

North Star Opens Up Large Ore Body

TWELVE FEET OF MILLING ORE OPENED UP ON 950 LEVEL

STRIKE IS MADE IN TERRITORY EAST OF THE SHAFT HERETOFORE CONSIDERED BARREN OF MINERAL

That the North Star is now a mine and in position to extract a weekly tonnage that will more than pay all operating expenses is a fact not generally known in Tonopah. Nevertheless it is true and the present condition of the property augurs well for future results. Less than three months ago when James J. McQuillan took charge of the property as general manager, and James Heney was employed as mines superintendent, there was no ore in sight except stringers on the 1250 level. Now a body of good milling ore, at least 25 feet in width and assaying $40 to the ton has been opened up and is being explored.

cutting out stopes will be undertaken immediately and the ore will be extracted on a systematic basis. The veins were found in a formation termed the mother porphyry or the earlier andeolite. A well known theory that ore can not be found beyond a fault was exploded by the discovery. The crosscut responsible for the discovery traversed a fault before entering the mother porphyry and the formation was of such a character that led the mine officials to believe that ore existed to the east within the mountain. Beyond a question of a doubt the veins are a continuation of the famous Macdonald vein in the Montana. The Macdonald vein has produced a fortune in ore, and if this proves to be the case the magnitude of the discovery is greatly multiplied. Manager McQuillan resents the rumors in circulation that the work of developing the property will be retarded from San Francisco brokers who are interested in the company. Today McQuillan declared that at the time he assumed charge of the mines he was informed that if it is possible to make a paying mine out of the property, to do so. He immediately started development work, which resulted in the discovery, and declares the same system of operations as inaugurated by himself and Mine Superintendent Heney will be continued. McQuillan further stated that he was highly pleased with the showings at present, and would continue to develop the new veins discovered. Through the courtesy of McQuillan and Heney a Bonanza scribe was shown through the mine Monday and considerable time was spent inspecting the latest discovery.

DECORATIONS FOR THE ELKS ANNUAL HAVE ARRIVED

BOTH MINERS EXCHANGE HALL AND ELKS HALL WILL BE ELABORATELY FURNISHED.

One of the features of the annual dance to be given Friday evening at the Miners Exchange hall by Tonopah lodge No. 1062, B. P. O. E. will be the decorations. The dancing hall will be decorated in a manner that will completely transform the interior of that structure, while the banquet room at the Elks home will be likewise treated. Several huge cases, containing a portion of the material to be used in decorating, arrived yesterday from the coast, while the remainder of the order will arrive tomorrow. Robert G. Pohl and Ross Condon, who will have charge of placing the decorations in their proper positions, will be assisted by numerous helpers and several days will be consumed in attending to this work. The dance, which is for Elks only will be an informal affair, and in addition to members of the order residing in Tonopah, large delegations will arrive from Manhattan, Millers and Goldfield. Several auto parties are coming from Manhattan and an equally large party will come up from Millers. The Goldfield Elks are now arranging a party and it is believed that at least twenty "Bills" will journey over from the southern city to take in the affair.

SCHUBERTS TO GIVE MUSICALE HERE ON MAY 8

HIGH HONOR IS PAID VIOLINIST WHO WILL APPEAR WITH FAMOUS COMPANY.

Thomas Valentine Purcell was the violinist chosen unanimously by the American Guild of Violinists to play upon the violins entered in the contest before that body of artists. More than twenty violins were tested, and their aggregate value was over $100,000. Mr. Purcell was chosen for this arduous task because he is universally acknowledged to be the peer of nearly all artists in producing a full, beautiful tone from almost any violin. He played upon the instruments blindfolded and the test was absolutely fair, the same selection being played upon all the violins. It is interesting to note that one of his own violins, a Jacobus Stainer valued at $7000 was slipped into the contest informally without his knowledge, and passed through his hands as No. 15 without his recognizing it, and winning marks entitling it to third place if it had been formally entered. It was Mr. Purcell who created a furor twenty years ago as a five-year-old prodigy, and with his wealth of inherited talent, trained by the foremost masters of Europe and America, he is today a real violinist as well as an artist. He will appear here with the Schubert Co. on May 8 at the Nevada theater.

CONGRESSIONAL INVESTIGATION ORGANIZED BASEBALL IS ASKED

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, April 22.—A congressional investigation of organized baseball was demanded today by Representative Gallagher of Illinois, who introduced a resolution directing the speaker to appoint a committee of seven and also directed the attorney general to investigate the contract system. Organized baseball was characterized as the "most audacious and autocratic trust in the country." The investigation is to ascertain whether unjust discriminations have been practiced in favor of or against players, and whether players are or have been coerced or restrained from the exercise of their just rights and whether such alleged combination operates in restraint of trade. Gallagher will confer with Hoke Smith who has a copy of Cobb's contract with Detroit.

