

JEWISH BOARD FOR WELFARE WORK HELPS MAKE CAMP LIFE PLEASANT

(By Associated Press)
CAMP LEWIS, Tacoma, Wash., March 16.—Bringing home-like surroundings to the boys in the national army who are away from home, surrounding them with a pleasant social atmosphere and seeing to it that the religious side of life is not lost through lack of a place to worship in their faith, is the reason for the presence at Camp Lewis of Elmon L. Wiener, board representative of the Jewish Board of Welfare Work.

Mr. Wiener formerly was a lawyer in Seattle, but he gave up his practice to be of service to the Jewish boys at camp; of whom there are now about 400.

Religious services are held every Friday night and Bible study classes are conducted with other classes for the study of Jewish history and traditions. There also are classes in various other subjects in which the soldiers are interested. A prayer book, bound in khaki, and a compromise between the prayer books of the orthodox and reformed branches of the faith are provided for the men.

Another phase of the work, and one which probably takes the more time, is the social side of camp life. There are many hundreds of Jewish homes in Tacoma, Seattle and other places which welcome the boys from camp into them for the week end. Mr. Wiener makes arrangement for entertainments at the Hostess House of the Y. W. C. A. or at the Y. M. C. A. and Knights of Columbus buildings, at which the soldiers become acquainted with the civilians who wish to have them for guests. In this way the soldier feels free to call when he is in town than he would be if the host or hostess were a stranger. "There aren't enough soldiers to go around," Mr. Wiener stated, "so great is the demand for a chance to entertain the boys in olive drab."

Through the influence of Mr. Wiener a club for soldiers and sailors has been established at Tacoma by the B'Nai B'rith where the men may be entertained while they are in town on leave.

The field representative also acts as a go-between for soldiers and relatives, looks after their interests, visits them when they are sick and helps them when they are in need of advice.

Summed up by Mr. Wiener, the objects of the camp work are these: "We do whatever can be done in behalf of those in the service without encroaching on the discipline and morale of the soldiers. Our object is to enhance the esprit de corps and through our representative bring about an amelioration of conditions where such an amelioration seems necessary and a better understanding where a misunderstanding exists, among men of all faiths in the service."

The spirit of the Jewish soldiers is shown in the case of the 50 Austrians of Jewish faith who were entitled to discharge from the army as enemy aliens. Only one asked and obtained his discharge and he has sought persistently to get back into the service.

The welfare board is backed by the general conference of American Rabbis, the Council of Jewish Women, the Council of the Young Men's Hebrew and Kindred associations, Independent Order of B'Nai B'rith, the Jewish Publication society of America, the United Synagogues of America and other lesser organizations.

Expenses of the work are met from these organizations. The Camp Lewis office is in Building No. 1 of the Y. M. C. A.

NOTES ON SPORTING EVENTS

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, March 16.—Inter-collegiate and inter-varsity athletic competition among the eastern colleges and universities is to be resumed this season upon a scale closely approaching that of normal times, according to the announcement of the various institutions. From a list comprising more than sixty of the leading institutions of the section, prepared by the Associated Press, but two were found to have abandoned all sport for the next few months. While the schedules are not in general as lengthy as in past years there will be far more competition than was the case in 1917 and a number of sports "dropped" last spring will be revived.

This is particularly true of rowing and track athletics. The inter-collegiate track and field championship meet will be restored and although the Poughkeepsie and New London four-mile championship regattas will not be resumed there will be an unusual number of dual and triangular regattas in addition to the National Patriotic Regatta at Annapolis May 18, at which it is expected every college of the east which supports rowing will be represented by one or more crews.

Baseball and football also show sharp gains. Many of the extreme features of past baseball schedules such as extended southern trips and lists of games running close to thirty for the season have been eliminated but more colleges will be represented upon the diamond particularly among the larger institutions. Football, which was quite extensively played last fall has gained more recruits and if Harvard, Yale and Princeton decide to revive their schedules, even in curtailed form, the season of 1918 will not fall much below those of normal years.

Football continues to be the leading sport of the collegians but baseball is a close second, with track third and tennis fourth. Golf, lacrosse and soccer is found upon some lists, which in the case of a few institutions, includes as many as six different branches of sport in which there will be intercollegiate competition. Rowing holds the place of honor for every university which have supported eights in recent years will boat crews this spring and engage in one or more races which, however, will not exceed two miles in length.

AVIATION RECRUITS ARRIVING AT KELLY FIELD A THOUSAND A DAY

(By Associated Press.)
SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 16.—Aviation recruits have been arriving at the Camp Kelly aviation field lately at the rate of 1,000 a day to fill the places of men who have already qualified for the flying and mechanical needs of the aviation service and been advanced further toward the front. As fast as the men arrive they are organized into squadrons and their preparation for overseas service is rushed rapidly.

The recruits come from widely separated places, but most of them are from Columbus barracks, Columbus, Ohio; Jefferson barracks, St. Louis, Mo.; Fort Slocum, New York; Jackson barracks, New Orleans; and Fort Logan, near Denver, Colorado.

Men of all trades are received at this camp and fitting the right man in the right place is one of the big problems officials have to face. In this section of the signal corps, men of many trades are used in training activities and in keeping the flying machines in tip-top condition. Among them are the following:

buglers, boat builders, cabinet makers, canvas workers, carpenters, chauffeurs, clerks, cooks, copper-smiths, cordage workers, draftsmen, drill sergeants, electricians, engine repairmen, first sergeants, instrument repair men, lithographers, mechanics for airplanes, mess sergeants, metal workers, magnet repair men, motorcycle riders, motor truck repair men, moulders, packers, stockmen, painters, pattern makers, photographers, plumbers, propeller makers, propeller testers, radio operators, tent riggers, saddlers, sailmakers, sergeant majors, stenographers, supply sergeants, tool makers, truck masters, vulcanizers, welders and skilled and unskilled laborers.

One man who arrived here recently gave his trade as a "butter cutter" and said he was one of the best "butter cutters that ever cut butter."

Another gave his trade as a "hamboner." He said he was not much on a trombone, but he "could make 'em sit up and take notice with a hambone." A "hamboner" it proved was a graduate at packing houses who was expert in the use of a cleaver.

Another recruit said his business was that of a coconut cracker. His business had been to drive a sharp instrument into the eye of a coconut and pour out the milk, after which he would crack the nut and remove the meat. Still another gave his occupation as a "whistle blower." He came from the lumber district of the northwest where he gave the signals for releasing logs in the stream.

Camp Kelly is facing a shortage of tent material and as a result many men are not being sent direct to the camp upon their arrival but are housed here until room is made for them. To take care of all recruits, it would be necessary to house five men in a tent. The surgeon general would not permit more than five men to be assigned to one tent.

Aviation instruction is probably the most important instruction given to recruits in any branch of service training in Texas. Now mechanics arrive at the various camps almost weekly. It is said a good supply of Liberty motors is being sent to Texas.

PEACE TALK BAD FOR MORALE OF NATION

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, England, March 16.—Lloyd-George in an address to the Free church men said that the consumption of intoxicating liquors in England, owing to reductions the government had instituted, is now one-third of what it was four years ago. He said that no spirits are being manufactured. He reiterated that the government would not hesitate a moment if it came to choosing between bread and beer. "Show me any way by which we can make peace without betraying the great, sacred trust for which we entered the war," the premier said, "I will listen gladly and gratefully thank God for the light given me showing that mere peace talk is undermining the fibre and morale of the nation."
