ANOTHER REVOLUTION IN MEXICO NIPPED IN THE BUD

United States Troops Arrest One of Leaders On American Soil

Bloody Anchor of Danish Collier Ripped Ship Like Can Opener

(By Associated Press.)
MONTREAL, June 1.—The sharp point of an anchor projecting over the twisted bow of the collier Stordstad may explain why that vessel did such terrible damage when she rammed the Empress of Ireland. Examination of the collier's plates revealed the anchor jammed in a position where it could have ripped through the hull of the Empress like a great can opener. The anchor point and portions of battered steel surrounding it bore stains of blood. Preparation has been made for an inquiry into the disaster which cost at the present reckoning 963 lives. The inquiry will be conducted by a joint board of Canadian and British shipping experts.

QUEBEC, June 1.—Identification of the Empress dead is proceeding. Nearly one hundred bodies brought here yesterday were recognized by relatives or friends. The identifications include Sir Henry Seton-Karr, the big game hunter, and Dr. E. A. Barlow, a leading Canadian geologist. Nearly a score of members of the Salvation Army were identified. The St. Lawrence is being patrolled in search of additional bodies.

GERMAN SHIPS FINED MILLION PESOS BY FUNSTON FOR DELIVERING ARMS AND AMMUNITION TO GENERAL HUERTA

(By Associated Press.)

the cases of the German ships Ypiranga and Bavaria, which landed munitions of war for Huerta at Puerto Mexico, and fined one million pesos by American officials at Vera Cruz.

The Bavaria was fined for having discharged a portion of her cargo, consigned to Vera Cruz, at another port, and correcting her manifest. The Ypiranga was fined for failure to correct invoices accordingly and discharging her cargo at a port other than that to which it was consigned.

Volcano In Northern California Belches Smoke, Rocks and Ashes For a Distance of Over 3 Miles

REDDING, Cal., June 1.—Mount Lassen, Northern California, is in eruption. A forest ranger reported steam and smoke issuing. The display began Saturday and the ranger said a new crater had broken out since. Thirty inch boulders were thrown out, the ranger reported, and ashes are on the ground as far as three miles. A great cloud of smoke hangs over the mountain. A forest fire is raging near, but the forester reported there were no indications this was caused by the volcanic disturbance.

Mount Lassen is over 10,000 feet high and there have been no previous disturbances within the memory of the white population of Plumas and Shasta counties.

FIRES OFF A GUN AND AROUSES LOWER END TOWN

FAILS TO DO ANY MATERIAL DAMAGE AFTER MAKING A NIGHT OF IT.

Joe Itovich got crazy drunk Saturday night and began shooting up the lower end of town. He took a couple of shots at the Casino and then threatened to kill any person who attempted to interfere. Officer Bob Dalzell was in the Hall Liquor company at the time and went after Itovich. The latter ran down the street saying he would shoot Dalzell if the latter persisted in following. Dalzell drew his gun and began arguing with the insane man but steadily advancing. When he reached the side of Itovich the latter fired one shot in the ground and turned and ran up Oddie avenue. Chief of Police Evans was summoned and a search instituted until 2 o'clock Sunday morning, when the culprit was found in the room back of the Montana lodgings. He will have a hearing this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

CARRANZA MAY BE RECOGNIZED BY THE PEACE PACT

UNITED STATES EAGER TO HAVE THE LEADER SEND REPRESENTATIVE.

(By Associated Press.)
NIAGARA FALLS, June 1.—After conference between the mediators, and American delegates, the question of admitting constitutionalists into the negotiations for settlement is a problem still undecided.

The desire of the United States to have the constitutionalists heard before the final agreement is signed, has impressed the three mediators, and they are taking a more favorable view. The mediators have taken the position they will admit the constitutionalists if they are ready to agree to an armistice with Huerta, and come prepared to discuss internal as well as international phases of the situation.

MEMORIAL DAY OBSERVED IN TONOPAH BY GENEROUS RESPONSE OF THE PEOPLE

The weather was fine, the flowers abundant, the attendance general, the music excellent and the entire programme for Memorial Day passed off without the slightest interruption to detract from the solemnity of the occasion.

