WELFARE AMERICAN TRADE DEPENDENCY

PARTICIPATION OF MANUFACTURERS AND MERCHANTS MOST NECESSARY

(By Associated Press.) ST. LOUIS, Mo., January 21.—The future welfare of American foreign trade largely depends upon the participation in it of an increasing number of smaller manufacturers and merchants, according to W. C. Downs, United States commercial attache for Australasia, who addressed the second national foreign trade convention here today on the subject of how these smaller manufacturers and merchants could successfully enter the foreign trade.

Mr. Downs, who was formerly an exporter and importer of many years' residence in South America, declared that with all of the facilities now offered by the government, the railroads, banks and various foreign trade organizations, there was no excuse for an American manufacturer not being able to ascertain whether his goods were suitable for any particular foreign market. The problem of getting the goods into that market could be solved largely by co-operative foreign selling organizations and export commission houses.

It was far better for a small manufacturer to undertake his foreign business in co-operation with other manufacturers, he said, that it was for him to entrust the future of his export business to his own representative unless he was justified in assuming the heavy expense of an exclusive traveler. In his opinion these co-operative groups should be limited in number, non-competing, and yet produce kindred or allied lines of goods, in order to work with the most efficiency.

If the smaller manufacturer was unable or did not care to enter such combination, he had at hand ready to serve him the highly trained and efficient organizations of the export commission houses who already have permanent agents and exhibition rooms abroad. The commission merchants, he said, always have been and still are the pioneers who still handle a very considerable percentage of American export trade.

The small manufacturer, he said, should inform himself thoroughly as to which were the best represented and best equipped commission houses operating in the territory which he wished to enter, and lay out with them a selling campaign that should be mutually satisfactory. In any event it was a matter of intelligent co-operation of all interested parties that would solve the problem of extending the foreign trade of the smaller manufacturers and merchants.

BIG SERIAL STARTS AT BUTLER TOMORROW

EXPLOITS OF ELAINE PROMISES TO BE A MOST THRILLING PHOTO-PLAY

At the Butler tomorrow a new serial number will be started, "The Exploits of Elaine." By far the most successful blending of the most engrossing story telling, with elaborate and thrilling scenic achievement that has yet been seen in the United States or anywhere in the world. The throwing on the screen of the "Exploits of Elaine" presented by the Hearst Sunday newspapers in collaboration with the Pathe exchange is heralded as an unprecedented feat in the moving picture field by reason of the constellation of talent, dramatic, literary, scientific and managerial, that went into the production of the piece.

Arnold Daly, a leading genius of the American stage, acts one of the principal roles in the "Exploits of Elaine." He appears as Craig Kennedy, the detective who employs the combination of science and brain to solve the greatest of crime mysteries. Daly has found that the story of the "Exploits of Elaine" gives his great dramatic talent the most adequate field for expression it has been his good fortune to run into since his entrance on the stage.

Associated with Daly as the heroine of the play, about whom centers most thrilling and pathetic events, is Pearl White, who takes the role of Elaine. Miss White has been seen and admired by millions in the "Perils of Pauline." Sheldon Lewis, another star of the legitimate drama, is another famous actor who helps make the "Exploits of Elaine" a celebrated success.

This elaborate congregating and centering of dramatic stars along with the almost limitless expense that was poured into scenic presentation of the play, which was directed by Leopold Wharton, are, according to those most competent to judge, not only justified, but imperative, in view of the authorship and text of the play.—Adv.

JUSTICE COURT PROCEEDINGS VOID

time was on the morning of the fourth day and had passed before the answer was offered.

"In my view of the law the defendant has all the time allowed him in the body of the summons for his appearance, without regard to any indorsement on the summons, which, in the statute providing for shortening is not made a part of the summons, but at best is a mere direction to the officer making the service to change the body of the summons to accord with the order of the justice; and in fact does not need to be indorsed on the summons. The indorsement in this instance may be treated as surplusage in so far as the summons itself is concerned and was negligible.

"It is the order of this court that the proceedings in the justice court of Tonopah township in the case of Louise King, plaintiff, vs. Rudolph Parker, defendant, be annulled from and after the return of the summons; and that the answer be filed, the refusal of the justice to receive and file it being declared a void act and in excess of his jurisdiction; and that complaint and summons be returned to the justice court, the other papers remaining in this court.

"If the attorney for petitioner desires a more formal order than this, he may, within one day after notice of this ruling, prepare such an order and submit it for approval and signature."

