The Mooted Salary Question

With great emphasis Judge Langan at Carson announced that he had taken the question of the proper salary to be allowed Receiver Frank Wildes of the defunct State Bank under consideration. This statement was made after Senator Heffernan had introduced a resolution in the upper house of the legislature asking that a legislative committee be appointed and ascertain why the honorable court did not fix a suitable salary for the receiver, instead of allowing that worthy official to draw down $10,000 annually. It is alleged that Langan issued the statement in the hope that he would be successful in circumventing such legislative action, but reports from the north are to the effect that the resolution will be pressed in the upper house and that a determined fight will be made for its passage.

Judge Langan has practically announced that he could not determine off-hand what amount should be paid the receiver. He has had three or four years to think the matter over, and probably would have continued to debate the subject but for the ungentlemanly interference of Senator Heffernan. If it would assist the honorable court to arrive at a conclusion—say in a year or two—there is no hurry for there is sufficient funds in sight to maintain Wildes in the manner in which he is accustomed to living for several years at least, it might be well for the court to look up the amount of salary Wildes received when he was assistant state treasurer. This position Wildes filled for several years prior to his assumption to the State Bank receiver's throne, and the amount allowed him monthly was $116, or $1392 annually.

To be promoted from a salary of $1392 to a salary of $10,000, traveling expenses, and other incidentals, including a cashier (who ever heard of a cashier of a defunct bank excepting in Judge Langan's domain), is something that any citizen in the state of Nevada would joyfully look forward to, and yet the court appears to be experiencing difficulties in arriving at a conclusion as to what the receiver should draw henceforth. The honorable court might also inspect the details of the receivership of the Bullfrog Bank and Trust company that failed several years ago. Bank Examiner Van Fleet had charge of this institution and upon his death, Eugene Howell, his successor, was placed in charge. Both Van Fleet and Howell secured the services of Clay Tallman to close up the affairs of the defunct institution, and to date over 50 per cent has been paid creditors at a total expense of a sum not exceeding $2250. This amount includes the trustees' salary, the payment of taxes and a hundred other incidental expenses. But of course it is unjust to compare the receivership of Clay Tallman with that of Wildes. Tallman lives in the southern part of the state while Wildes lives in Carson. That is the entire story.

If Wildes was drawing $116 a month prior to his appointment to the receivership, it appears that $200 a month would be a princely salary for the services he now renders, or is supposed to render. Before he secured his present position he was compelled to pay his traveling expenses every time he enjoyed a trip to some outside point. Now, when he travels he can fall back upon his traveling expenses, which include berth, meals, rooms at hotel, bus fare, transportation of baggage to and from trains. These last incidentals are mentioned because the receiver saw fit to include them in his report that was ordered printed and then mysteriously disappeared.

While Judge Langan has the matter of Wildes' salary under consideration it would be well for the court to consider the matter of that mysterious report. No offense is taken to the report Wildes had published in the Carson papers as several months have been spent in an attempt to make head and tail out of the conglomeration of figures and as yet no headway has been made. It is possible that the report may be one of the best ever made by any bank receiver, but it will take time to arrive at that conclusion. In the meantime no harm would result if the court would order the receiver to make another report, up-to-date and along the same line as the mysterious original report was compiled, for it is assured the depositors of the State Bank would enjoy reading what became of their money.

Utah is troubled over the disposition of condemned murderers. Hanging, shooting, electrocuting and poisoning are being urged. Why not make them serve as judges at a cooking school exhibit?

AFTER FIVE YEARS

WINTHROP CHILD WAS RESTORED TO HEALTH BY VINOL

Five years ago our little girl had a severe attack of diphtheria which left her subject to bronchitis and stomach trouble. She has been almost constantly under medical treatment. I have also tried two or three remedies containing cod liver oil but found her stomach rebelled against the oil. Reading your description of Vinol I decided to try it and did so with most astonishing results. I cannot begin to tell you how she has improved because you do not know what a little sufferer she was for five years. She has gained 10 pounds since she commenced to take Vinol, and the story of what Vinol has done for her is only half told in this letter.—Mrs. Adelaide Mulloy, Winthrop, Mass.

Vinol contains all the healing curative properties of cod liver oil, without the oil and tonic iron added. That is why it helped this little girl after other remedies had failed.

We ask mothers of weak, sickly children to try Vinol on our offer to give back your money if it fails to help them. Miners' Drug Store, Inc., Tonopah, Nev. 40-49.
