WHAT'S WHAT

(By L. L. Mushett)

THE FOLLOWING ARE IMPORTANT CURRENT WAR ORDERS:

Proclamation by the Governor: I call public attention to this matter at the request of the United States fuel administration, coming to me through the state fuel administrator, to the end that coal consumers in Nevada may place their orders through the customary local channels for their fuel needs in ample season, thus avoiding the public and private inconvenience and distress which will be caused by delay.

Farm Labor Employment Bureau The council of defense is now prepared to register and endeavor to secure employment in the lines of productive labor for all who wish to voluntarily aid the government in this most important work.

War Saving Stamp Campaign The treasury department has issued instructions to the effect that the month of June will be devoted to a war savings stamp campaign and it will be necessary for Nye county to raise a sum nearly equal to that of the third Liberty loan drive. The committees of the council of defense will be come active in this work as soon as detailed instructions are received.

Class in Radio Telegraphy Steps have already been taken and all plans completed for teaching a class of radio telegraph operators to be enrolled from classes 1 and 2 of draftees. The class room will be in the offices of the council of defense in the State Bank building. Detailed information will be furnished by L. L. Mushett, A. G. Raycraft or E. P. Cullinan, who constitute the committee.

Home Guard Enrollment Adjutant General Sullivan states that the maintenance and training of home guard units wherever possible through the state is essential at this time and that the government will lend all necessary aid in fostering this important war enterprise. It is desired to increase the number of men in the Tonopah company and application can be made at this time to Captain Chris Dowler.

NOTICE, MERCHANTS' ASS'N. All members are requested to be present at meeting Monday evening, June 3, 8 p. m., sharp, at Council of Defense rooms. A. H. KEENAN, Secretary.

JUNIOR RED CROSS MAKES FINE SHOWING OF WAR ACTIVITIES

All those who saw the war work exhibition of the Junior Red Cross yesterday were more than astonished and not a little proud of the young workers who have done so much for their country during the last year. Those who did not see it missed a very inspiring experience. The quality of the work has been in all cases exceptionally high—at least as good if not better than most mature persons would have done it.

Through it all, the regular curriculum has been rigidly adhered to and the children have learned exactly the same things in the same grades as they did before the war. With a certain advantage, however. The teachers say that previous to this time perfection in work of the children could never be obtained since they were making things for themselves and they felt that if things were "good enough" or "would do," that was all that was necessary. Now they are working for Uncle Sam and nothing must pass that is not absolutely and exactly right. As an example of how this works out, Professor Dilworth asked one earnest little lady who was struggling with a hospital shirt, if she was learning how to sew. "I don't know," she answered, "but I am learning how to rip."

Hanging about the exhibition room walls were six dozen flannellette petticoats, twenty dresses, twenty pinafores, twenty chemises, twelve complete layettes, innumerable wash rags (knitted), eye bandages, and many other things. Vincent McGinn, 11 years old and in the sixth grade, knitted the first sweater from the wool bought by the Junior Red Cross two weeks ago. It is a first rate sweater, too, and one that anyone might be proud of having done.

The 72 hospital shirts must not be forgotten nor the 500 comfort pillows. These pillows are stuffed with the scraps of material from the Red Cross work rooms, snipped into tiny pieces by the little hands of the first, second and third grades. A thousand pounds of it. Think of that! Eighty-four comfort kits made of khaki, each with its little flag knitted on, lay on one table. These were made by the girls of the seventh and eighth grades and the $100 to fit them out was donated by the Elks.

From the manual training department 500 canes have been shipped and by the time school closes 2000

QUICK SERVICE TO LOS ANGELES

Under the new time table effective today the Tonopah & Tidewater presents its patrons with a service between here and Southern California that has never been excelled. Passengers leaving here on the regular south-bound Tonopah & Goldfield train will connect with the train at Goldfield leaving there at 10:30 a. m. and arriving in Los Angeles next morning at 8:30. This rapid transit is due to the fact that the Tidewater makes direct connection with the Arizona Flyer at Ludlow, known as No. 17. This is one of the fastest trains on the Santa Fe system.

