

OFFICERS LACKING IN SPIRITUAL ENDOWMENT

GERMANY SAID TO BE SUFFERING FROM A LACK OF CLERGYMEN

(By Associated Press.)
BERLIN, Oct. 6.—The perennial subject of the scarcity of clergymen has recently been enlivened by some body's suggestion that wounded officers who are no longer able to serve at the front take up the study of theology. To this proposal, however, the objection is raised that "the office of a clergyman requires spiritual endowments seldom to be found in officers, else they would never have yielded to their desire to become officers."

Meanwhile the scarcity of clergymen is growing greater and is expected to become still more pronounced. It is mentioned that the sons of clergymen no longer choose the ministry as their calling to the same extent as some years ago. Fifteen years ago there were still 344 clergymen's sons studying theology at the universities to every 100,000 clergymen; but by 1912 the number had already dropped to 283. It is said that, owing to the lack of clergymen, many churches in villages are being attached to others in larger towns, after which they have occasional services held by the clergymen from those more important congregations. Not only is the tendency of young men to choose other callings than the ministry, but even those who choose it show a marked inclination later on to switch off into something else. It is noted that nearly one-third of the regular school inspectors in Prussia are former clergymen; and not a few ministers also have abandoned their calling to take positions in teachers' seminaries.

WAR BEING WAGED UPON FOREIGN WORDS

(By Associated Press.)

BERLIN, Oct. 6.—The war upon foreign words has now been taken up by the church, the terminology of which is chiefly of Greek or Latin origin. Although such words as "synod," "Konsistorium" (consistory), and many others are almost as old as the German Protestant church itself, a movement has now been started to get rid of them root and branch, and to invent German equivalents. A petition to this effect has just been adopted by the synod of Flensburg and sent to the royal konsistorium of the state church. The synod also asks that steps be taken to preserve "our church life, in public worship and parish activity, from English influences, in order that, in keeping with our German character, a purer evangelical christianity of a native type may be encouraged, and that an end be put, once for all, to the craze for what is foreign in church matters."

ASIATICS EMPLOYED IN FRENCH ARSENALS

(By Associated Press.)

PARIS, Oct. 7.—In order to secure the maximum of production in its arsenals and to avoid as much as possible the necessity of calling on men of military age, the French government recently began the experiment of employing native laborers from Cochinchina, China, Annam and Tonkin. Fifty of them were sent to the aeronautics and munition shops at Tarbes, Castres and Toulouse. Results exceeded expectations and a second batch of 600 were sent to France. They will be followed by 4000 others and soon the number of native workers will exceed 10,000.

HIGH SCHOOL AND A PICKED TEAM TO MEET

FORMER GRIDIRON HEROES TO GO AGAINST COMING PLAYERS AT NEAR DATE

The announcement of the time of this week's football game will be made in tomorrow's Bonanza. The high school team will play a team being organized by past heroes of the local gridiron, nearly all being former Tonopah high school players. The time of the game will be made so a maximum attendance is possible and no admission will be charged.

The town team will be made from the following men: Wardle, Willard, Shields, Rideout, Sherrin, McDonald, Lessee, Zenia, Cross, Cuddy, and James. These men are spending their evenings at the ball grounds, perfecting a set of signals and organizing their line-up.

The high school team will not be announced until Friday. The men practicing daily on fundamental plays, and some little scrimmaging to improve their general condition and wind. Rough scrimmage and tackling practice has been postponed until the suite arrive.

The field will be cleared entirely of weeds and properly marked before the game. Spectators will be required to sit in the grandstand, so

BATTLE OF WITS BETWEEN MANAGERS

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—When the Philadelphia Nationals and the Boston Americans meet in the world's series later in the week new leaders will be seen at the managerial helms and the success or failure of the contending clubs will depend, to a great extent, upon the skill with which these men pilot their baseball machines. In Pat Moran and Bill Carrigan the Phillies and Red Sox respectively have diamond directors who are equipped to take their place in world's series history alongside Connie Mack, George Stallings, John McGraw and Jake Stahl.

Both Moran and Carrigan have earned their positions at the head of the two pennant-winning clubs by hard and conscientious application in their chosen line of life work. Each has risen from the ranks after serving a hard apprenticeship and there are no features of the national game with which they are not familiar. When the teams take the field it will be as much a battle of managerial wits between Moran and Carrigan as it will be a contest of skill and endurance between the individual players and the teams considered as units. In one respect the Red Sox leader will have an advantage over his Philadelphia rival for in some of the games, at least, Carrigan will be seen in catching uniform. Moran is just as familiar with the duties devolving upon the backstop for he made his reputation as a catcher as Carrigan has done but during the past season has handled his team from the bench whereas Carrigan has been in the thick of the pennant struggle much of the time.

WHY SCHOOL BOOKS HAVE NOT ARRIVED

STATE SUPERINTENDENT SAYS THEY MAY HAVE BEEN LOST IN GALVESTON FLOOD

The Galveston flood is believed by John Edwards Bray, state superintendent of public instruction, and Joe Gray, of the Gray, Reid, Wright company, distributors of state text books, to be responsible for the non-arrival of about 14,000 books which were to have been used in the public schools of the state this year. A special rush order has been sent to Boston for the missing books and they should be here Monday. They will be distributed immediately on their arrival, says the Gazette.

The missing books were shipped from Boston on August 6 over the Sunset route and should have reached Reno on August 27. Nothing has been heard of them and the transportation officials have been unable to locate them. That they were lost in the Galveston flood seems the only reasonable explanation in the minds of the transportation officials.

The books were elementary and advanced arithmetics and second readers. Superintendent Bray said today that the amendments to the course of study were mailed on August 31 and should be in the hands of all teachers. Relative to the non-delivery of books he says that does not establish a precedent as in 1907 the books were not delivered until two months after the fall term had opened. And again in 1911 they were not delivered until October 1.

The deceased leaves a husband, a son and a daughter, and besides her brother and sister leaving in Reno, she leaves a brother, G. T. Bonnor of Austin.—Journal.

that the officials may have opportunity to judge each play.

To make a success of high school athletics public interest is necessary, and it is expected that a good clean game, conducted in an orderly manner, will create a general interest in the heavy schedule which the high school will promote this year.
