DUCKWATER GAVE THE ELECTION TO THE OLD OFFICERS

FRANKLIN, FERGUSON AND DAVIS RETURNED BY NARROW MARGINS.

The county commissioners this morning began a canvass of the vote cast at the primary election. Only one precinct was missing, that of Sharp, situated in the southern part of the county. The officials had no means of knowing if any election was held even and the count proceeded without further delay. The results were given as follows at noon: Conlisk 229, and Franklin 278 for county treasurer. For commissioner, long term, the boxes showed Cuddy 193, Davis 232, Masterson 37 and Tregloan 34. For the short term the vote was Ferguson 252, and Lindsay 242. The returns from Duckwater changed the results as given in the Bonanza, as Lindsay and Cuddy failed to poll a single vote in that precinct, where the county has had a road gang employed for some time past.

TWO SLEDGE HAMMER EVENTS DRAW GOOD CROWD TO CASINO

A good sized house gathered to see the fistie exhibition at the Big Casino yesterday afternoon, which comprised two main events and one preliminary. All three were well contested and full of excitement throughout. The Goldfield fight fans were well represented, many coming over by train and auto to witness the affair and departed well satisfied after the final gong.

Jack Minnick refereed the bouts and gave perfect satisfaction, not a dissenting voice being heard in the crowd after each decision. Murphy and Welsh, two local lads, fought the first preliminary and put up a nice clean scrap. Both were eager and willing and fought hard and fast from the first tap of the bell. Welsh seemed to have a shade the best of his opponent in weight, but what Murphy lost in this way he made up for it in gameness and

MURPHY, the Goldfield mine operator, has been here for the last three days looking into several leasing propositions. WALTER DRABNICK, F. S. cleverness. It was nip and tuck from start to finish, neither having any decisive advantage over the other, and after four rounds the bout was declared a draw. Preck Lydon and Saller Levitt next donned the gloves for a six-round go. Lydon took the lead and started off with a stiff straight left to the face and a vicious right swing to the head which seemed to take his opponent by surprise. After several exchanges Lydon landed a heavy swing on the sailor's right eye which gradually closed up tight, leaving him but one optic to finish out the fight. It was Lydon's fight all the way through, although the sailor showed to some advantage during the fourth and fifth rounds, demonstrating clearly that he also had a good stiff punch. Lydon didn't seem to fight with his old time vigor and appeared as though he had done but little training. In the sixth, however, he came back strong and forced the fighting fiercely, worsening his opponent against the ropes and gaining a strong lead over the sailor. At the tap of the gong ending the round, Referee Minnick held up Lydon's arm as a signal of victory. Kid Harrison and Johnnie Dunn next mixed things to the satisfaction of the audience. Dunn was the quicker and at long range stung Harrison many times throughout the fight with stiff hard punches from either hand, but Harrison was determined to mix with fighting, at which game he was Dunn's superior. The scrap was one monstrous series of clinches, which kept Minnick at hard work breaking them apart. Harrison kept up a tattoo on Dunn's ribs and head, occasionally changing for the stomach. Dunn, while game and vicious, was not able to get in the effective work of his opponent, who at this game is a hard one to beat. Harrison, having a strong lead throughout, was given the decision at the end of the tenth round. Harrison's seconds were Lobery, McGuirk and Van Halberg, and back of Dunn were Barney, King Pearce, Haege and O'Connell. Practically the same men were back of Lydon and Levitt. A telegram was received from Joe Goetz, who won from McCarthy in San Francisco, challenging the winner of the Harrison-Dunn fight.

ZADIG DEFENDS THE ACTION OF EXCHANGE

HE SAYS ASSESSMENTS ARE PAID BY THE EAST AND SPENT IN TONOPAH.

Hermann Zadig, after spending Sunday in Goldfield and inspecting his Tonopah properties, returned to San Francisco yesterday, fully convinced that the war would bring great prosperity to the southern country. He was somewhat critical over the strictures of the Bonanza on the conduct of the San Francisco stock exchange in opening against the wishes of the mine operators of Nevada. "I wish to explain," he said, "that few local people know that it is the eastern stockholders whose money goes to pay assessments on most of the Tonopah shares. For instance, I can cite the case of the Umatilla, where one stockholder in the east who has 125,000 shares came through without a murmur. Another case mentioned by Joe Josephs the other day was a stockholder holding 250,000 shares of the Great Western who paid the one cent assessment on a one cent stock without saying a word about the hardship. From my experience I would say that 80 per cent of the assessments are collected from outside and 95 per cent of the money realized is spent right here in Tonopah."

(By International News Service.) PARIS, Sept. 7.—After the fall of Lemberg it became known that 20,000 men were set to work on the fortifications of Vienna. Many thousands of others began fortifying the banks of the Danube.

(By International News Service.) SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—The British freighter Cetriana, under charter to the German government, was stripped of its wireless by the German cruiser Leipzig off Magdalena bay. Her cook and other reservists were taken August 5th. The Cetriana has arrived here.

(By International News Service.) PARIS, Sept. 8.—According to advices the second Austrian army operating before Krasnosodov, in the region of Lubben, suffered great losses and is now on the defensive. Some of the Austrians were forced to retreat. In the fighting to the east and north east of Paris, the Germans have their backs toward Paris. The French are harassing their march. From time to time, the Germans turn to engage the French. Shells are falling on the German rear. The line is more than 100 miles from Bethel to Verdun.

(By Associated Press.) PARIS, Sept. 8.—Official announcement from the war office says the German advance on Paris from the east has been checked. The statement follows: "The German advance on Paris from the east was stopped Sunday after a fierce battle when the French and English compelled the Germans to abandon positions at Goujonniers, Lefort Gaucher, and retreat further east." Goujonniers is 32 miles southeast of Paris and Lefort Gaucher 42 miles southeast of Paris.

Over a million troops are reported to have participated in this fight. Before the announcement was made word was received that the allies had carried out the double flanking movement. General Joffre moving against the Germans on the right wing and Sir John French against the left.

(By Associated Press.) ROTTERDAM, Sept. 8.—Dispatch: More than two million German troops passed Cologne the first nineteen days of the war for the western theater of war, the plan being to keep fresh men to be hurled at troops worn with the burden of the day.

(By International News Service.) LONDON, Sept. 8.—The British cruiser Pathfinder struck a mine in

(By International News Service.) PETROGRAD, Sept. 8.—(Official.)—The Austrian army corps between the Rivers Vistula and Bug are retreating with enormous losses. Resistance of the enemy has been broken. There are evidences of the possibility of a famine in Austria.

(By International News Service.) PARIS, Sept. 8.—Estimates say nearly a million troops are taking part in the decisive general engagement of the allies and Germans east of Paris. A battle which developed Saturday developed into one of the most important battles of the campaign. The kaiser is reported directing from the frontier near Verdun. The forces are almost equal. The Germans encountered advance detachments near Lefort Gaucher and were obliged to retire. Evidently the Germans have no intentions to besiege Paris while the allies are intact.
