FIRST STEP TO TEST PROHIBITION NATIONAL MEASURE TAKEN TODAY

(By Associated Press) NEW YORK, March 15.—Preliminary action testing the constitutionality of the war time prohibition act was taken by the filing today of a workholders' suit in the federal court against the James Everard breweries.

The complainant, Joseph Everard, asked the court for an order restraining defendant from suspending its manufacturing activities on May 1st and sales on July 1st as required by the federal statute. The complaint alleges that the emergency prohibition clause of the agricultural bill adopted November 21, 1918, is unconstitutional as the measure was designed for national security as the armistice was signed before that date.

TONOPAH MINING COMPANY BUYS THE GOLD REEF GROUP CLAIMS

The Tonopah Mining company has bought outright the Gold Seam group of claims in the Gold Reef district, taking title from Charles Kiehoefer, who located the property in 1902 when Tonopah overshadowed the new district and prevented capital from becoming interested. The location is one of the best mineralized sections of the Tonopah Gold Mountain district and the fact that the group was taken over by such a powerful company as the parent mining corporation of Tonopah is the best evidence that the property has the makings of a first class mine. In making the original location Kiehoefer was associated with E. C. Marvin, but it was the steadfast work of the former that the group was brought to that stage of development where its promise was made manifest to the expert engineers and geologists who were called upon to report before the transaction was closed. The claims are two miles south of Gold Mountain and there never has been any trouble about getting good panings at all stages of development. There is one shaft down 100 feet and in course of development seven tons of ore running at the rate of $150 a ton were shipped by the locators. Dr. A. H. Eftman is acting as engineer for the company in making survey for patent. The ledges in this quarter all carry gold values and the possibilities are said to be as great as with the leading mine of the Divide district. Seven known ledges are said to traverse the group and all panning free gold.

DISCOURAGES THE HORSE BREEDERS

A great outcry has been raised against the veto of the Fallon state fair bill which would take away the only attraction in the state for the farmers of Nevada. It is predicted that the bill will be passed over the veto in the same manner that the prize fight bill was passed. The action of the legislature is severely deprecated as it removes all inducements to raise blooded stock. Horse racing is regarded as one of the incentives to stockbreeding and the removal of betting would leave the sport in the same condition as eating oyster soup without oysters or attending a circus without enjoying pink lemonade. The opinion is in favor of racing in Reno, where they have the only track in Nevada and where the people of the southern country want to go to spend their money since they cannot spend it for booze. It is to be hoped that this legislature will not deprive the people of horse racing and give them something that is not of the puritanical order.

TAXING MINES AND DEPOSITORS

(Special to the Bonanza) CARSON CITY, March 15.—The assembly bill providing for the taxing of the gross products of mines and the gross deposits of banks was passed in the house yesterday with Marsh of Nye county voting for the measure. The bill now goes to the senate where it is believed defeat is waiting as it is regarded as one of the worst measures introduced during the session. Men from the mining districts say passage of the bill will compel almost every small mineowner to shut down as he will not be able to stand the added burden. In addition the opponents of the bill say it will seriously interfere with mining investments in Nevada and may seriously affect the active movement of capital in the direction of the Divide district which is fast commanding the attention of the whole country. After receiving the statement of the action of the assembly, the editor of the Bonanza wired a protest to W. A. Marsh at Carson City and (Continued On Page Four.)

His brother, Clarence Berry, one of the leading oil operators and bankers of San Francisco, is also interested in making a success of the Divide Extension. Both of the Berrys have had extensive experience in the mining game and cannot be considered novices in any branch since they have bought and are operating the Jackson and Missing Link, two of the best properties existing today in Midas, Elko county. The Jackson is a gold proposition and the Missing Link a silver mine and both are being worked to their fullest capacity with one of the best equipments in the state. Plans are in preparation for a cyanide mill of 100 tons capacity which will be installed as soon as the machinery can be delivered. Ore has been opened in the Jackson through development of a vein fourteen feet wide which yields values ranging from $40 to $50 a ton. This property was formerly managed by George J. Shoup, representing the Berry interests, and through the death of Mr. Shoup in the Palace hotel last November the management was forced on Frank H. Berry who (Continued on page four)
