Today's Silver
Quotation 52 5-8

VOL. IX. NO 125

TONOPAH, NEVADA, MONDAY EVENING, MARCH 20, 1911.

PRICE 10 CENTS.

$200,000 IS INVOLVED IN LEGAL BATTLE

ATTORNEYS FROM FAR AND NEAR MATCH ABILITY IN CASE.

With legal lights present from far-away Maryland and distant Texas, others from Carson City and Tonopah, the suit of Julius B. Fensterwald against the Homestead King Consolidated Bullfrog Mining and Milling company et al. opened in the district court this morning before Judge Averill.

The suit is brought to declare void a mortgage of $200,000 and to have a lien of $5000 advanced by the plaintiff to the mining and milling company declared a first lien. From all indications the case threatens to be one of the longest drawn out legal battles ever heard in this district.

Representing the plaintiff are: James D. Finch of Carson City, Thomas Mackenzie of Baltimore and Judge H. H. Atkinson of Tonopah. L. B. Milliam of Dallas and Hugh H. Brown of Tonopah are acting for the company.

"THE DELUGE" AT THE BUTLER ON WEDNESDAY

BIBLICAL INCIDENT WILL BE VIVIDLY PORTRAYED BY VITAGRAPH.

On next Wednesday afternoon and evening the Butler will show a special vitagraph subject, entitled "The Deluge." This picture will be shown in addition to the regular program. The price of admission will be the same—10 cents.

Probably everybody has formed a conception of the deluge, which is a mental picture of a huge house-boat, a crowd of curious people lounging about and making fun of the hoary-headed old man and his sons who have been for years constructing this boat. Then comes the procession of animals into the boat and the burst of waters, which overwhelms the scoffing people outside, while the ark rides to safety with all its motley collection of animals and people. They will not be disappointed in this picture. It is all here, just as the fancy has pictured it. The staging is as elaborate as anything undertaken in a long time, and the reproduction of the scenes which have been infallibly impress upon the minds of the people since their childhood are so faithful that the audience sits almost spellbound as the scenes follow each other in quick succession. The scene of the drowning of the multitude is one of the most realistic ever put on the screen. And there is a holy calm falls over the senses as the ark is seen floating serenely upon the waters which have overwhelmed the world. You live the whole story. You see it actually transpiring before you. You actually see the waste of water, and you wonder whether they will ever subside. Then comes the episodes of the raven and the dove—both reproduced as described. And finally the grounding of the ark and the return of the animals to the world—now a dead world—to be re-peopled. The entire picture is a marvelous rendition of one of the most dramatic stories in all history. The producer has looked very carefully after costuming and surroundings, and he has displayed a marvelous breadth of Biblical knowledge to reproduce a scene of this character so faithfully and so realistically.

STRIKE STILL ON.
CINCINNATI, Ohio, March 20.—Despite persistent reports from many sources today that the strike of white firemen on the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific railroad would be settled in a day or two, neither side had anything to say that tended toward an agreement. No conferences were held and Vice-President Teat refused to discuss the situation.

RUMOR RETIRES WOLGAST FROM FIGHTING GAME

PACKY M'FARLAND CLAIMS THE TITLE AND ISSUES CHALLENGE TO ALL COMERS.

NEW YORK, March 20.—Rumors of the impending retirement from the ring of Ad Wolgast, the lightweight champion, lent added interest to a statement issued here by Packy McFarland, in which the latter alleges at considerable length that he is the only real simon pure lightweight boxer in the world. He declared that any desiring to contest his claim may apply in person at their peril. The only reason that his championship class is not recognize, says McFarland, is a little matter of a couple of pounds in weight. His statement goes into details on this proposition of weight.

"The weight question," he says, "seems to be the bone of contention with champions who wish to sidestep a challenge. The lightweight limit in this country is 133 pounds. Under my agreement with Moran, I made 135 pounds without difficulty, and I am now confident that I can fight at the 133-pound limit. What is more, I am willing to do so. I have never been beaten and I think this record counts for something in support of my claims, that I am the legitimate champion. "As to weight limit, it is a matter of history that Lavigne, Erne and Gans all won the title at weights above the 133-pound limit."

BUTLER BILL FOR TONIGHT IS A GOOD ONE

CLEVER TEAM OF DANCERS AND SINGERS OPEN FOR THE WEEK.

