

WEEKLY SHIPMENTS FROM TONOPAH MINES

Following is a comparative statement of tonnage from the mines of Tonopah for this week and three preceding weeks:

Table with columns for dates (Aug. 10, Aug. 17, Aug. 24, Sept. 1) and rows for various mines (Belmont, Tonopah Mining, etc.) and a total value.

NEVADA ENGINEER DISCOVERS PROCESS FOR HARDENING STEEL

Frank M. Leland, formerly of Austin and Tonopah and who is one of the best known mechanical engineers of southern Nevada, is making a record at the shipyards where he is credited with an important discovery in tempering steel that adds immeasurably to the efficiency of the shipyards.

Yards on the Pacific coast have been instructed by Edward N. Hurley, chairman of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, United States shipping board, to install at least one of the many discoveries made by the Moore Shipbuilding company, says the Oakland Examiner, which continues:

"The lost art of tempering steel has at last been found," Frank M. Leland, efficiency engineer at the plant, said as he explained what he terms the greatest advancement in handling steel utilized because of the war. "Every tool in the yard has as perfect a temper as the finest Toledo sword blade.

"An ordinary piece of steel can be handled under a process introduced into shipbuilding by Leland and made the equal of the highest grade of tool steel. In a test a needle-pointed chisel was driven through a block of steel an inch and a half thick and came out unimpaired. Chisels that under old methods would break or bend after a day's

RED CROSS LADIES GIVEN A HOLSTER

The Red Cross flag is large and heavy and very hard to carry as a number of women can testify who have been the standard bearer in some of the recent parades and demonstrations. H. H. Atkinson's eyes noticed this not long ago and he immediately had a holster made which he presented to the ladies. Needless to say, every woman who carries it hereafter will be thankful for the kindly thought that prompted Mr. Atkinson to do this.

A case containing 48 pairs of socks and 22 sweaters went out from the work-room this week and a case of 330 children's petticoats goes today. Both departments are working very short-handed. Literally thousands of garments remain to be made before the first of October if Tonopah is to fill her quota.

TWO NEW TEACHERS FOR HIGH SCHOOL

Two new teachers for the high school arrived this morning. They are Miss Pearl Shannon and Miss Elizabeth Jacobson. Miss Shannon will have charge of English and physical training for which she is said to be eminently qualified. She is a graduate of the University of California and held a similar position last year in Honolulu. She comes from San Jose. Miss Jacobson takes charge of the commerce. She taught in Eureka, Nev., high school last year and spent the summer taking the course at Berkeley.

CAPT. CUNNINGHAM ORDERED TO REPORT

Captain John H. Cunningham, M. D., received orders this morning to report for service. The message was rather ambiguous, reading under a Washington date: "Proceed to Palo Alto, California, and report to commanding general of Camp Fremont." Nothing was said about the date of departure and therefore Captain Cunningham wired for information. When he received his commission he was instructed that when his services would be needed, he would be allowed time to close his personal affairs. Dr. Church was given fifteen days and Dr. Masterson ten days, but in the orders today nothing is said about a time allowance.

GIRL SCOUTS INDULGE IN OUTDOORS POETRY

The girl scouts had abig time of it out camping during their recent vacation but there was something happened which they are not saying much about. In both camps the boys and girls had to maintain regular watches during the long cold nights and these vigils brought something more than cold feet to the young sentries as expressed by the following lyric composed during the long hours of the night by a couple of girls who wished they were in their cozy beds at home in Tonopah with plenty of blankets. The author who wishes her name suppressed dedicated the effusion to one of the chaperones and thus the composition found its way into print. The author calls the verses "Not A'Sceared." They are as follows:

NOT A'SCEARED
One beautiful night in August,
On Reese River's bank we sat,
Tending to the fires and everything
Like that.
'Twas our first night's chance as sentinels
And the night was mighty long;
And we can't say that we were
Scared,
Because it would be wrong.
We kept the camp fires burning
With lots of wood and more.
Our hearts could not be yearning
Because they way they snore.
First we'd hear a buzzing noise,
And then a whistle, too,
And as to who was snoring,
We leave the guess to you.
Some ghostly noises 'round we heard,
When we were all alone,
And you can picture we two kids,
So far away from home.
Our feet were freezing in our shoes,
Cold chills ran up our back,
We shook from every limb and bone,
'Cause the night was awful black.
The bugs were tickling our poor toes,
Mosquitoes bit us, too,
We had big blossoms on our nose,
Our eyes were black and blue.
Our faces were as red as fire,
Our hands, as black as pitch,
And taking us in our attire,
Would sure give one the itch.
We hope that you will all enjoy,
The job as we both did,
We hope that you will be as brave,
As we, two tiny kids.
Although we liked it very much
And weren't a bit a'sceared,
The job again we'd never touch
If we were here for years.

Hon. E. E. Roberts Issues a Statement

HON. E. E. ROBERTS Candidate for the Republican Nomination for the U. S. Senate

To the People of Nevada: My attention has recently been called to several scurrilous articles which my opponent has written and caused to be published in his own newspaper as well as in certain "fly by night" newspapers that have no ethical scruples against mud slinging. He has slanderously and maliciously attacked my loyalty as a citizen, and I feel therefore that in justice to my friends, I should make a brief statement refuting some of the more glaring of his accusations. I have never during a somewhat extended career in public life found it necessary to abuse an opponent or sling mud during a campaign and I do not intend to start in at this late date, and if I am not much mistaken, the people of Nevada will emphatically resent such methods at the polls.

