MAD COYOTE KILLED BY GIRL AFTER ATTACK. While at play in the yard of his parents' home at Lamolle yesterday, a 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Stewart was suddenly attacked by a coyote, which had entered the premises unobserved, says the Elko Independent. The mad creature seized the boy by the calf of the leg. The unfortunate child fought the animal and screamed for help. He finally broke the animal's hold and the latter started away at a racing pace. Hearing the boy's cries, a young lady of the household seized a rifle and sent six shots after the fleeing coyote, the sixth shot killing it.

Mr. Stewart and her son started to Reno last night on No. 5 and he will receive expert treatment at the university clinic.
