, Carl Johnson, Dolly Beam, Dick Hibbard and Archie Warling; also Constable Hofmann. Not all of the witnesses were victims of the hold-up, some of them being spectators, while some of the victims were not present at the hearing.

Deputy District Attorney Alling, in discussing the case, said that in all probability the two young men will be indicted for grand larceny as charged, and that the grand jury will likely return indictments against those engaged in and permitting the alleged poker game, it having been shown at the hearing that a game was in progress when the hold-up was made. The case will be handled by the district attorney-elect, J. A. Sanders, whose recommendations to the grand jury will be awaited with interest.—Rhyolite Herald.

PRESENT BAND LEADER WITH HANDSOME BATON

A. W. Carl, secretary and treasurer of the local Musicians' union, and also conductor of the Tonopah Military band, was presented with a handsome ebony baton Christmas by the local musicians. The baton is a costly one and is encircled with three silver ferrules which add greatly to its beauty. The gift was greatly appreciated by Mr. Carl and is now numbered as one of his most valued possessions.
