GEORGE WINGFIELD INSPECTS THE TONOPAH DIVIDE COMPANY'S MINE

The Tonopah Divide mine, situated at Gold Mountain, six miles south of this city, was inspected this afternoon by H. Cal Brougher, the principal owner of the property, who was accompanied by George Wingfield, who had with him two of his engineers, H. V. Witte and I. A. D'Arcy.

It might be well to refresh the minds of the Bonanza readers as to the status of the Divide property. This is a group of claims that were located in the early days of Tonopah. A number of profitable shipments were made on company account from superficial workings, and during the past two years Messrs. Grimes and Hanson did well with their lease on the estate.

the formation, which dips out of the hill. H. Cal Brougher had George Wingfield, Jim Butler and others associated with him in the control. It was his desire to further prospect the property and to this end he made an offer to buy or sell. Mr. Wingfield sold, thus giving Mr. Brougher control.

He placed Wm. Waters in charge as superintendent and the latter recently encountered a blind ledge, or one that shows inconsequential values on the surface. This vein is wide and rich. The ore is not completely tractable by local process, so no attempt is made to extract, although a 100-ton bin has been constructed as a matter of preparation.

Mr. Waters is now sinking another lift, from which a crosscut will be run to the vein, after which the matter of treatment will be considered. In reply to a very leading question, Mr. Brougher said to the Bonanza interviewer in the Mizpah grill: "Well, if George makes me a proposition that is inviting I will give him his stock back just as I returned Mr. Taylor his deed to the adjoining property."

Mr. Wingfield slipped his small black and said nothing.

AMUSEMENTS

JUNE CAPRICE AND "THE FIGHTING TRAIL"

The "Sunshine Maid," June Caprice, is with us again. In a strong William Fox photoplay, called "Miss U. S. A.," she will appear at the Butler tonight.

The "Sunshine Maid" will not be all sunshine and smiles in this new screen drama. She has determined, active work to do to serve her country in a drama that takes place in Virginia soon after the United States declared war on Germany.

She hunts out spies and is twice face to face with death while doing this work. Her name is Capitola. Her father died before her birth and her mother soon after. Her father was Eugene Lenoir, wealthy, and one of the most prominent families of Virginia. Her mother, too, was of a well-known family. At their deaths Gabriel Lenoir, brother of Eugene, forces the nurse, Nance Wilson, to swear she will take the newly-born baby away and kill it. He does this to get his brother's fortune. The nurse, however, gives the infant into the hands of a family living in a tenement in New York City.

When the story opens the nurse has just returned to Virginia and has confessed to Major Warfield, Capitola's uncle. He brings Capitola, now 15 years old, back as his ward, Miss Black. Then comes the war, and camps and spies. It turns out that Gabriel Lenoir is the arch spy. He is arrested and denounced, and the fortune returns to Capitola. But this is not all of the program today.

See William Duncan and Carol Holloway, in "The Fighting Trail," Vitagraph's marvelous melodramatic serial of the great outdoors. Thrill after thrill, and punch after punch hold your attention every minute that this enthralling spectacle is on the screen.

No nature-faking—every thrill and stunt is genuine. William Duncan and Carol Holloway risk their lives every now and then, just to keep the interest up!

Tomorrow, Bessie Love, the popular little star of "The Sawdust Ring," in "The Little Reformer," and Fatty Arbuckle, in his latest screen hit, "Patty at Coney Island."

TRIAL OF I. W. W. TO BE PROLONGED

LEGAL TECHNICALITIES WILL PREVENT TRIAL UNTIL NEXT MARCH.

(By Associated Press.) CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—George F. Vanderveer, attorney for the 106 alleged members of the I. W. W., appeared in Judge Landis' court yesterday when the cases of the alleged conspirators were called and withdrew their pleas of not guilty. In place of those pleas, he substituted motions for bills of particulars in the cases of sixty-seven of the men, bills of demurrer for eighty-three and pleas in abatement for twenty-three of the indicted men. None of the men on trial allowed his original plea to stand and two motions were filed on one man in several instances. This action prolongs the trial and it is believed that prosecution by the government will not begin until the March term of court.

The motion for a bill of particulars, if allowed, will force the district attorney to prepare a list of specific charges against every defendant in whose behalf the motion was filed. The motion for demurrer will force the government to submit the indictments to a searching test in the hope that a flaw will be found to show their illegality. In the plea for abatement the defense will try to establish that the indictments named those charged as members of the I. W. W. which the attorney contends is not a fact.

FURTHER INQUIRY INTO CONTRACTS

CLOTHING MAN TELLS OF DISPOSITION OF ARMY CLOTHING CONTRACTS.

(By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—In further investigation of clothing and other army supply contracts negotiated by the civilian supplies committee of the council of national defense, the senate military committee yesterday received from Charles Eisenman, vice-chairman of the contracting committee, a statement of merchandise bought from firms where members or employees are or were connected with the committee.

Of supplies worth about $800,000,000 bought during the last eight months, Mr. Eisenman's statement discloses that $128,830,000 worth came from such concerns, but that all except $14,830,000 worth was contracted for before the contractors' representatives became connected with the committee.

Before presenting the statement, asked for by Senator McKellar Wednesday, Eisenman, in concluding his testimony, staunchly defended the committee's work, upheld the policy of secrecy in advance of letting contracts and again insisted that the men given the much discussed scrap sorting contract would have been limited to a nominal profit.

SERBIA IS CONFIDENT OF COMPLETE VICTORY

(By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Confidence in the ability of the allies to secure a complete victory over the central powers was expressed by the minister of foreign affairs of Serbia, in his New Year's greeting to the state department. The message, just made public, says:

"I hasten to take the occasion of the new year to tender to your excellency in the name of the royal government of Serbia and in my own name, our best wishes in the firm conviction that it will bring us final victory over the common foe. I doubt not that it will open a new era which will insure the reign of justice, equality and liberty to all peoples, great and small, as a lasting and prosperous peace in which mankind will find guarantees for a new future of free development of all its intellectual and economic forces."