Under direction of Grand Marshal Cuddy and Master of Ceremonies Frank J. Cavanaugh, the exercises were conducted with promptness and celerity. The old cemetery was garlanded with an array of flowers such as was never displayed before, and the Woman's Relief corps received liberal congratulations for their very successful management of the affair. The day was observed as a partial holiday, stores closing during the exercises. The appearance of the several score little children from the primary grade, under direction of their teachers, lent fresh color to the occasion.

The parade started at 10 o'clock and reached the cemetery in thirty minutes, when the programme opened with music by the Tonopah Military band, which had tendered its services for the occasion free of charge. Rev. J. M. Swander invoked a blessing, the joint church choirs sang an anthem. Lavoy Davis read Lincoln's address at Gettysburg and Judge J. K. Chambers was introduced as the orator of the day. He delivered a speech replete with patriotic lessons as follows:

"Amid the expiring strains of a national anthem, we have assembled to commemorate the memory of the brave and patriotic men, who gave their lives to preserve a government founded on the equal rights of men, and as expressed in the memorable words of the immortal Lincoln, 'That government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth.'"

"The history of that conflict marks one of the most important epochs of all the ages. It was an event no less momentous than that of the French revolution, or that of the reformation. It was a contest between two great principles that could only be settled on the field of battle. It was a conflict on the great question was to be decided whether this nation was to remain a perpetual union under one flag and under one constitution, or whether it was to become a mere confederation of states without any bond of union.

"The very existence of the nation depended on the result of the conflict. And that it resulted in the preservation of the union is due to the honored dead who gave their lives for the nation and to the survivors who suffered and bled in the battles of that bloody conflict. The conflict was long and severe. On the side of the north more than 2,700,000 men enlisted; on the part of the south more than 700,000. Some of the most bloody battles in all history were fought. The battles of Antietam, Shiloh, Gettysburg, the Wilderness and Chancellorsville were as severe and destructive as those of Austerlitz and Waterloo. Napoleon's greatest battles. This struggle gives us on the side of the union the great names of Grant, Sherman, Thomas and Sheridan; on the part of the south the great names of Lee, Jackson and Pickett. They were all Americans, and all fought in a cause that they thought was right. The nation has never profited a better general and soldier than General Lee, or a more honest

CAPTURE A PRIZE RIGHT UNDER THE GUNS OF FEDERALS

REBELS BOLDLY SEIZE IN BROAD DAYLIGHT SHIP LOADED WITH SUGAR.

(By Associated Press.)
U. S. S. CALIFORNIA, MAZATLAN, by Wireless, June 1.—The constitutionalist tug Hercules, emboldened by previous successes, under cover of the darkness at night, when several provision barges were captured, entered Mazatlan in broad daylight and captured the schooner Garibaldi, with a cargo of sugar. As soon as the Hercules, with her prize, were clear of the American fleet, the federal batteries opened fire with heavy artillery. The tug and schooner escaped.

FRENCH CABINET IN THE MINORITY AND WILL RESIGN

RECENT ELECTIONS DEPRIVED THE MINISTRY OF SUPPORTING VOTE.

(By Associated Press.)
PARIS, June 1.—The French cabinet, under the premiership of Gaston Doumergues, has decided to resign. The cabinet will meet tomorrow and draft a statement explaining the reasons for its retirement. The chief factor in bringing about the resignation is understood to be the uncertainty and ability to control the majority in the chamber of deputies, where several changes were brought about by the recent general elections.

DRUNKEN DEBAUCH ENDS WITH ARRESTS

FINLANDERS ENGAGE IN A GENERAL RUMPUS AND LAND IN JAIL.

The justice court will be asked this afternoon to take steps to remove Mrs. Blumstrom from Tonopah. The woman has given the police all kinds of trouble since the death of her husband, when she was awarded an indemnity from the Nevada Industrial Bureau for the care of her children, who were charges at the State Orphan's home. The money was placed in care of a trustee for the benefit of the children, and only a small portion granted the widow, who was regarded as entitled for the task of caring for her own offspring.

