JAMES BRADY IS ACQUITTED IN JUSTICE COURT

MINER CHARGED WITH SENDING FALSE TELEGRAMS IS FOUND NOT GUILTY

James Brady, charged with sending messages containing false news tending to injure the North Star property, was acquitted of the charge late yesterday afternoon following a preliminary examination in the justice court before Justice of the Peace Alkinson. The complaint stated that Brady had sent a telegram to the New York brokerage firm of H. E. Boerick, the message declaring that four feet of ore had been opened up in the North Star mine and assays as high as $1700 had been secured. The name of "Brady" was attached to the telegram, without any initials.
Following the testimony of S. H. Brady, general manager of the West End and Carlton Stevens, auditor of the same company, the defense summoned two witnesses. Senator Zeb Kendall declared that the items contained in the telegram were common gossip on the day the dispatches were sent, while Dan Besler of Goldfield informed the court that he had received messages from the defendant signed "Brady."
Brady, since his arrest, has been at liberty under $700 bond. The court rendered a decision in the case about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

KLONDYKE IS ON THE VERGE OF MINING BOOM

GREAT ACTIVITY IN DISTRICT IS RESULTING IN GOOD DIS- CLOSURES

The nearest approach to a mining boom in Nevada at the present time is in the Klondyke district, half way between Goldfield and Tonopah. This is a boom in mining development and ore production and not in mining stocks, as the owners of the properties in the district have no stock for sale and are everywhere doing legitimate mining, says the Tribune. An important factor in the development of the Klondyke district is the leasing system, which is in operation over a large territory and it is reported that there are now about 20 leases in force upon which work is in progress.
On the original Klondyke property, recently purchased by James Golden and upon which the principal work of the district has been performed, a large number of leases have expired and are being made regularly over the T. & G. railroad, the product being loaded on the railroad at Klondyke Wells station, three miles from the center of the district.
Golden, who is now in Goldfield, announces that he has secured the services of Eli Schweiger to supervise the conduct of the leases and to point out to the lessees the methods by which they can secure the best results and obtain the best ore. Schweiger is an old time prospector who has a far more thorough knowledge of the ore and conditions in the district than any other man. He has mined almost continuously in the district for the past 15 years, starting his work long before the discovery of Tonopah or Goldfield, and is reported to have made a fortune from shipments of rich ore taken from points along the main ridge of the Golden property.
It has been the desire of Golden in granting leases that every lessee should start immediately on shipping ore and this is being made possible to a large extent by the advice of Schweiger, whose familiarity with the ore makes it possible for him to show the lessees how and where to do their work and saves them much time in obtaining a profit from their operations.
Several new discoveries of importance have been reported from the district recently. Ore of shipping grade is said to be exposed at three points on the Tyler-Manning lease on the original Klondyke property and several parallel seams of silver-lead ore of excellent grade have been exposed on the property owned by Charles Lee, Wes Watson and associates, in the northern part of the district. Some ore of shipping grade has been opened in the ground under lease to Louis Woodward of Goldfield and at a number of other points along the main ridge commercial ore is in sight.
On the property being worked under bond and lease by Charles A. Woodruff, in the southern part of the district, there is an excellent showing in the incline winze from the prospect shaft sunk some distance below the residence. A new vertical shaft has been started by Woodruff at a point farther up the hill and should cut the vein at a depth of not less than 150 feet. Other development work will be done on another vein, farther to the south, where ore of good quality has been exposed at the surface.
At the Klondyke townsite, owned by James Golden, a number of buildings will be erected shortly and contracts are being let to move a number of houses from Goldfield and Diamondfield to the new camp. Within a short time a well will be sunk near this point and a pipe line will be laid to supply the camp and the projected mill with water. It is planned by Golden to erect a mill of 50 tons daily capacity in order to treat the ore in the old dumps, containing many thousands of tons of good milling product, and later the capacity of the plant will be enlarged as required by events of deep development on the original Klondyke, or another plant may be erected and the original mill used for the reduction of custom ores. Parties of mining men are visiting and becoming interested in the Klondyke district daily, including some of the foremost mine operators in the state, and from all indications the district is destined to take high rank among the producers of the western country.

