CHARGES FLY IN CAMPAIGN INQUIRY

Progressives Pledge Roosevelt Vote of 1912 to Harding

DELEGATES GET FUNDS FOR VOTES

(By Associated Press) ST. LOUIS, July 9.—Checks signed by Edward Goltra, democratic national committee member from Missouri, were given delegates to pay their expenses to the democratic state convention at Joplin, according to testimony today by members of the St. Louis democratic committee before the senate committee investigating the presidential campaign expenditures.

This convention was instrumental in ousting Senator James A. Reed, democrat, from his national convention seat. Senator Reed, a member of the senate committee which resumed hearings here today, took no part in today's session other than to be present in order to complete a quorum. Patrick O'Neill, member of the democratic city committee and delegate to the Joplin convention, told the committee he was given a check for $150.00 signed by Goltra to pay his expenses to the convention.

Delegates to the Missouri convention which helped oust Senator Reed from the national convention seat were supplied with money by two parties, one favorable to Palmer and the other to Cox, according to witnesses before the senate committee.

Miss Olivia Brueggeman told the committee persons employed through the Attorney-General's office ostensibly to aid in reducing the cost of living really were working to have Palmer nominated for president at the democratic national convention. Miss Brueggeman was formerly executive secretary of the Missouri Women's Committee to reduce the high cost of living. She said workers supposed to address meetings on the high cost of living actually spoke on Palmer, telling "what a fine man he would be for president." These workers frequently traveled at government expense, she declared. "I was dismissed from his office because I was a republican," she added.

He then asked "Is there anything else I can do?" A handful of proofs was shoved to him and the presidential nominee read and corrected them. He remained in the office the greatest part of his stay in Boone, and when he left with a copy of the paper he helped publish remarked, "See you again, maybe."

ANNUAL MEETING FOR MAYFLOWER

Announcement was made today that the annual meeting of the Consolidated Mayflower Mines company will be held at the organization's offices in Pioneer July 15. The meeting will determine the choice of directors for the coming year. That the Mayflower has completed plans to develop the Starlight claims at depth is also announced. Because of well defined veins traversing the hill on which they are located the claims were sold for $74,000. The group has been developed principally by leases.

A shaft was sunk to a depth of more than 100 feet several years ago by O. J. Smith, of Reno and associates. Recently C. W. Taylor, formerly one of the owners of the Whit-Brandon lease on the Florence, developed a large tonnage of good-grade, free-milling ore. Assays of $10 are secured on the surface of the vein in the old Taylor block. An incline shaft has been sunk in the vein and a 40-foot drift at the bottom is in $12 ore for this distance.