While campaigning for the office two years ago I told the people that if elected I would do everything within my power to keep them out of war. They elected me by a large majority, and when the time came, I kept my promise, acting as God gave me to see the right. Years before this awful war was ever dreamed of I cast my votes at all times in favor of increased military and naval appropriations, and I was on the side of preparedness long before preparedness had become a popular issue. Those of you who have followed my public record closely since the declaration of war will find me a consistent supporter of what I believed to be the most effective war measures. My opponent's mis-statements on those points notwithstanding. He juggles not only his own words but mine, cleverly, in order to mask the truth, but I am willing to let the Record speak for itself. Any person in Nevada who claims to be well informed on public questions knows that my vote against labling the Mc-Lemore resolution was made an issue against me during the last campaign, and that every opposition paper in the state contained editorials attacking me for it. I met their charges everywhere I went and the people elected me. My opponent has stated over his own signature that I voted against conscription, and in that statement he has been more than usually careless. I did vote against the so-called Kahn amendment to the bill, and in this connection I might add that Champ Clark and many other leaders of both sides of the house voted as I did, but when the amendment carried I voted for the bill. I objected to conscription and made a speech against it, but when the volunteer system was defeated, I voted for the conscription bill. I trust the opposition will be fair enough to correct their mis-statements. In stating that I voted against certain war revenue measures, in the final analysis he again states what is untrue. There was one revenue measure, and only one, to which he might possibly point to something to substantiate his assertion. That was a revenue measure which contained a number of very vicious provisions in my judgment and my opinion was shared by, none other than the Republican leader of the minority, Congressman Mann. It contained a provision that would place magazines under the zone postal system and thus prevent our people in the remote sections of the country from receiving the educational benefits to be derived from magazines. The Record will disclose that it was commonly rumored that the president would veto the measure if it passed the house. I voted against the mea-

LESS SUBSTITUTES USED FOR BAKING

Thomas Lindsay, food administrator for Nye county, has received copies of instructions from Reno modifying the regulations and made effective tomorrow so that the use of substitutes will be on the basis of four pounds of wheat flour to one pound of substitutes. Instead of the 50-50 which has obtained since the first order was promulgated. The use of Victory flour is also enjoined instead of housewives mixing their own flour. Nye county has a surplus of white flour as recently Mr. Lindsay found 17 tons at Beatty, ten tons of which will be brought to Tonopah.

CHILDREN'S BENEFIT FOR THE RED CROSS

The other evening here in Tonopah six little children who love the brave American soldiers and the Red Cross more than they love to play, gave a musical entertainment at the home of Mrs. M. A. Williams to which they invited their parents and a few friends. A small admission fee was charged and every one who attended enjoyed and appreciated the children's efforts to the fullest extent. A few days later the small entertainers came to Mrs. McQuillan with the proceeds of the evening's pleasure—six dollars in all or a dollar for each little participant in their patriotic effort, and the Red Cross wishes to make this public acknowledgment of the gift. The children taking part were Helen North, Clyde Wilkins, Frances Cunners, Marjorie Mullen Virginia Garde and Barbara Norton.

COUNTY CANDIDATE COMPLETES CANVASS

Frank S. Putney, candidate for the office of county commissioner for short term, arrived last evening after completing an exhaustive canvass of the county. Mr. Putney is well satisfied with the results as he found them and is confident that he will secure the nomination. He has lived twelve years in Nye county during which time he has been engaged in mining, mine operation and in managing one of the largest transfer companies in the southern country. His experience in the assembly during the last session has qualified Mr. Putney for a thorough understanding of the requirements of the citizens of Nye county and he is convinced that he would give his supporters capable service as county commissioner. The candidate is a taxpayer and has reared a family in this county so he believes he has some knowledge of what is wanted. As manager of a freighting company Mr. Putney is familiar with road conditions with an understanding of what should be done to better them.

DIPLOMATIC CORPS LEAVE PETROGRAD

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Ninety-five Americans and Italians of the military mission left Moscow August 26th for Petrograd. There is nothing to confirm the German reports that the last of its entente representatives have left. It is thought probable that British and French officials are still detained. American Consul General Poole remained to give moral support to his British and French colleagues held by the Bolsheviks, it is believed. The Swedish government has reported that passports of Americans and others who left have been used to leave Russia and permission of the Finnish government to pass through Finland must be awaited at Petrograd.

AMUSEMENTS

SNAPPY PICTURES Alice Brady, the charming star, is coming today to the Butler in "The Trap," one of the most surprising and thoroughly delightful pictures which has been seen here in some time. The production was staged in a quaint fisher village, and the scenes on the seashore are among the most beautiful and interesting ever seen on the screen. Miss Brady appears in the role of Doris Shaw, the daughter of a fanatical fisherman. When the rough fisher lad, who is in love with her, sees her become interested in a stranger, he frames up a trap whereby it appears that she is not only indiscreet but bad. Doris' father casts her from her home. Circumstances take Doris to the big city and there she experiences a great many adventures, all of which go to make one of the most pleasing and entertaining sort of picture plays. Also a worthwhile comedy, a Mack Sennet laugh-maker, "Her Blighted Love." It contains all the elements of genuine humor, while the various roles are capably portrayed. Tomorrow, Enid Bennett in "The Biggest Show on Earth." Monday, Roy Stewart in "Paying His Debt."