Before the death, Mrs. Blumstrom had been dissipating freely, but since then she has been on a steady debauch. Last night four Finlanders became involved in a quarrel over Mrs. Blumstrom and everybody was arrested.

MRS. DIGGS CHARGES EXTREME CRUELTY, MENTAL ANGUISH AND BODILY PAIN IN DIVORCE SUIT

Woodland Cal., June 1.—Extreme cruelty, mental anguish and bodily pain are the grounds upon which Mrs. Maury Diggs, formerly Lina Kinchloe, of this county, has filed her divorce suit against the former state architect and convicted white slave.

At last breaking down the barrier of faithfulness the young wife decided to take the step which will ultimately separate her forever from the man who deserted her and their 6-year-old child for a young Sacramento miss. The thought of a divorce dissuaded her from seeking legal separation from Diggs, but with the notoriety attending his latest escapade with the Pearring girl, Mrs. Diggs made up her mind and filed the suit.

Hoping to escape newspaper notice the suit was filed in secret, County Clerk H. R. Saunders secreting the document in the archives of his office and promptly forgetting its existence. But when the summons was served on Diggs the news spread like wild fire.

Immediately after being served with the summons and having read the contents in detail on the street, Diggs rushed for his automobile and drove to the J. B. Kinchloe home to see his wife. Upon arrival he talked with Mrs. Diggs in an attempt to dissuade her from the suit, but the little wife, who has suffered so much, refused to discuss with him the divorce action, and firmly refused to withdraw the complaint or listen to his pleading. The husband was referred to Mrs. Diggs' attorney, A. C. Huston, but there he received no more satisfaction than he had at the country home of the plaintiff:

When seen last night Diggs said: "Well, I guess it's all off. Another swat in the life that's one thing after another."

"This came like a bolt from the clear sky. Here I was, just getting relieved from the strain of the Pearring trial, and trying to get a little rest by a trip to the Yosemite when this comes. Well, I guess there's nothing to do but do nothing.

"No, I will not contest my wife's suit. I have always provided well for my wife and daughter. I want my wife to be happy, and if she wants a divorce she can have it without objection on my part. Of course, my attorneys will look after my interests, but I will not contest the action. I will go on to the Yosemite tomorrow and try to forget. But it is hard."

Mrs. Diggs refused interviewers any information on the divorce matter, maintaining her attitude in her domestic troubles she has adopted from the beginning of the trouble with her husband.

In the divorce complaint the grounds for the action are that the plaintiff has experienced extreme cruelty, mental anguish and bodily pain as a result of Diggs' notoriety in the white slave and Ida Pearring cases. She asks for the custody of the little 6-year-old daughter and for $150 alimony monthly.

It was only by chance that Diggs was in Woodland when the summons was served, this being his first visit to Woodland since his trouble. Accompanied by his father, I. P. Diggs, he was on a pleasure trip to the Yosemite and came to Woodland as a side trip. A summons was sent to his home in Berkeley, but he had left before it was served.

The time for the hearing of the suit has not yet been set by Judge Hawkins. Local interest in the Diggs case, which has always run high on account of his local connections, has been renewed by the divorce action.

BEATS BOARD BILL AND LEAVES CAMP

TRIES TO GET AWAY WITHOUT PUTTING UP FOR BOARD AND LODGING.

George Lavelle left camp Saturday owing Mrs. Harrington a bill for board. He had the money to pay, but preferred to beat it to the west and left on the morning train. He thought he would be followed, so tried to elude the officers by buying tickets for himself and two companions to Blair. There he bought three tickets for Mina and at Mina bought three more for Luning, with the intention of continuing through on the goodness of the conductor or the brake beams, which ever suited conditions. Everything prospered and the journey was continued to Luning, when two of his companions were kicked off the train and Lavelle was left at the station. Then he started to walk back to Mina and succeeded in walking into the inviting arms of an officer who wanted him on a telegram from Tonopah. Deputy Constable Peck brought Lavelle back and this morning the fugitive was haled before Justice Ding's court, who gave him sixty days in the county jail.

The mercury fell from 70 to 54 degrees and the desert got a good washing.