At the Butler theater this evening "The Alvisos," a very clever team of dancers and singers, will open a one-week's engagement, appearing at each evening show with something new and novel. The pictures for tonight are: "Slaves' Revolt," (drama); "Rice Industry in Japan," (educational); "Then Words for 25 Cents," (comedy); "A Woman's Voice," (comedy), and a big Selig feature comedy, entitled "Too Much Mother-in-Law." This is a good show and should be seen to be appreciated.

NO ORANGE SHERBET ON ST. PATRICK'S DAY

NEW YORK, March 20.—Though his patriotic feeling nearly cost him his job, Dennis O'Shea, one of the chefs in the Columbia university commons, flatly refused to profane St. Patrick's day by making orange sherbet as the dessert for the evening meal. He told Clarence R. Jones, the student manager, that he would prevent any of the other chefs from doing so, as long as any breath remained in his body.

Jones made out the bill of fare on Thursday evening and when he put on orange sherbet it did not occur to him that the dish would hardly be appropriate for March 17. O'Shea noticed the offending dish and rebelled. The situation was finally solved by serving raspberry sherbet, although the students had been eating raspberry sherbet every night for a week and were beginning to get tired of it. They will have orange sherbet all this week.

TO PRISON FOR LIFE.

PRESTONBURG, Ky., March 20.—Another chapter in a noted mountain feud case was closed when Jack McCurry was sentenced here to life imprisonment in the penitentiary for complicity in the assassination of Monroe Vance, shot from ambush. Journal Moore already is serving a life sentence because of the killing, and Sylvester Jearhart and Milton Moore are to be tried on charges growing out of the murder. The killing was the result of an old feud.

RICH GOLD STRIKE REPORTED FIFTY MILES NORTH OF RENO

People Are Considerably Excited and Rapidly Taking Up Claims.

RENO, March 20.—News of a big strike of a rich vein of gold and silver ore within fifty miles of Reno was brought in Saturday by travelers on the Nevada-California-Oregon railroad from Amadee. They report that the strike was made on Fort Sage mountain, twenty miles southeast of Amadee, Cal., which would be about thirty miles north of Reno near the Nevada-California line.

So intense is the excitement as a result of the report that homesteaders in the valley and prospectors for miles around are rushing to the spot in order to secure desirable locations on the vein, whose outcrop is seen for a long distance. The original strikes gives ore assaying from $80 to $110 a ton in gold and some silver, and was located by Silas J. States, C. C. Becker, A. M. Barron, F. W. Wagner, John Mouck, D. C. Price and several other homesteaders.

The strike of the vein is northeast and southwest and the distinguishing dyke was found about two-thirds up the mountain, above the timber line. The outcropping shows down on the flat and float has been

VERDICT REACHED BY COURTMARTIAL

WASHINGTON, March 20.—The findings of the courtmartial of Captain Austin M. Knight, who was tried at Norfolk on charges of not having taken due precautions to prevent the sinking of the monitor Puritan in the ordnance test in Hampton Roads last November, reached the navy department Saturday afternoon.

Acting Secretary of the Navy Winthrop announced the verdict would not be made public until the testimony had been reviewed and the findings officially approved.

ATTACK ON JAPANESE RESIDENCE BY GANG

GREELEY, Colo., March 20.—Scores of men and boys last night attacked the house of George Ikeda, a local Japanese merchant, smashed all the windows and dispersed before the police arrived. Mrs. Ikeda and another Japanese woman took refuge in the cellar. The attack is believed to have resulted from the Japanese-American war talk by idlers. The police are investigating, but no arrests have been made. The town is quiet today and no further trouble is anticipated.

ALEC McDONALD FUNERAL TO BE HELD TOMORROW

Alec A. McDonald, the employe of the Tonopah Mining company who was stricken with an acute attack of pneumonia last Wednesday evening and removed to the Miners' hospital on Thursday last, passed away at 2:30 yesterday afternoon. Mr. McDonald leaves behind a host of friends who deeply feel for his widow and orphan in the hour of their misfortune, and extend their heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved.

Funeral services will be held from the Presbyterian church at 12:30 tomorrow, under the auspices of the Miners' union.

