KEARNS VISITS THE HALIFAX

SALT LAKE MAGNATE SAYS THE HALIFAX IS ONE OF THE BIG MINES OF THE WEST

Senator Thomas Kearns, of Salt Lake and vice-president of the Halifax-Tonopah Mining company, who has been here on a visit of inspection to the Halifax mine, returned to the coast this morning to attend the annual meeting of the West End company which will be held in Oakland tomorrow. Senator Kearns is enthusiastic over the prospects of the property which he said this morning was destined to make one of the greatest mines in the country as the magnitude and strength of the ledge promises to develop into an orebody equal to the best in camp.

"I am greatly impressed with the Halifax," he said. "It has grown wonderfully since my last visit. The west drift has proven conclusively the fact that the lens is an extensive one, while the stope, which is twenty feet wide, all in ore, shows also the magnitude of the deposit. It will not be long before the body is developed on a level below the 1241 and then it will be good policy to largely increase the tonnage produced. To devise ways and means for handling this augmented tonnage was my chief mission to Nevada and I think we have the proposition satisfactorily worked out. The ore is now being treated in the West End mill and I think the arrangements are concluded for augmenting the tonnage. The only feature that militates against our plan to continue to use the West End mill as our only outlet is the fact that Mr. Sherwin has developed ore bodies in the West End of such size and richness, due partly to the appreciation in the price of silver, that the parent company will have need for more stamps than it is at present employing on its own ore."

VARSIITY TEAM VS. TONOPAH ALL STARS

FASTEST GAME OF SEASON TO BE PLAYED ON NEW AIR-DOME FLOOR

Tomorrow evening the Airdome will be the scene of a basketball game which in interest and speed should surpass anything in this line that has ever been held in southern Nevada. Some of the best talent available will play. The game will start immediately after the exodus from the first show and after the game the usual dance will be held under the auspices of the players. The price of admission to the game is only twenty-five cents and as before stated the money will be used to defray the expense incurred last season. This will be the first game to be played on the new Airdome court and every fan in the city should be out to see this initial feature. The line-up for both teams will be announced tomorrow.

KITCHENOR WAS A SELF-MADE DICTATOR

he wanted, but within a year after the war opened Premier Asquith officially announced in parliament that about 3,000,000 men had enlisted in the United Kingdom alone, and almost another million in the overseas dominions.

BORN IN IRELAND

Without his crowning achievements as the great organizer of the British campaign in the European war. Kitchenor had already won wide and lasting fame by his many campaigns in Egypt, South Africa and in India. He was born June 24, 1850, in County Kerry, Ireland, a fact that gave rise to a general belief that he was of Irish blood, but his parents were of French and English descent. His father was a soldier, but of no very high rank. He had managed to climb to the lieutenant-colonelcy of a dragoon regiment, when he retired to the estate in Ireland.

In 1874 when a British expedition was sent out to survey western Palestine, Kitchenor was one of the eager volunteers accepted for this service. As an intelligence officer Kitchenor accompanied Sir Herbert Stewart's desert column on that heroic but disastrous enterprise known as the Gordon Relief Expedition—the relief of General Gordon from Khartum where he had been entangled during the evacuation of the Sudan. Kitchenor deeply took to heart the lessons of this fiasco, with its failure of transport and intelligence departments, and avoided these troubles in the expedition which he himself led some years later.

As an instance of the self-confidence with which Kitchenor undertook his tasks in Egypt is recalled how he dealt with the war office as few generals before him ever dared.

CAPTURE OF KHARTUM

The Kitchenor campaign that ended with the recapture of Khartum was considered by military experts as perfectly organized and faultlessly conducted. The Egyptian army that Kitchenor had worked up to such remarkable efficiency was, when he first took charge of it, a band of unpaid, unfed and undisciplined fellahs. It was said to be an army "without stomach, heart or backbone," but Kitchenor worked over these helpless reeds of broken natives and made of them some of the finest of black battalions.