UNDERWOOD PRESENTS BILL TO COMMITTEE AND IS ACCEPTED BY PARTY VOTE.

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, April 22.—Chairman Underwood laid today before the entire ways and means committee a new tariff revision bill. After a vigorous opposition by six republican members and Victor Murdock, progressive, it was approved by a strict party vote of fourteen to seven and reported to the house to be called tomorrow for general debate. It is estimated that the bill will raise $37,896,000 less than the present law. The estimated revenue from all sources for the first year under the bill will be $62,500, and the expenditures $99,790,000. With a treasury surplus of $1,335,000 this leaves a deficit of $68,750,000 which will be raised by the income tax, the earnings of which the first year are estimated at $67,125,000.

APPLAUDS ACTS OF MILITANTS IN SMASHING WINDOWS

ANNE MARTIN DECLARES METHOD IS ONLY SUCCESSFUL WAY IN ENGLAND.

Miss Anne Martin, president of the Nevada Equal Franchise society, lectured last night at the Nevada theater on militant suffrage in England. A fairly good attendance greeted the speaker. Miss Martin declared that the woman's vote has been constructive wherever it has been tried, as witness the conditions in New Zealand where the infant mortality has been decreased by one-half through the efforts of the women to secure proper medical inspection and careful inspection of food and the milk supply. In Utah by the direct influence of the woman's vote a minimum wage scale for women has been passed by the legislature. Utah is the only state with such a statute in operation, and it was agitated and passed by the women after the late reports of the white slave commission in Illinois which proved that in order to stamp out prostitution it was necessary first to establish a living wage under which girls could decently maintain themselves. The Colorado laws for the protection of women and children were judged to be among the best in the world by an international commission for the consideration of the laws that apply to women and children. These laws were passed since the women became voters in Colorado and these facts should prove that the woman's vote is along the lines of constructive legislation therefore, that every state needs the woman's votes.

Miss Martin's explanation of the English situation was most illuminating. In the first place she gave a slight synopsis of the English laws as they relate to women, showing conclusively how valuable property is in the sight of the English law, and of how little importance is the person of a woman. She gave many illustrations of the way in which the law operates in the hands of bad men, but they should be drawn in such a way as to protect women and children from bad men. This the English law does not do, as witness the fact that the punishment if any that is inflicted upon a man for ruining a child is but 30 shillings fine or 15 days imprisonment, but a woman who breaks a window costing three shillings is sentenced to six months at hard labor. This shows the sacredness of property and how little the life of a child is valued by the law.

SUNDRY CIVIL APPROPRIATION BILL IS PASSED

HOUSE PASSES MEASURE IN FORM AS RECOMMENDED BY PRESIDENT TAFT.

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, April 22.—The house today passed the sundry civil appropriation bill with a provision to prevent the use of funds appropriated to carry out the anti-trust law for the prosecution of labor unions and the farmers' co-operative organizations. An attempt to strike out these provisions caused Taft to veto the measure. No trouble to get anything in the world with a Bonanza want ad.

MEMBERS OF THE TAX COMMISSION ARE INSPECTING OFFICES OF THE VARIOUS ASSESSORS IN STATE

Tax Commissioner C. H. Colburn and L. F. Adamson, secretary of the commission, arrived in Tonopah this morning and spent today examining the books of the sheriff's and assessor's office. The commissioners are now making their first official visit to the assessors and sheriffs of the various counties of the state. They estimate that the work will occupy about three weeks, during which every county will be visited and the books examined. The purpose of this work is to ascertain general conditions throughout the state and to see if any discrepancies exist in the valuation of property in the counties. The commissioners have completed their work in Storey, Washoe and Lyon counties and say that everything was found in first class shape there. The same conditions exist in Nye county. There have been no indications of trouble between the commissioners and assessors, although there have been reports of dissatisfaction on the part of some assessors. Adamson and Colburn are working under the new law which passed the last legislature and created a state tax commission. This board will have supervision over the levying of taxes throughout the state and an attempt will be made to remedy the old plan where big tax payers were favored by the assessors, thus leaving the small fry to pay the greater proportion of the taxes. Adamson and Colburn contemplate leaving for Goldfield in the morning and after a day in that city will probably continue south to Clark and Lincoln counties, returning to Carson by the eastern route.