CHICAGO BUSINESS MEN START FOR THE ORIENT

CHICAGO, March 20.—Twenty-seven Chicagoans left San Francisco, where they will join another party of Chicago residents and friends, and on March 21 sail for the Orient.

Most of those who left are members of the Chicago Association of Commerce and were numbered in the party of 200 which was to start from Seattle for Japan today, but which was obliged to forgo the trip because of an accident to the steamship Minnesota, on which they were to have taken passage. A number of members of the as-traced from the valley to the ledge.

The whole northern country along the right of way of the N.-C.-O. is greatly excited over the discovery.

A further report and more detailed description of the strike comes from S. J. States, one of the locators. He says that the strike was made on State Line mountain, also called Fort Sage mountain, and is about forty-five miles north of Reno, in Washoe county, Nevada. It is seven or eight miles northeast of Calveva, Cal., on the Western Pacific railroad. The ledge can be traced two miles, the mountain being very heavily mineralized with various ledges.

Assays taken from the top of the ledge on the Gold Brick claim run $80 gold and $5 silver, and $100 gold and $10 silver. Assays made by a Reno assayer.

The ledge on the Gold Brick shows by trenching to be about 20 feet wide with iron sulphides and quartz. There has never been any prospecting done in this section. There is plenty of good water and wood. It was located by S. J. States, Fred W. Wagner, John Wagner, John and Henry Mack.

sociation had left for San Francisco before they heard of the postponement of the trip and so new arrangements were made.

A number of people from Omaha, New York and Des Moines will join the party enroute to San Francisco. The itinerary of the trip includes stops at Honolulu, Kobe, Nagasaki, Manila and Hongkong, and it is expected the party will return to San Francisco about June 15.

ADMINISTRATORS FOR ESTATE OF DEAD MINERS

Attorneys J. Grant Miller of Reno and District Attorney Sanders, acting for relatives of three of the miners killed in the Belmont disaster of February 23, have removed the estates from the hands of Public Administrator Keenan, whose power to act has been revoked. In the estate of J. P. Ryan, R. H. Dalzell is now administrator; for Frank Burke, Andy Canavan will act, while Frank Merkle will administer the estate of Matt Slemsek.

JOE STEFFENS, FORMER PRIZEFIGHTER, FINED $20

"Twenty dollars or ten days" was the decision of Judge H. H. Atkinson in the case of Bob Androgosovich versus Joe Steffens, a former prizefighter, on a charge of assault last Saturday afternoon. Steffens was given until today to dig up the $20 or surrender himself for the tolls.

BROUGHER EXTENSION SHAFT IS SINKING

Owing to the sinking of the shaft head of the Jim Butler-Brougher, Extension mine, Chief of Police Smith is now in communication with some of the stockholders of the mining company and will enforce the erection of a fence around the shaft in order to protect citizens, who might be precipitated into the workings through a land-slide.

EXTENSION GROCERY STORE NOW MOVED

M. R. Glozovaz, proprietor of the Extension grocery store has removed his place of business on Main street, next door to the Palace hotel. The Extension grocery is now open and ready for business at the new stand, with a new up-to-date line of grocery merchandise.

B. Shemanski, the jeweler, returned this morning from an eight days' visit in order that he may give his entire time to his rapidly growing Tonopah trade. Mr. Shemanski's family will move to Tonopah within the next few days.

BURRO, BURRO, WHO IS OWNER OF THIS BURRO?

SURE-FOOTED FRIEND OF MAN RAISES PROBLEM THROUGH DISPUTE IN OWNERSHIP.

Just a mild-eyed, long-eared, inoffensive looking little burro is causing considerable of a dispute in Tonopah at the present time, and said burro will eventually land in the police court, provided the problem of its ownership is not speedily settled by the contending parties. Young William Sparks at the present time claims the ownership of the animal, which has been in his possession since November last, Sparks purchased the animal from Howard Smith, the latter having bought it from Victor Carlson.

H. C. Leonard, a prospector who maintains that he owned a string of six burros, one of which he lost last June, and which, he alleges, is the one now owned by young Sparks, is the contender in the fight for possession. The case has been recited pro and con for the edification of the chief of police but no decision rendered. Meanwhile the faithful beast continues to eat regularly and refuses to enter the controversy.