The fight at Omdurman, September 2, 1898, just across the Nile from Khartum, was the greatest battle of Kitchenor's time in Egypt. Osman Digma faced him with 50,000 Mahdists, while he had but 20,000 men. When the battle was over, 11,000 of the Mahdists had been killed outright, 16,000 wounded, and 4,000 taken prisoners, while the English and Egyptian loss altogether was under 500 men.

For his triumphs in the Sudan he was raised to the peerage as Baron Kitchenor of Khartum, and received the thanks of parliament and a grant of $150,000. Shortly afterward he was promoted lieutenant-general and then chief-of-staff to Lord Roberts in the South African war, and on Lord Roberts' return to England in November, 1900, succeeded him as commander-in-chief in that field. By constructing a 3,500 mile chain of block houses he stopped the Boer raids and virtually ended the war in South Africa. This added to his popularity and prestige at home, and he was rewarded by the title of Viscount, promotion to the rank of general for distinguished services, the thanks of the parliament and a grant of $250,000.

General Kitchenor's face was that of a man who neither asked for sympathy nor wanted it. He had steady, blue-gray passionless eyes, and a heavy moustache covered a mouth that shut close and firm like a wolf trap. He believed with all his might in the gospel of work. He had illimitable self-confidence. For bungling and faint-heartedness he was incapable of feeling sympathy or showing mercy; an officer who failed him once got no second chance. He had a grin, laconic humor. "What is your taste in hairpins?" for instance, is said to have been the query with which he annihilated a dandified officer. He was indifferent to popularity, particularly among women, and though feted all over the world in social circles, he never married. In 1910 he paid a brief visit to the United States during a trip around the world. At that time it came out in the New York papers that the great Kitchenor was a "woman hater." He took occasion to deny this and said the only reason he had never married was because he believed a man could not be a good soldier and a good husband at the same time.

SANTA ROSA MINE

strength of this showing Peters and Sellstrom have taken another lease, on a block of ground which they think will repay them amply for their labor and investment.

The management now has under advisement an application for a lease on three hundred feet of ground extending over a period of two years and which the lessees agree to sink 200 feet without doing any stopping, receiving in return whatever ore they may extract after the shaft has been completed, on the regular royalty basis, which is 15 per cent of the smelter returns on ores running $25 and under; 20 per cent on ores running $25 to $50; and 25 per cent on all ore yielding over $50.

The Santa Rosa is a lead-silver proposition in a limestone formation usually found to carry high values in lead. Many of the veins run north and south, while others have a strike due east and west. The deepest workings are 400 feet but the present values are found close to the surface as in one case commercial ore was taken out at depth of 20 feet; another case at 20 feet; and a third case at 75 feet below the surface. The mine is situated eight miles due south of the Cerro Gordo, or 27 miles south from Keeler. The wagon haul to Keeler is $7 per ton, while the railroad has given a $5 minimum on the lowest grade ore for delivery to the United States Smelting and Refining company in Utah.

At the present cost of lead and silver the company believes the property can be developed more economically and profitably by lessees as they firmly believe that at depths the enrichment will be sufficient to pay for operating on a large scale. The Santa Rosa is owned by H. C. Brougher, the West End company, E. J. Erickson, David Holland, W. J. Douglas and Jack Gunn.

HOWARD COULTER FIRST IN THE PRIZE STORY

FIVE DOLLAR GOLD PIECE OFFERED BY MRS. HUGH BROWN AWARDED TODAY

Howard Coulter of the high school, was awarded the first and only prize in the story contest started by Mrs. Hugh Brown who offered a prize of five dollars in gold for the boy or girl who wrote the best original story. The title of the winning story was "The Green Eyed Monster." Second in rank was Miss Louise Dilworth. The judges were Mrs. John C. Martin, Mrs. Roy Davenport and Miss Maris. Six stories were submitted and the choice was unanimous each judge marking her selection without knowledge of the other.

The Jumping Frog Story.

