FINE SHOWING MADE IN A NEW DISTRICT

PROPERTIES AT HAYSTACK GIVE GOOD RETURNED NEAR THE SURFACE

W. J. Merryfield and George Kronenwetter have encountered 18 inches of ore that runs $100 in gold to the ton in the shaft they are sinking on the Garfield claim. This claim is part of the property of the Haystack Mining company. On the Wheatfield claim a shaft on a four-foot body of ore that averages $20 to the ton in gold has recently been started. For the purpose of reducing the ore on the property the Haystack Mining company will install a five-stamp mill. C. J. Haggerty and M. Smith have leased 100 by 300 feet on the Grainfield claim from the same company and have sunk a shaft 40 feet. At the 50-foot point they plan drifting 15 feet to cut the vein opened on the surface. Two feet of milling ore that runs between $18 and $20 to the ton has been opened by Kall & Cook, who have a lease on the Horned Toad claim belonging to Montgomery, Oaler and Douglas of Winnemucca. Two shafts have been sunk, one 50 feet and the other 25 feet, which are connected with a crosscut. They also have opened a small streak of ore that runs in the neighborhood of $100 to the ton.

NEVADA PRODUCES FIFTY MILLIONS

MINING CONTINUES TO BE PREDOMINANT INDUSTRY OF STATE

Nevada produced $8,880,550 worth of agricultural crops; $11,026,200 of live stock products, $390,550 products, and $66,000 bee products, in 1914, according to the report of the Nevada bureau of industry, agriculture and irrigation, a total of $20,263,300. With the estimated mineral production of $28,800,000, according to the geological survey, the total agricultural, live stock and mineral production of the state for 1914 was $49,063,300. The present cultivated lands comprise 841,500 acres, of which 350,000 acres are classed as pasturage. The average crop production per acre is $10.30. The report declares that Nevada farmers, considered as a whole, get the lowest relative per cent of production from the possibilities of the soil of the farmers of any state in the union, with the possible exception of some southern states. The most interesting part of the report relates to a discussion of the forage crop situation and the live stock shortage. The total production of forage crops the past year is estimated at 1,018,500 tons, exclusive of wild pasturage, and on which the farmers of the state lost $2,000,000 in profits as compared with the profits of preceding years, due to a fall in price of hay of about $2.50 per ton, or from an average of about $7 per ton for the 10 years ending with 1912 to less than $4.50 per ton for 1914.

GEORGE W. HATCH POSSIBLE CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR

Virginia City people read with interest the fact that George W. Hatch, formerly of this city, is mentioned as a possible candidate for mayor of Oakland, California, on the Republican ticket. Mr. Hatch was a member of Hatch Bros. grocery house in this camp for many years, but of late years has established a prosperous commission house in Oakland, being a large buyer of Nevada products.—Chronicle.

PECULIAR METHODS IN BATTLE RELATED

LETTER FROM SOLDIER TELLS OF TACTICS PURSUED BY BELLIGERENTS

(By Associated Press.) BERLIN, Jan. 20.—The peculiar character of the fighting now going on in the forest of Argonne is illustrated by the following letter from a soldier: "The two companies forming our right wing had been lying for five days only 30 to 50 yards from the enemy along a distance of nearly 200 yards. In front of our company to the left was a little valley, on the opposite slope of which the French had entrenched themselves in three lines of pits, one lying above the other, and this front was generally regarded as impregnable. We therefore had a detachment of Prussian sappers and miners, which was assigned to our lines, to tunnel under the three French trenches in order to blow them up. The explosion was really intended to go off on the anniversary of the battle of Champligny (Nov. 30), but the sappers said that they had not yet enough 'snuff' into their holes. There was danger that the French would undermine us and blow us into the air first. Finally, on December 1, everything was ready. At 10:30 places lay pounds of dynamite under the French trenches. At 10:30 all our front trenches were evacuated, but we masked this movement to deceive the French. At 1:21 a lieutenant of pioneers pressed his thumb on a button, and there was a terrific crash. One might have thought that the whole earth was falling to pieces. From my position I saw a cloud of earth probably over 600 feet high. After about a minute something like a mighty tempest broke loose in the woods. I did not know what it was till something struck my skull, then I knew it was a hail of dirt and stones which had been thrown up by the explosion. I darted into our bombproof, where I stayed for two minutes. Meanwhile our two companies pressed forward and occupied the gap that had been broken in the French lines. The first trench was full of dead and buried Frenchmen. In the next two they were so dazed that they surrendered without resistance. "Within a half hour we had taken prisoners the dwellers in all these trenches, so far as they were still alive. Among them there were eight officers and 378 privates who had not been wounded. The rest, including two officers, were dead and buried under the debris. We captured three mine-throwers. Our total losses were only three killed and seven wounded. "A soldier must have luck! The captured French pioneers told us afterwards that they had mined our trenches at eight points and were going to blow us up at 6 p. m., not yet having finished putting in the charges. When we examined our trenches we found these mines. So we had a lucky escape this time. The higher authorities are giving unstinted praise to our achievement. Even the crown prince sent automobiles with 200 woolen blankets and a bottle of wine for each of us. What more could a soldier's heart want? Such are the tricks that we are playing here!"

THRIFTY SOLDIERS IN GERMANY'S ARMY

SAVINGS FROM SALARY SHOW SOBRIETY AND STRICT ECONOMY

(By Associated Press.) BERLIN, Jan. 19.—That the German soldier has carried with him into the war his well-known habits of thrift is shown by the amount of money that he is sending home to his family. A post-office official of Dresden has recently shown in a public address that the amount of money sent home by soldiers for the Dresden postal district in November reached $550,000. Assuming that the like ratio prevails for all the rest of Germany, he estimated that the soldiers sent home $24,000,000 in November. This sum appears all the more striking when it is recalled that the pay of the German private soldier is only about 12 cents a day. The amounts sent through the postoffice are often less than $2.50, and in not a few cases less than one dollar. A Socialist paper, commenting upon these large savings, remarks: "The large sum of $24,000,000 reflects the sobriety of the German soldier, his intrinsic decency and his strength of character; even in the wildest turmoil of the bitterest struggle of history he does not forget the good habits of his home which he formed in times of peace. Among the laurels that our troops are winning before the enemy it is a high title of honor that they use their petty wages economically and do not forget their families or to look forward to times of peace."

BUTLER THEATER.

At the Butler this evening another interesting program will be shown, as follows: Pathe Weekly of current events from all parts of the world, together with many war scenes; a Vitagraph comedy, "The Band Leader," with Wallie Van and Hughie Mack, and a two-reel Selig drama, "Rosemary, That's for Remembrance Sake." A poor mountain girl is left an orphan, and is being raised by a family, friends of her father; their only son has just returned from college; the two young people become very much interested in each other, when the son leaves home to accept a position in Washington. Harvey becomes busy with his new duties and forgets his former sweetheart. At an embassy ball he becomes attracted at the first sight of a beautiful girl; he later returns home for a week-end visit with his family and is delighted to see the beauty of the Washington ball-room in the congregation at church; he attends a reception to which his former sweetheart is not invited, and through an open window she sees Harvey upon his knees before the Washington beauty making an avowal of his love. Events pass quickly, and Harvey finally discovers that it is his former sweetheart that he loves; there are many scenes involving emotion and suspense, which in the finale has a happy ending. On this same reel will be seen Doc Yak with the neighborhood cats.
