RABBITS ARE A PEST IN STARR VALLEY

Since the big snow storm the ranchers in Starr valley are kept busy protecting their hay stacks from the ravages of the thousands of rabbits that have been driven in from the hills to the valley. The base of the stacks are eaten in many instances so badly that the stacks are in danger of toppling over, and in order to protect them the ranchers are fencing the hay yards with small meshed wire.—Elko Free Press.

NEW WORK IN HALIFAX MINE IS UNDERTAKEN

RAISE WILL BE SENT FROM THE FOURTEENTH LEVEL TO MEET WINZE

Work has been started on the fourteenth level of the Halifax mine on a raise some distance north of the winze that was lowered in ore from the 1200 level. The winze is now down 125 feet.
The raise from the 1400 level will be continued to a point 1300 feet from the surface, from which point a drift will be sent south and another raise sent to meet the winze. This will give the company an opportunity to stope the ore very economically.

FORCE INCREASED AT MONARCH PITTSBURG

As a result of the improved showing in the Monarch Pittsburg, Superintendent Branch Smith has added several men to the force and will later further augment the number at work. Developments are still in progress on the 900 foot level. Ore of low grade is being saved.

TRANSMISSION AND AXLE LUBRICATION

The importance of transmission and rear axle lubrication is often overlooked by the automobile owner and truck operator and considered a minor detail. The lubrication of these parts is fully as important as the lubrication of the motor, states a recent bulletin gotten out by the Standard Oil company's automobile experts.

The entire load of the car or truck is taken by the two teeth in the transmission and the two teeth in the rear axle which are in mesh. These teeth should be separated by a film of oil, otherwise the motor will fail to deliver the power at the rear wheels that it should; the gears will wear rapidly and become noisy.

In the lubrication of the ball bearings, it is necessary to maintain a film of oil between the ball, cone and race; otherwise these parts will not receive correct lubrication. This will result in excessive bearing wear, throwing the gears out of alignment, rendering them noisy, and will cause a considerable loss of power at this point.

Oil is a more suitable lubricant for this purpose, states this bulletin, than hard grease, because of its fluidity and ability to penetrate the minute clearances between the ball and darc, which is only one-tenth thousandths of an inch. Another reason why hard grease is not so suitable as oil is that the revolving gears will cut a path through the hard grease and allow the gears to run dry.

Pacific coast refiners are claiming that lubricants made from asphalt base, California crude, give best results, and are substantiating their claims by the recent findings of prominent motor engineers and the exposition juries, as well as records of results of actual service.

MANY DETERMINATIONS MADE FOR PROSPECTORS

ONE OF THE DUTIES OF THE NEVADA STATE MINING LABORATORY

The Nevada State Mining laboratory has now been in existence for twenty years. The laboratory is under the direction of the Mackay School of Mines and has for its object the free analysis of ores, minerals, and rocks taken from within the boundaries of Nevada by citizens of the state. Its work has grown enormously since its inception.
During the year 1915, 1085 sent in samples from 172 localities, and the State mining laboratory made 7,830 determinations on these samples. This is an increase of about 25 per cent over the number of persons and samples for 1914.

Those sending samples to the Nevada State mining laboratory will derive much greater benefit from its work if they take large samples, crush them fine, quarter them, and finally send a considerable quantity to the laboratory, than if, as is commonly the case, they send only a few large fragments. A few pieces are satisfactory when it is only desired that the rock or mineral be determined, but when the actual content of a sample is in question, it is much better to send a large finely ground sample, since a few fragments even when broken from the same piece of material are apt to

NEARLY PERISHED IN STORM

Al P. Tilford, bookkeeper of the Nevada Packard Mines company, would have lost his life Sunday night in the storm that completely snowbound the Rochester district for two days, had it not been for a rescue party, headed by Superintendent K. Freitag of the Nevada Packard, who went in search of the man when he did not return to camp on time.
Tilford was found in an exhausted condition, completely blinded by the snow and so bewildered that he was walking around in a big circle, a little more than a mile from the Rochester mill.—Winnemucca Silver State.

DEER SEEK FOOD IN CARSON CITY

When L. L. Tower arose this morning and looked from his window to gaze on the "beautiful," the first thing that he saw was a fine buck deer in his yard, evidently driven from the mountains in search of food, says the Carson News. Mr. Tower stated that the buck was a fine specimen and that his antlers had a spread of about three feet. It is also reported that a number of quail, rabbits and other small animals have been found frozen to death and this winter will be a hard one on all kinds of game.