WOMEN ARE "FRISKED" FOR JEWELS

SEARCH OF UNDERWEAR FAILS TO REVEAL DIAMOND NECKLACE.

NEW YORK, March 20.—Mrs. Joseph Hull, whose husband is president of the Merchants' National Bank of Savannah, Ga., and her daughter, Miss Nannie Hull, returning passengers on the French liner La Provence, were rigorously searched by women customs officers yesterday for a diamond necklace, which the officials failed to find.

"We were made to take off even our stockings," said Mrs. Hull. "Every stitch of clothing was searched, even our hair not escaping. I consider such treatment an outrage."

EXPRESS DRIVERS WILL FIGHT BATTLE ALONE

NEW YORK, March 20.—The striking drivers of the Adams, Wells-Fargo and United States Express companies will have to fight their battle alone without the halting of "everything on wheels," according to announcements made here Saturday by labor leaders.

The change of front followed the receipt of a telegram from Daniel J. Tobin, of Indianapolis, president of the International Brotherhood of teamsters. Mr. Tobin said there would be no general strike and instructed William H. Ashton, the general organizer, to declare against such a move.

LADIES' TAILORS HERE TO STAY

The American Ladies' Tailoring company, although only a recent arrival in Tonopah, gives promise of being here to stay. Elsewhere in this issue will be found an advertisement of the new concern that tells plainer than anything else the line upon which the company is working. Already a large patronage has been built up, through considerable conservative advertising. Not alone on advertising, however, is the American Ladies' Tailoring company depending, but is simply taking that means of advising the public of the fact that it is bringing to Tonopah reasonable prices.

SWEETWATER IS VISITED BY A BAD SNOWSLIDE

BUILDINGS CONSIDERED TO BE SAFE ARE SWEPT AWAY.

RENO, Nev., March 20.—A snowslide at Clearwater a few days ago destroyed the boarding house and stable at the old Silverdo mine. The buildings destroyed had been erected in 1902 and it was thought that they were perfectly safe from anything of the kind. Frank Dodge was employed at the property, but was sleeping in the assay office, which is located closer to the tunnel in which he was employed than the destroyed buildings.

Coupled with the news of the destruction of the buildings comes the good news that the long-sought-for ledge in the tunnel has been tapped and that it is all that was wished for it.

BASHFUL MAN IN MANHATTAN SEEKS A WIFE

EFFICIENCY OF NEWSPAPER IN MATTERS MATRIMONIAL GIVEN TEST.

The latest issue of the Manhattan Post contains the following matrimonial announcement:

The Post knows of a certain Manhattan mining man, of middle age, good appearance and pretty well supplied with this world's goods to support himself and a partner, who is willing to cross the matrimonial stream if the right woman comes along. The gentleman in question is rather modest and of a retiring disposition, but allows the Post to bring the matter to the public in this way, provided that his name is kept out of print for the present. He declares (and he appears to be sincere in his declaration) that he "will go through" if things can be brought about for him to meet the lady of his choice. Doubtless you will read this and think it to be a josh, but it is not. It is a strictly bona fide proposition and the man in the case means business. Any letters intended for him should be addressed "Single," care the Post, and they will be promptly turned over to him.

SEA GIVES UP BODY OF AVIATOR GRACE

OSTEND, Belgium, March 20.—A body was brought to the surface in this harbor yesterday which is thought to be that of Cecil Grace, the aviator, who was lost last December while attempting a return aeroplane flight from Calais to Dover. Although greatly disfigured, the body is said by those who examined it to have the appearance of that of the luckless English aviator.

Cecil Grace was the son of the late J. A. Grace of New York and a nephew of former Mayor William R. Grace. He was a member of the Royal Aero club, and in an attempt to win the Baron de Forest prize of $20,000 on December 22d, flew over the English channel from Dover, reaching the Belgium frontier. He was turned back by adverse winds and after landing near Calais, started on the return trip across the channel.

He was never heard from again, but his cap and glasses were picked up in the North sea, off Mariakerke, Belgium, on January 6th, and later what was supposed to be the wreckage of the aeroplane was found near the same place.

FIGHTING IN PARAGUAY.

BUNEOS AYRES, March 20.—The newspapers here publish a report that the Paraguayan government troops in an engagement with the revolutionists, defeated the rebels. The later are said to have lost 300 killed or wounded.
