INDUSTRIALS ARE HEADED THIS WAY FROM THE EAST

WOBBLES SAY TONOPAH BRETHREN WILL WELCOME WITH OPEN ARMS.

(Special to the Bonanza.) ELKO, Nev., July 29.—A band of twenty-five I. W. Ws. bound westward with the intention of making Tonopah in time for the election were routed from a freight train at Carlin and forced to hike the rest of the way. They tried to make a stopover at Elko, and were met by the sheriff and told that if they did not keep going they would be taken out and placed in a chain gang for service in improving the county roads. This settled the matter and the gang continued westward saying they would hop the next train and reach Tonopah by the end of the week. The men said they were recruited in Colorado and hearing there was a good time for all in the silver camp were readily induced to start on the westward journey.

The Round Mountain Mining company has shown an admirable spirit in connection with promoting the educational tests by arranging to defray all expense of having the government crew visit their camp and instruct their employes on what is the right thing to do at critical times. President James R. Davis and Superintendent Ernest feel that Round Mountain stands in greater need of trained life saving and fire fighting corps than does Tonopah or any other large camp. The isolation of Round Mountain would exclude it from any immediate benefits if the men of that camp had to wait for assistance to arrive from Tonopah or other places in the event of a disaster. The Round Mountain Mining company is standing the expense of conveying the apparatus to that camp and also paying the expenses of the two government experts.

Ernest Cole and Tom Hart, of the Jim Butler, D. M. McLeod, captain, Patrick J. McHugh, P. M. Murphy and Gus Anderson, of the Tonopah Extension.

George S. Spitzer, captain, W. S. Wood, A. G. Noite, W. J. Green, O. C. McCallister and Robert Gillern, of the Tonopah Mining company.

The new teams started in last Monday with first aid work in the afternoon and mine rescue in the morning, and the men were given a severe trial. For instance, yesterday the fumes and gases on the 400-foot level of the Tonopah Mining company, where the mine rescue work is conducted, was so dense with poisonous fumes that carbide lamps were extinguished. In spite of this the oxygen helmets enabled the members to penetrate to the remotest part of the drift, where they labored without any physical inconvenience and came out without showing any evil effects.