TONOPAH AND GOLDFIELD TO AGAIN COMBAT AT BAS-KETBALL

When the whistle shrills this evening at the Airdome it will be to announce that the second game of the series between Tonopah and Goldfield has commenced. The Goldfielders will arrive about six o'clock in plenty of time to have a short practice before the main event commences. There will be no preliminary to tonight's game owing to the criticism in the past that two contests took up too much of the time which should in the minds of some be devoted to dancing. McSell, a former star of the Colorado School of Mines, is a new member of the local team and will be given a chance to prove his worth against one of the famed Morrison brothers of Goldfield who are reckoned among the best guards of the state. Aside from this the regular lineup will be used with no variations. Smythe, Goldfield's star forward, will endeavor to scintillate again this evening, but with Jean O'Connell as a damper to his endeavors along the comet line, he may find the basket difficult to locate. There has been a large advance sale of tickets for the game and a large crowd is expected will be in attendance. The lineup for the two teams follows:

Tonopah—W. Cuddy, McSell, J. Dyan, J. Butler, J. O'Connell, J. Smith, Stotesbury.
Goldfield—H. Smythe, Trumann, E. McCall, W. Fitzgerald, D. Morrison, J. Morrison, McLaughlin.
Referee: Don Kennedy
The admission prices are fifty and twenty-five cents. The game will start immediately after the close of the first show at the Butler, and the usual dance will be given after the game.

told of their worth and citizenship. A number of Scotch melodies were gracefully and feelingly played by Mrs. R. Q. Macdonald. Mrs. Arthur Neth's vocal solo, "My Ain Folk," was appealing, not only in the beauty of the composition, both words and music, but in the soulful manner of the rendition.

Branch Smith discoursed briefly on the life of Burns, evidencing that he was a deep student of the life and character of the poet. He traced his course in life, spoke feelingly of the beauties of his character and passed his frailties lightly by. The sordidness of his early days and the prodigality of his later life were found to combine in the development of the wild passions which gave the life and tone to his verse.

Miss Gertrude Harkins, a bonnie Scotch lassie herself, was inimitable in the highland fling, as well as her Harry Lauder imitations and anecdotes. "The Cottage Where Burns Was Born," was pleasingly sung by Joseph Lindsay. Miss Rose Neth pleased all by her reading of "Tam O'Shanter," entering into the spirit of the poem and being perfect in accent.

"Loch Lomond" was very pleasingly sung by Mrs. Arthur Neth. She was followed by Prof. Kanouse in another baritone solo, after which all joined in "Auld Lang Syne."
It was long after midnight when the banquet concluded and there was an understanding that the anniversary party will be succeeded by the organization of a Caladonia society in this city.

ESMERALDA COUNTY RECEIVES $42,000 BULLION TAXES

The Goldfield Tribune states that the mines of Esmeralda county have contributed to the income of the county to the extent of $42,342.40 in taxes the past year, by virtue of the state and county bullion tax, which is levied on all bullion over a stipulated amount produced annually by any company. The tax is levied on a sliding scale, which is adjusted according to the production of the company.

JOHNSON ESTATE BEING SETTLED UP

In the federal court yesterday, in the Johnson versus Johnson case the sale of the Johnson interests in the Nye County Land and Live Stock company for the sum of $16,500 was confirmed by Judge Farrington. The purchasers assume all liens and encumbrances against the property. The purchase price amounted to something over $30,000.

An order of the court will probably be made today for the transfer and conveyance of the property to the purchasers. The money will be paid into the hands of the clerk of the federal court, subject to further orders of the court. Judge W. W. Griffin represented the interests of Mrs. Roxa Johnson, Platt & Stanford the purchasers and George A. Bartlett the receiver of the estate.—Appeal.

BUTLER THEATER

The feature tonight at the Butler will be a Pathe "Gold Rooster" play in five parts entitled "The Closing Net," from the famous novel of Henry Rowlands, featuring Edward Estabrook, and filled with thrills and excitement from start to finish. The story in brief: Trouble began early in the career of Frank Clamart, known in his later career as "The Tide-water Clam." He was a babe in arms when his mother killed herself, and spent the first ten years of his life in an orphan asylum. For the next fifteen years he specialized in burglary as a fine art, and at twenty-five had made for himself an international reputation as the most resourceful crook in the world. He went to Paris and met Leontine, who blends with the night Chu-Chu the shearer; Ivan the "fence"; and Jeff the Red. Frank was charmed with Leontine, much to the discomfort of Chu-Chu. That night, on Chu-Chu's dare, and accompanied by Leontine, Frank entered the well-guarded estate of his foster-brother, of whose existence he was unaware. He was shot down and was recognized by his kin. On what he believed to be his death-bed, "The Tide-water Clam" repented and the story ends happily. This story many will remember in the Saturday Evening Post some time ago. The preliminary reel will be a Pathe comedy, Tomorrow, the world famous actor, Holbrook Blinn, in "The Family Cupboard," based on Owen Davis' stage success, and Pathe Weekly.

expect to have a carload for the smelter within ten days. I do not pretend to say what the ore will run in free gold, but suffice it to say it is of sufficient value to warrant shipping."
It is the opinion of Mr. Kaiser, with the Shepherd's Dream shipping ore, that renewed interest will be awakened in the camp, and that before the summer is well advanced that much prospecting will be under way, and work resumed on properties that are now idle.—Humboldt Star.