NYE ASSEMBLYMEN TAKE THE FLOOR

COMMITTEES APPOINTED AND LEGISLATURE GETS DOWN TO BUSINESS

After taking a recess in respect to the memory of Assemblyman Spencer Reynolds, the legislature reconvened yesterday morning. Committees for both houses were announced. Appropriations were made for the expenses of the session. Bills were introduced in the senate providing for the purchase of a portrait of Lincoln for $1,500 and one relative to the blacklisting of employes of railroads, mines, smelters and other industries.

In the house Assemblyman Schmidt of Nye moved to set aside the rule pertaining to notice prior to the introduction of bills so that the house could get down to business and expedite matters, which was carried. Assembly bill No. 2, by Mr. Fitzgerald of Nye is "An act to provide for a semi-monthly pay day in this state. It was placed on file until announcement of committees.

DEFENDANT WINNER OF JOHNSON CASE

DECISION BY JUDGE FARRINGTON RELATIVE TO TONOPAH ESTATE

One of the most bitterly contested cases ever tried in the federal court at Carson City, that of Johnson against Johnson, has been decided by Judge Farrington in favor of the defendant, the divorced wife of W. S. Johnson. The opinion rendered was to the effect that the district court of the United States has full and complete jurisdiction of every phase of the case.

Mrs. Johnson has already been given by decree, a half interest in all of Johnson's property, reputed to be worth $1,000, and if the findings of the master in chancery appointed by Judge Farrington are approved, she will receive in addition to the half interest in all the property a money judgment for $20,173.72.

GREAT WESTERN MINE WILL RESUME WORK

Arrangements have been made to resume work in the Great Western property under direction of E. S. Simpson. Money to operate the property has been raised in the east.

AMUSEMENTS

BUTLER THEATER

Another interesting program will be shown at the Butler this evening as follows: "Little Miss Make-Believe," a Biograph drama; the episode of "The Hazards of Helen," and "Mary Jane Entertains," a Vitagraph two-reel comedy, with Flora Finch, Hughie Mack, Cissy Fitzgerald and Jay Diggins. Mary Jane entertained all right and she certainly did it up fine; she is the Brown's housemaid and after entertaining her sweetheart Percy, the grocer's clerk, with the best the house affords, during the absence of her employers, the two attend a tango dance dressed in livery belonging to the Browns. Then startling and inexpressively funny things happen. They find the punce greatly to their liking and when Mrs. Brown finds Mary Jane drinking from the same cup with her husband, there are strenuous happenings. In the end the woman "pays the fiddler," for poor Mary Jane, out of a job, no money and scorned by Percy, feels her fun has cost her a pretty penny. The audience will feel, after witnessing this picture, that they have seen a real comedy.

Tomorrow, the starting of the great serial story, "The Exploits of Elaine," one of the greatest detective stories ever written. It will appear here every Friday.—Adv.

ELECTRIC RAILROAD TO MARBLE QUARRY

Plans are being perfected for the construction of an electric railroad from the T. and T. railroad at Carraway to the marble quarries at Carraway, six miles distant. There is a monstrous exposure of marble in the quarries and the road is to be built principally for the transportation of marble.

IRREGULARITY CONTINUES IN POSTAL SERVICE

Arriving on the Bonanza's exchange table this morning, fresh from the postoffice, is a copy of the Carson City News, dated December 23, 1914.

It is not unusual for a couple of Carson papers or letters to arrive on one day, with an interim of a couple of days before the next instalment. Inspector Means is requested to look up this irregularity in the service. It is suggested that he might find it in the Reno office.

COLUMBIA SAMPLER STARTS OPERATIONS

The Columbia sampler of the Western Ore Purchasing company at Goldfield was to have resumed operations today, after lying idle for the past two years. Much needed modern machinery has been added to the plant. The cause of resumption of this establishment and its reconstruction was the revival of mining industry in Goldfield. Manager Manson went over to see the plant start operation.

WALTER COFFEY SAILING THE PLACID PACIFIC

A note received today by Lee Brumbaugh, chum of Walter Coffey, formerly of Tonopah, states that Walter sailed from San Francisco Tuesday on the Ventura. He will train on shipboard and will have his first fight two weeks after arriving in Australia. Mr. Coffey sends regards to all his Nevada friends, especially his associates in the Tonopah Volunteer Fire department.
