CRISIS IN THE BRITISH CABINET RETIRES ANDREW BONAR LAW

(By Associated Press.) Important changes have taken place in the British cabinet. Andrew Bonar Law, chancellor of the exchequer has retired from the war cabinet and is replaced on that important board by Sir Edward Carson.

his "Colossal blunders and over-reaching conceit." Sir Edward Carson relinquished his post as first lord of the admiralty and joined the war cabinet without portfolio. Sir Edward will be succeeded by Sir William Campbell Geddes who has been director-general of munitions supply.

Winston Spencer Churchill succeeds Dr. Christopher Addison as minister of munitions. Dr. Addison becoming a minister without portfolio in charge of reconstruction.

Baron Montague of Beaulieu is made secretary for India. One of the most acceptable appointments, as far as the general public is concerned, is that of Mr. Montague. He is one of the very few members of the Asquith administration, in which he was minister of munitions to join the Lloyd George ministry.

Mr. Montague has had considerable experience in the affairs of India, having once held the post of under-secretary for India. Lately he has been in charge of a large committee exploring the ground for reconstruction after the war and before the recent designation of J. Austen Chamberlain as secretary for India, was announced, it was generally supposed that Mr. Montague eventually would become minister of reconstruction.

The necessity for finding a new secretary for India, however caused a modification in the plans, and Dr. Addison, who had been slated for the projected ministry of health, now becomes head of this reconstructive committee which has been created into a kind of ministerial department.

SENATE BLOCKS AVIATION BILL

(By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, July 18.—Plans of the leaders of both parties in congress for quick action on the administration's aviation bill, providing a great program for striking at Germany through the air, promises to be blocked by a small group of Senators including La Follette and Gronna, who are planning to reopen the question of conscription.

The bill was passed by the house last Saturday without a roll call, and was reported favorably by the senate military committee without amendment and by unanimous vote. Democratic and republican leaders joined in the plan for final congressional action and until senator La Follette and his associates indicated their intentions there was every hope that the measure would be in the hands of the president before tonight.

It is understood that those who will object to passage will direct their attack against the provision which empowers the president to draft men into the aviation service. The leaders expect that a result the whole question of conscription will be reopened greatly delaying the bill.

Leaders also plan to advise the country through the opposition developing as to what senators are delaying action.

MAKING ALIENS SUBJECT TO THE NEW CONSCRIPTION LAW

(By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, July 18.—All but seven of the states had reported completion of their local exemption machinery last night, encouraging officials in their hope that drawing of lots to determine the order of liability under the selective conscription law may be held before the end of the week.

While these preparations are going forward, sentiment apparently is growing in congress in favor of amending the conscription act so as to make aliens liable for service or otherwise to relieve the requirements placed under the present allotment upon communities with large foreign population. Bills to this end have been prepared in both senate and house but the administration has not indicated that it will favor any change. Many officials hold the opinion on the other hand that to compel aliens to serve would be a violation of international law.

As far as can be told now, every registrant will have to be informed not only of the serial number placed on his card by the local exemption board, but also of the exact number of registrants in his district. Otherwise he will be unable to know until he is ordered before the board what his order of liability is.

Given his own number and the total number of registrants in his district, and registrant can figure out quickly what place he occupies in the line as soon as the results of the lottery are announced. If there are 1500 registered men, every serial number above that will represent a blank in that district when it is drawn, and the rotation numbers of the drawing will pass them over. Thus, if No. 1,428 should be drawn first, No. 1569 second and No. 1,247 third, the order of liability in a 1500 district would be No. 1,428 would be first and No. 1,247 second.

Two plans have been suggested for changing the law so to change this inequality reapportionment, of quotas with the alien registrants left out of consideration or amendment of the draft act so that aliens will not be exempt. Both suggestions have made supporters in congress and it is not unlikely that one of them will be given administration approval.

Montague representative Dent, chairman of the house military committee, submitted to Secretary Baker a bill introduced by representative Rodgers of Massachusetts, proposing that the draft quotas be apportioned according to the population of military eligibles, instead of according to total population.
