STUDY CAREFULLY THE TWO AMENDMENTS

THE voters of Nevada on next Tuesday will find on their ballots two amendments to the state constitution to be voted on. It is an historical fact that less than sixty per cent of the ballots, whereon voters place crosses after all their favorite candidates, show a marking for proposed amendments.

The first amendment to be considered on the ballot was adopted by the legislature of 1913 as assembly joint and concurrent resolution No. 17, relative to amending section three of article eleven. It was further adopted by the session of 1915. It refers to the use of certain revenues for educational purposes, the money derived chiefly through the sale of public lands.

In the opinion of the Bonanza this is a good amendment and should be voted for. Hitherto the school fund of Nevada has nearly all been invested outside the state at a much lower rate of interest than the counties have been compelled to pay for outside money when bonding themselves.

The second amendment is not so clearly of advantage. It provides for changing the limit of state debt from $300,000 to one per cent of the assessed valuation of property in the state.

All property in the state is now valued at about $170,000,000. This would permit Nevada to go into debt to the amount of $1,700,000, instead of the present limit of $300,000. If bonds were to be issued and the money used in building roads and other public improvements of a lasting and beneficial nature, the amendment would be a good one, but there is nothing in the act to show that this was the intent of the legislature.

It would also be of advantage if the indebtedness were to be incurred by borrowing from the state school fund, which now amounts to such a vast sum and which is drawing a low rate of interest. Automobile men and others in Reno who are interested in good roads, seem to feel that the money secured by increasing the indebtedness of the state will be spent on highways, owing to the fact that they are inserting half page advertisements, urging the passage of the amendment, in the Reno papers.

LET NYE COUNTY TAXPAYERS NOT FORGET

It is not a matter of Judge Moran's election but of his majority that should interest the people at present. Any taxpayer in Nye county who votes for his Democratic opponent voices approval of his conduct of the office of district attorney of Nye county. This office is costing $1000 a year more than it did before the salary was reduced from $5000 per annum to $3000 a month, to which was added an expense account through the act of the legislature providing for his traveling expenses.

The taxpayers one and all should and will remember that J. A. Sanders spent thousands of dollars of their money to persecute W. W. Booth because the Bonanza tried to save money for the people by putting a stop to the extravagances of the court house crew. The editor of this paper was convicted, the jury finding him guilty of a misdemeanor, which would have been punished by a fine, but that was not the intent of the machine and the judge that sat in the case. The latter refused to consider the verdict and insisted on another verdict, which meant a jail sentence. It will be remembered that all but three of the jurymen, and they were not in town and could not be reached at the time, immediately stated to the judge that they would not have rendered a verdict if they had known any such sentence was to be inflicted.

This is the type of justice that was meted out at the instigation of the Democratic candidate for supreme justice to the man who tried to save the people their hard earned money and who will continue on the job when there are many strange faces in the courthouse and when it will be Justice T. F. (Barney) Moran who will be wearing the ermine.

STRANGE PROCEEDINGS BY FEDERAL AUTHORITIES

It may have been within the legal rights of M. R. Chamblin, deputy internal revenue collector, serving under Collector J. J. Scott of San Francisco, to enter the office of the Nevada State Journal and demand and receive galley proofs of its subscription list. If it is, Mr. Scott has been asked to prove it so.

George D. Kilborn, editor of the Journal, values his subscription list at $50,000. The writer remembers when he was working on a Goldfield newspaper and George Graham Rice offered him $4000 for a proof of the mailing galley of a newspaper published there, raising the offer a thousand dollars at a time from the first proffer of $1000. The owner of the newspaper was asked if the paper would accept the $4000 and he replied: "No, nor $10,000." The mailing galley was then kept in a vault and were among the most valued and treasured assets of the corporation owning the newspaper.

Yet comes Mr. Chamblin on October 23 of this year and demands galley proofs of the Nevada State Journal, and he got them, because of his official representation. According to the Journal that arrived yesterday the galley proofs have not been returned, although demands have been made, nor have the office's cash book and check book, both of which were also commandeered.

The Journal states that these documents, valued as publicity, at $50,000, were copied and the names used to circulate Democratic campaign literature, and that the owner of the paper was wronged and that redress will be demanded from the federal authorities.

Mr. Kilborn states in a letter addressed to Mr. Scott that his report for the year 1915 had been already made to the government, as to circulation and gross and net earnings, and that the galley list on October 23 could not serve in checking, as there has been about 2000 changes in the way of elisions and additions made since the time the report was rendered. The Bonanza, in view of the fact that Mr. Scott has not yet publicly justified the act of his subordinate, cannot but agree with Mr. Kilborn that a high-handed outrage has been perpetrated. At least a dangerous precedent has been established.

FICTION AND FACTS

THE Elko land office, directed by appointees of Senator Pittman, who cannot be accused of partiality for the Republican candidates, has issued a statement directly denying reports circulated by Senator Pittman. In his eagerness to return to the U. S. senate, Mr. Pittman ignores all land office records by saying settlers fight shy of Nevada, that they will not take up homesteads because they cannot establish homes. He made the assertion in the senate without fear of contradiction because the senators from other states deferred to him as representing his state, of which he was supposed to have intimate knowledge.

In the senate Pittman said in speaking of Nevada land: "The government has not devised any means by which that property can go into private ownership. The government has not devised any means that will induce individuals to acquire that land. I wish senators to understand that it is not the character of land that some of you are familiar with. A man cannot homestead land where there is no water. As a matter of fact it cannot be entered as desert land, because the records disclose the fact there have been only about 300 desert land entries taken up in that state since 1872. To be exact in the matter, there were 384 desert land entries allowed since 1872 in the state of Nevada, where we have 70,000,000 acres of land. * * * The existing law will not induce the private ownership of land."

So says Pittman. Read the truth and weigh both statements. The Elko land office reports that since January 1, 1914, to October 31, 1915, 1512 entries were filed.

Total number of patents issued to date, 496; total number acres entered, 45,360; total number acres patented, 14,980; total number acres in process of patent, 20,000; total number entrymen, 1156; estimated increase population, 4081.

This is doing fairly well for Nevada, where Pittman says: "The existing law will not induce the private ownership of land."

MUST FORESTALL IMPENDING MENACE

WHILE Nevada must and will be swung out of the doubtful column into the Republican ranks next Tuesday, so far as the head of the ticket is concerned, it is of even more vital importance to roll up good majorities for Samuel Platt and E. E. Roberts for senator and representative. This is of the greater importance because Nevada has only three votes in the electoral college, but has two incoming members of the two branches of congress to support Mr. Hughes in the measures he will outline for the safeguarding of the interests of the people, both in restoring national honor and in protecting American labor against competition from pauperized workmen abroad, which would be the case at the conclusion of the war unless the tariff wall is restored and the industries of this country are protected.

WILSON'S TARIFF JOKE

WILSON says the tariff can be changed easily if it is found that the fit is not good enough to clothe workers and others dependent on prosperity of the workshops. This is like the story Abe Lincoln loved to tell when he was asked how he could make any entirely new improvement by means of tonnage duties. The idea, Abe said, involves the same absurdity as the Irish bull about the new boots. "I shall never get them on," says Patrick, "till I wear them a day or two and stretch them a little."

HAS A CLEAR DOCKET

Hon. Mark R. Averill, judge of the fifth judicial district court, deposes and says that no cause, motion or matter submitted to him as such district judge in and for Nye county remains undecided; that during the month of October 31 matters were heard by him, of which number eight were in Tonopah and 23 in Reno.