ONLY A FIGUREHEAD

(By Associated Press)
CINCINNATI, Nov. 22.—P. Minyard, arrested in Cleveland in the government raids on fake stock selling concerns, was only a figurehead and not the brains of the firm of Minyard & Co. ## ERECTION OF ROASTER TO TREAT REFRACTORY ORES OF MANHATTAN ASSURED BY STEFFNER COMPANY

Special to the Bonanza

MANHATTAN, Nov. 22.—Final solution of a mooted question that has been agitating Manhattan for the past summer and fall is at hand. It is a question that has been exaggerated and magnified out of all proportion to its importance, and it is in reality important, yet never was impossible of solution. It is no less a matter than the treatment of the refractory ore of the Steffner lease on the Manhattan Consolidated by the erection of a roaster, which will be done at a cost of $12,000 by the Manhattan Consolidated Gold Mining company.
On account of the presence of antimony in the ore, rendering extraction of more than 65 to 80 per cent of the values impossible by amalgamation and sizzling, the Steffner lease has done little or no work since the latter part of June. Various tests have been made and numerous plans considered, finally culminating during the past couple of weeks by the company definitely deciding to erect a roasting plant, instead of waiting for one of the mills to do it. Excavating for the foundation is about to commence, although the plant itself will not be erected until the Steffner syndicate sinks another 100 feet, from the 200 to the 300-foot level, in order to determine the character of the ore at that depth. It some time occurs that ore becomes less refractory with depth and the character may change in other ways. It might become richer so that a considerable amount of it could be assayed and shipped, which can be done from here, smelting included, at a total cost of $15 a ton. Thus, ore that will average anywhere from $25 a ton up, can be mined and shipped from this camp, even containing antimony.
The presence of antimony in the Steffner ore has afforded a weapon with which to bear stocks of the whole camp, especially those of the upper end. But rather than the antimony being a detriment, it in reality is a blessing in disguise, for with a percentage of extraction of 92, by roasting it can be increased on any Manhattan base ore to 96, which instead of entailing a loss for extra expense will yield a profit on account of the better extraction. When it is further considered that extraction with the presence of antimony has not run better than 65 to 80 per cent and that roasting will increase to 96, it will be seen that the necessity of adding a roaster to any mill in the camp will not be a matter to be ashamed of, but, on the contrary, will become quite the style here and be considered a big "ad" for the mill and the camp and something to brag about.
Sinking of the shaft to the 300 is to be started at once. It will not be a long job, as the lease is equipped with machine drills, a compressor and a fine hoisting plant.
These arrangements are understood to have been reached as a result of many conferences held between officials of the mining company and the Steffner leasing syndicate. W. J. Douglas of the mining company, and J. Wesley Stewart, one of the main factors of the Steffner syndicate, were here a few days in consultation with S. W. Steffner in relation to the final details, which have been agreed to.

CUNDY RETURNS TO TONOPAH AFTER LONG ABSENCE

FORMER STATE CHAMPION HAM- MERSMAN, MAY AGAIN LO- CATE HERE

Ed Cundy, a Tonopah pioneer, drifted in from the northern part of the state this morning and shortly afterwards announced his intention of carrying awhile in this district. Cundy has been located in Humboldt county for the last year where he has mining property, but it is probable he will again settle here.
In 1904 Cundy and Ed Malley won the state championship in a double handed drilling match, but since that date both men have ceased to display their power on the stone. Both are first class drillers, as was demonstrated in their last exhibition.
Since leaving Tonopah Cundy has wandered about quite a bit, having spent one winter on the island of Tahiti where the national costume in the summer time is a necktie. As summer weather continues all the year around, Cundy was not forced to keep an elaborate wardrobe.

REPUBLICANS CARRY NEVADA THEN LOSE OUT

NATIONAL CANDIDATES POLL MORE VOTES THAN DEMO- CRATIC OPPONENTS

The socialist vote was not tabulated in the returns and the figures for Debs will not be obtainable until the returns are certified to by Secretary of State George Brodigan.
The total figures reveal an interesting fact. That fact is the republicans cast more votes than did the democrats for presidential electors. Wilson received 7886 votes, Taft 3190 and Roosevelt 5695. The combined republican vote totals 8795 or 809 more votes than cast for Wilson.
For United States senator Pittman received a total of 7942, Massey 7853, Summerfield 1405. The combined total of the Massey and Summerfield vote is 9258 or 1316 more votes than received by Pittman, who has a plurality of 89 votes over Massey.
In the congressional fight Roberts received 7379, Tallman 7311 and Springmeier 2072. Roberts' plurality is 68. The combined republican votes total 9451, which is 2140 more than the vote cast for Tallman.

Fellow miners extricated Young from beneath the pile of rock and he was rushed to the hospital where Dr. McLeod dressed the injuries. Young is one of the oldest miners from point of service employed at the Belmont. He is well known in this city and lives on Florence avenue. He is a member of the Tonopah lodge of Eagles and has been prominently identified with that order for a number of years.
