AMUSEMENTS

GEORGE WALSH AT THE BUTLER THEATRE TODAY

"The Shark," a great photoplay of the sea, produced by William Fox and featuring George Walsh, will be seen at the Butler today. The story tells how a human "beast of the sea" is tamed by his love for a helpless girl. Many of the intensely interesting scenes take place on shipboard. They show the tremendous power of a man who ruled his crew by brute force and to whom a human life was nothing. The plot of the story is worked out while the ship is traveling at full speed. The action is speedy, too, and the heroine's honor, fires the charge of oil which explodes and blows up the ship. But the happy ending of this forceful and tragic play leaves a feeling of intense satisfaction. "Lassie," a dog whose almost human intelligence makes it possible for her to play an important role, is one of the actors in the cast, and performs some marvelous stunts. Added to the feature will be a two-reel Sunshine comedy and a Ford Weekly. Tomorrow—Constance Talmadge, in another one of her famous comedy dramas, "Happiness A La Mode" and a Pathe News. Saturday—D. W. Griffith's thrilling western tale "Scarlet Days." Nazimova is also coming. Watch for her.

Joachim Hohenzollern has been sued for a $11 laundry bill. Public sympathy will probably be divided in this case.