It was in the Anzel Camp bar that Mark Twain heard from an ex-pilot called Ben Coon the jumping frog story. Clemens related it to Artemus Ward, who urged him to write it, to be included in a book that Ward was publishing. Clemens dabbled and sent it to the publishers too late, but they handed it over to a dying paper called the Saturday Press, which gladly gave it pride of place in its columns on Nov. 18, 1865. Professor Sldgwick synopsized it in Greek form for his book "Greek Prose Composition," and thus arose the legend that the jumping frog story originated in ancient Greece, a legend in which Clemens himself believed till Professor Sldgwick undeceived him in 1899 by telling him that the Greek version was merely a translation of Clemens' own work.

HISTORIC BELMONT MEMORIES REVIVED

REINTERMENT AT TONOPAH OF BODY OF MRS. INEZ CURLER BOWLER

The remains of the late Mrs. Inez Curler Bowler, who died in Hawthorne in 1887 were brought to this city this morning and re-interred beside the body of her husband, the late P. M. Bowler. The body was accompanied by Frank Cavanaugh, the undertaker, who had gone expressly to the old county seat of Esmeralda county for the purpose of exhuming the body of one who was as widely known in the entire stretch of southern Nevada as one of the brightest and most lovable ladies of the early days. Mr. Cavanaugh said that, when the object of his mission was learned, he received the earnest and sympathetic attention of the old timers who still linger in Hawthorne. Many of these citizens of both sexes were eager to recall some charming trait of the deceased, who had endeared herself to them by numerous courtesies when trouble or grief entered their family circles.

The box covering the casket was found to be well preserved not showing in the least the ravages of time or indicating the fact that 29 years had elapsed since the body was committed to the ground. The removal of the body was an act of filial devotion by Miss Emma Inez Bowler, who desired to have her father and mother reposing in the same sacred ground.

Mrs. Inez Curler Bowler was a daughter of Judge and Mrs. Benjamin Curler now of Reno, who was reared to womanhood in the historic precincts of Belmont where she became the wife of the late P. M. Bowler. Today many of the old classmates of the late Mrs. Bowler still reside in Nye county. She was the sister of Judge B. F. Curler of Elko and Mrs. S. H. Rosenthal, of Reno.

AMUSEMENTS

BUTLER THEATER

The bill for the entire week at the Butler is one of the strongest that has ever been shown in this popular place of amusement, and all who enjoy high class picture programs can hardly afford to miss a single night. The program tonight will consist of a single reel Burton Holmes travel picture of the Orient, containing an average of 3,000 prisoners. Everything in connection with this institution will be thoroughly explained and depicted on the screen. The feature will be Geraldine Farrar in "Carmen," and said by the big majority of critics to surpass the Fox production in which Theda Bara was featured, and which was shown here some raw weeks ago. Geraldine Farrar, the most famous of all women artists of today, makes her photo-dramatic debut in this production which is a lanky product. Recognized as one of the greatest actresses of her generation, Miss Farrar's "Carmen" as revealed last winter in the Metropolitan Opera House, New York City, established the prima donna still higher in the esteem of opera lovers. Her characterization was an absolute revelation of power, skill and subtle delineation. Miss Farrar's "Carmen" is now imperishable on the screen. Cecil B. de Mille, who made this production has absolutely surpassed himself as a producer. Thrilling action, magnificent landscapes, beautiful portraits and well constructed drama mark this extraordinary production. Nothing finer in motion pictures has ever been seen.

Tomorrow, an animal comedy, and Clara Kimball Young, the beautiful screen star, in "Camille," which is her masterpiece. Friday, the Hawaiian Road Show, with singing, dancing and instrumental music.

FIGHT FANS MOTOR OVER TO GOLDFIELD

Fifteen full cars of fight fans motored over to Goldfield last night to witness one of the finest fights that has ever been pulled off in that part of the country. Antone Lagrave obtained the decision over Bob Graham in a ten round bout securing 65 per cent of the proceeds. Young Bromio of San Francisco fought a draw with Kid Mitchell in the first preliminary. Frank Barney and Speck Duffy mixed it lively for a few minutes, the result being that the former took the count in the first round. In the last event in the preliminaries, Dick Trowace, of Grass Valley was given the decision over Bert Williams of Tonopah.
