MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP OF CHILDREN.

THE country has heard numerous vagaries credited to the suffragettes and many broad-minded men and women have been tempted to look upon these reports with tolerance or to pass them by as the lucubrations of a lot of humorists. However, that there may be a clear understanding of what suffrage may lead to the readers of the Bonanza are invited to give their close attention to the following extract from "The New Witness," which openly advocates municipal ownership of children and the emancipation of womanhood from bonds of matrimony. If this does not induce free love and establish immorality under protection of the law this paper is willing to leave a translation to any unprejudiced reader. The letter is as follows:

"Sir: Surely the true moral of the existing tangle of our marriage laws is not far to seek. Those laws are based on the assumption that children belong to the parents. If a child belongs to anyone but itself it is surely to the community of which it forms a part. The cost of producing and rearing children should be borne by the state, which should also enjoy full control. Motherhood, if it is to be justly estimated, must be treated as a public service, and the supply of children be recognized by the state as at least as essential as the supply of water or electricity. With the mother adequately paid for the social function which she performs all practical difficulties relating to the control of children can be dismissed. Parents can make what arrangements they choose with perfect freedom and at no risk to the community. Yours faithfully,
"MRS. LUCILLE F. LIMMER."

Mrs. Limmer seems to forget that the "social function" which the woman performs and for which she is to be paid by the state will have to be performed to the state's satisfaction. Parents will not be able to "make what arrangements they choose with perfect freedom." On the contrary, they will have no freedom whatever, for the state certainly has the right to control all "public services" which it administers, and if motherhood is to be classed as part of the civil service it will inevitably have to submit to civil service regulations. Thus when Mrs. Limmer says "The cost of producing and rearing children should be borne by the state" she is right to add, "which should also enjoy full control." But how she squares "full control" by the state with "perfect freedom" of the "individual" is a problem for the feminist mind to solve.

ENGLAND'S HINDU PROBLEM.

THE Hindu situation at Vancouver has gone from bad to worse. The Hindus on the Komagata Maru have had a battle with policemen and constables. The dominion government was determined that they should leave the harbor and yesterday forcibly deported the whole shipload.

And what is the cause of all the trouble? These Hindus are not pirates or sea rovers; they are not indigents; they are not criminals; they are British subjects from British India seeking admission to a British dominion and they find the door to that dominion shut in their faces. And why? Because they are black or brown and not white; because they are East Indians and not Caucasians. This is their offense. Of itself their admission or rejection is a matter of small importance. As a declaration of policy it is an incident possibly fraught with the most momentous consequences to British supremacy in India, that great diadem in the British colonial crown. In Burma and Bengal, in the Punjab and Madras, the affair on the Japanese steamer will assume to the people the aspect and importance of a battle for human rights, a Runnymede, a Bunker Hill. It will fire their enthusiasm and arouse their racial pride; all of which will bode no good to Great Britain. There will be no uprising, no revolution, but yeast will have been added to the leaven of unrest, and the unrest will grow and spread until, like the flood of the Ganges, it carries all before it. In a still larger degree it is Asia against Europe, the yellow and kindred nations against the white races. In the far east on the Pacific Japan is the champion of the yellow races and China with her hundreds of millions is awakening and will respond to the call of Japan. India is already aroused and the antagonism between her rulers and her people becomes more acute and aggressively dangerous. Political propagandists are abroad in her land. They find the soil rich and none can doubt that the harvest will be abundant. And what seed are these propagandists sowing? They are sowing the seed that all men are created equal, that human rights are not a matter of skin color.

General Huerta says that he is going to Europe and that he will stay there until his country needs him. It would be well for him to make a ninety-nine year lease of his residence.

In New Orleans they care more for a man's batting average than they do for his batting average.

On his fugitive trip from Mexico City to Puerto Mexico the heat was so great that Huerta was continually mopping the perspiration from his brow. Had Carranza caught him he would have mopped the earth with him.

"In again, out again, gone again," very well describes Mrs. Pankhurst's prison experience.

It is said that Edison obeys his wife. No genius in that; all husbands obey their wives.

Chicago is to have a skyscraper church. Of course it will be "high church."

How strange that the fisherman's biggest fish always makes a good getaway.

A telephone girl accepts more calls than proposals.

AGED INDIAN'S DEATH DUE TO BOY'S PLAY

OLD NICK STEPS ON POINT OF TACK AND DIES FROM BLOOD POISONING.

WILLOWS, July 23.—Old Nick, the oldest Indian in Glenn county, was killed on the reservation on Grindstone creek by a prank played by one of his urchins of the Indian village. The child set a carpet tack, point up, in one of the trails that leads through the Digger metropolis, which is in the Coast mountains, 20 miles west of Willows, and old Nick happened to be the unlucky one who stepped on it.

The aged man groaned as the bad young boy with a bevy of other red-skinned kiddies ran laughing away. Within a little time Nick's withered foot began to swell and in a few hours it was three times its natural size. He died yesterday.
Old Nick was 105 years old. He was an old man when the first white settlers came into the valley. Forty years ago some of the whites learned his age through his father, who was then upwards of a hundred. Nick was then 65. He was the father of many children.

GARNER FIRST CROP OF TOBACCO IN BUTTE COUNTY

Oroville, July 23.—The first commercial crop of tobacco ever harvested in superior California is being gathered. Over 150,000 plants of the Arabian variety of tobacco were planted on sixteen acres. The owners expect a profit of between $10,000 and $12,000.