DOCKET CLEARED OF NYE COUNTY CASES

Judge Averill's affidavit concerning matters under submission for May, 1918, states that no case, motion or other matter submitted to him as district judge in and for Nye county remains undecided; that two matters heard in Elko county remain undecided, a motion for a new trial in the case of Oliver vs. Kellogg and a charge of contempt of court in the case of Nevada vs. Jones, et al., both submitted May 21, 1918; that during the month of May 18 matters were heard by him, two in Elko and the others in Tonopah.

COURT NEWS In the case of Anna M. Brown v. William T. Brown, the district court this week entered a decree of divorce in favor of the plaintiff, awarding the custody of the two minor children to the plaintiff, with a provision that they spend part of their time with the defendant. The decree was granted upon the ground of desertion.

ANNOUNCEMENT I desire to take this means of announcing my candidacy for the democratic nomination for the office of sheriff and assessor of Nye county at the primary election to be held next fall. If elected, I promise to discharge the duties of the office to the best of my ability and to the credit of the county. (Signed) JOHN BARRIER.

will have gone to help wounded and convalescent soldiers. This case, which was designed in the Tonopah school, has now been accepted as standard by the American Red Cross, which is a good deal of honor for a mining camp school and the class is trying hard not to show undue pride, though it is probably hard work.

This same class has designed some hospital and Y. M. C. A. furniture and games of a very high order. The working drawings for these formed one of the most interesting of the many interesting exhibitions. They were made by that talented young draftsman, Tim Ford, and they would have done great credit to a person of far more training than he has had. At the close of the school year these drawings will be sent to the commissioner of education, who will incorporate them into a standard course of study for schools all over the country.

The manual training department has also turned out during the past year 44 shipping boxes for the Red Cross and will have made 50 more by the end of the term. The fact that this enormous amount of most useful work has been done without interfering in any way with the regular school work cannot be over emphasized. But even if the regular course of study had been changed or curtailed to some extent, how vastly more valuable are the lessons the children are learning by this work than in memorizing the dates of the battles of the civil war, for instance. Lessons in sacrifice and service, in training the hand and brain and in character building. The gain to the developing individual cannot be over estimated.

Mrs. Hugh Brown, who is in charge of the Junior Red Cross; Professor Corss and Mrs. Katherine Smith, in charge of the manual training and domestic science departments respectively, and Professor Dilworth, without whose hearty approval and co-operation nothing could have been accomplished, have all given unstintingly of their time, effort and thought to make the Junior Red Cross what it is, an organization in which every one can take the greatest pride. It was all pioneer work. The trail had to be blazed every step of the way. But these undaunted and unwearied men and women have made it into a broad and pleasant highway up which hundreds of young feet may trudge happily to full citizenship and partnership in the greatest democracy in the world.

AMUSEMENTS

AMUSEMENTS "Weaver of Dreams," the picturization of Myrtle Reed's novel of the same name, which is the feature picture at the Butler tonight, is exceptionally well adapted as a starring vehicle for winsome Viola Dana, who appears as Judith Sylvester. This role is a simple and lovable country girl. "Weaver of Dreams" is a story of the heart and Miss Dana excels in her characterization. The action takes place in a rural community filled with quaint types of humanity, where, amid simple surroundings, a drama of the human heart is played and reaches its dynamic denouement. Admirers of the stories of Myrtle Reed will rejoice in having an opportunity to see the characters they have learned to love brought to life on the screen at the Butler. Book-lovers who have read "Lavender and Old Lace" and other of the Reed novels, are legion, and the characters are beloved by all readers. "The House of Hearts," "The House of Content," the abode of the beautiful old character, the musician, who gives the story its name, the carrier pigeons that has a distinct part to play in the plot, and other fascinating details which have given Myrtle Reed novels their charm of sincerity are reproduced in this production. And with this feature will be seen a two-reel Mack Sennet comedy "It Pays to Exercise." Beautiful fun and wholesome entertainment are the elements which make this comedy a distinctive creation. Tomorrow, June Elvidge in "The Strong Way." Also "Vengeance and The Woman."
