The Inactivity of Langan

A period of several weeks has elapsed since Judge Langan of the Carson district court discovered, through legislative disclosure, that Frank Wildes, receiver of the State Bank and Trust company, had drawn a salary from the state as assistant state treasurer at the same time he was being paid for conducting the affairs of the receiver's office. Langan discovered that the statement of Wildes that the latter had devoted his entire time to the management of the bank affairs to be utterly false, as borne out by the disclosure in the state treasurer's office. What has Langan done since learning of this important fact? Echo answers: "Nothing."

Langan was also informed several years ago that the receiver had destroyed or cached the printed reports concerning the accomplishments of Wildes as bank receiver. The reports were ordered printed and it was understood that they were to be mailed to the State Bank depositors. Their destruction in itself has a look of suspicion.

And what has Langan done in this matter that the depositors might secure light upon the conditions of the bank? Again Echo answers: "Nothing."

The activity of Langan in removing the stain upon himself is remarkable. From all sections of the state the newspapers are crying for the removal of Langan from the bench which he so poorly occupies. The agitation is growing and as long as Langan remains inactive and the stench of the bank receivership increases each day, there will be the demand that the judge be removed.

The Bonanza has urged the recall of Langan, and continues to do so. He has shown himself fearful of taking action that would require an accounting of Wildes and throughout the entire bank investigation by the legislature he refrained from uttering a word, except to remark that he did not recognize the right of a legislative body to investigate his affairs. It is probable that Langan resents having made such a statement for the disclosures reflected not alone upon Wildes, but also upon Langan, who appointed the former to the office he now occupies.

Had Langan really desired to clean his own skirts of the stigma of crookedness he would have promptly asked Wildes to explain the little matter of drawing two salaries at the same time. His failure to do so and his continued reticence along this line has condemned him in the eyes of the public. His recall from office will be the only method through which the present stain upon the Nevada judiciary can be brought about. (Carson papers please copy).

The Opportunity of a Life Time

Through necessity, and not with the idea of "passing the buck," the recent legislature placed the matter of conducting an investigation into the affairs of the State Bank and Trust company in the hands of Attorney General George I. Thatcher. To assist the attorney general in making the investigation, an appropriation of $5000 was made and this amount is to be used in meeting all necessary expenses, such as the employment of expert accountants, etc. The legislature, through the activity of Assemblyman Kelliker of Tonopah, discovered that Receiver Frank Wildes had drawn a salary from the state at the time he was employed as receiver and that the aforesaid Wildes had declared that he had devoted his entire time to the management of the affairs of the defunct bank. Consequently Thatcher has sufficient matter upon which to work.

Thatcher will be in a position to render two reports. One can whitewash the entire affair and the other can give the true status of the condition of the bank and the manner in which Judge Langan and receiver Wildes have carried on their business. Should Thatcher render a report that will be true and correct in every detail he will have achieved a reputation that seldom comes to a man of his years. He has the opportunity of a lifetime to demonstrate his integrity and ability, and it is only through honest efforts that he can acquire the honors that will naturally result.

Thatcher would place himself in line for gubernatorial honors two years hence by devoting his entire time to the State Bank muddle and remove the stain that has rested upon this commonwealth since Judge Langan appointed Wildes to the office of receiver. Thatcher formerly resided in Tonopah prior to his appointment to the office of the attorney general and he is thoroughly cognizant of the heavy losses sustained by local depositors. He has also been informed of the inability of the depositors to secure a statement from Wildes as to the condition of the affairs of the bank and of the manner in which the bank funds have been spent. Being thoroughly informed of the attitude of Tonopah residents he can afford to make an honest and systematic search of the records of the bank receiver's office and give a little publicity to the manner in which the business has been conducted.
