WHERE ARE THE SENATORS.

THREE WEEKS have elapsed since the Divide-Tonopah Chamber of Mines addressed an invitation to the president of the United States to visit this district. The invitation was reinforced by a request to the Nevada senators to use their kind offices in furthering the movement. Senator Pittman, through the chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, acknowledged the invitation by stating that he would direct all his personal influence in the direction suggested by the several messages. That was the end of it for nothing ever came of the correspondence which, apparently did not deserve further consideration. Presumably the itinerary has been completed and every moment of the time of the chief executive provided for although there is no official information to relieve the minds of the committee which generously extended the welcome from a loyal mining community. This prompts the question of what the senators have been guilty that they were ashamed to confess that their influence in Washington was not quite as strong as they would try to make it appear to their constituents back in the sagebrush. Neither Pittman nor Henderson has deigned to report on the reception accorded them in trying to persuade Mr. Wilson that he could make a mammoth popular hit by swinging off the main line and showing himself to the electors of Nevada, who have been liberal backers of the administration and whose efforts cut some figure in determining the result of the presidential election when it hung in the balance and the three votes of Nevada might have swung the verdict either way.

The greatest and liveliest aggregation of business men in Nevada has been snubbed by their senatorial representatives where the interests of the state could have been served nobly and a pointed inquiry of these jangling statesmen might force on their obtuse intellects the fact that courtesy demanded an answer and that it was not treating the people at home right to leave them in the dark regarding a decision on their invitation. The mining element will bear this in mind when these gentlemen swing around the circle on their next campaign.

TERMINATION OF ANOTHER STRIKE.

BUSINESS RECEIVED an impetus this morning when every Bell telephone office on the Pacific coast reopened as though nothing had happened to disturb the regular order of affairs. The loss incurred by this dislocation of the wires cannot be computed in dollars and cents but, nevertheless, it is known that during the period occupied by the negotiations between the strikers and the telegraph administration every branch of commerce and industry was affected to a degree not short of complete prostration. Resumption will be a good thing for the stock market for restoration of service carries with it the dissemination of reports, quotations and market gossip to tens of thousands of small investors who have been unable to take advantage of the depressed markets to add to their holdings. This morning the change brought about a quick reaction from the lethargy of the past six weeks for the first effects was to stimulate inquiries about the course of Nevada mining stocks. Private advices from San Francisco and other points involved, agree that within the next few days business will be back to normal and the public generally will be using the wires with as much freedom as of yore. For the first day there was a slight handicap due to a variety of local conditions but on the whole there was a very healthy tone injected into the speculative field that promises to bring about a complete restoration of confidence. During the shutdown the Divide has not lost any prestige for the mines have been operating and are now closer to the goal for which they are aiming than they were when the embargo was placed on business. The interim was improved so well that buyers will learn at the first tinkle of their telephone call that the Divide is represented by another shipper whose values are of the most spectacular order. They will hear that ore is going forward to the reduction mill from a mine whose career has been one of the most sensational character and that a stupendous body of ore has been tapped to add to the wealth of the nation. They will also be informed that other properties occupying central places in the minds of the public are rapidly nearing objectives that are destined to eventuate in results. This is the class of news which will emphasize the end of the strike of electricians and telephone operators and the date will always go down in history as a contemporaneous triumph.

ANOTHER STUMBLING BLOCK.

ONCE MORE the president is reminded of the powers of the Senate through refusal of that body to sanction the appointment of a representative of the league of nations before the past has been formally approved by the only treaty making body under the constitution of the United States. The hint was given when the president sent in the nomination of a provisional representative on the reparation commission which is charged with adjusting the damages of war inflicted by the Huns. It takes more than the molasses baited hook of diplomacy to entrap the Republican Senators who have been treated like a lot of office boys. They are having their inning.

It's a good thing for the thirsty ones that they will not have to wait, according to the president's promise, for the demobilization of the grand army of Democratic office holders.

The 12,000 doughboys at Brest who might have been brought home on the George Washington while it rode in the harbor for six weeks awaiting the convenience of the presidential party, doubtless appreciate the full force of the declaration of the first platform upon which Mr. Wilson was elected demanding a "return to that simplicity and economy befitting a democratic government."

Don't blame A. Mitchell Palmer for creating fifteen thousand dollar jobs for friends of the administration. Everybody's been doing it and why not pass prosperity around?

"Senator Knox is not big enough to acknowledge his mistake," says the Brevard (N. C.) News. The North Carolina Democratic idea of a big man is just about Joseph Daniels.

The deportation of the Bolsheviki has been halted until a census has been taken to find whether a strict execution of the order might not leave some of the federal bureaus short-handed.

Undoubtedly the employment bureau of the Department of Labor ought to be continued. Look what it does to relieve the unemployment situation by providing jobs for deserving friends of the administration.

AMUSEMENTS

EVELYN NESBIT AT THE BUTLER TODAY

"I Want To Forget" is the William Fox picture starring Evelyn Nesbit, and telling the remarkable story of a woman whose sole ambition has been to capture men's hearts and to "go the pace". This is the picture that will be shown at the Butler today. The "butterfly" woman sullies her wings, but that is of no consequence to her, so long as pleasure follows upon pleasure. But one day Verda realizes that life is something more than empty self-indulgence. She enters the secret service department, and like so many other women of the world today, finds her salvation. Of course, there is a handsome young man in the story, and the winning and wooing of Verda is by no means accomplished with ease. A woman's honor is her most precious possession and yet if one woman had it in her power to save the lives of thousands of American soldiers by forfeiting her honor, should she make the sacrifice? This is the problem which faced Verda Deering in "I Want To Forget." The path of the least resistance is the easiest path thought Verda, and it almost led her to ruin, until the man who loved her taught her better. Added to the feature will be the latest Pathe News. Tomorrow, the popular screen star, Madge Kennedy, in a story of the sunny side of life Friday, William Faversham, the famous stage star.

GARBAGE NOTICE

SLIGHT INJURY HAS SERIOUS RESULT FOR MRS. NORTON

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Norton of Spring Valley, arrived in Ely at 12:30 last night, coming in to secure medical treatment for Mrs. Norton. A few days ago, Mrs. Norton went to a picnic on the creek near their ranch and while there scratched her hand rather severely. She paid no especial attention to the injury but soon afterwards her arm began to swell and become painful which she attributed to rheumatism. Last night the pain became so severe that she and her husband decided to come to Ely. Arriving here Dr. Owens was consulted who discovered and removed a small splinter from Mrs. Norton's hand after which she soon experienced relief—Ely Record.

It is now possible to find broom straws and bits of twine in the 7-cent cigars. Possibly that is the cause of the increased price.

PRINCE ALBERT

NEVER was such right-handed-two-fisted smokejoy as you puff out of a jimmy pipe packed with Prince Albert! That's because P. A. has the quality!

You can't fool your taste apparatus any more than you can get five aces out of a family deck! So, when you hit Prince Albert, coming and going, and get up half an hour earlier just to start stoking your pipe or rolling cigarettes, you know you've got the big prize on the end of your line!

Prince Albert's quality alone puts it in a class of its own, but when you figure that P. A. is made by our exclusive patented process that cuts out bite and parch—well—you feel like getting a flock of dictionaries to find enough words to express your happy days sentiments!

Tippy red bags, tidy red tins, handsome pound and half-pound tin humidors—and that classy, practical pound crystal glass humidior with sponge moisture-top that keeps the tobacco in such perfect condition.
