DEPORTED HUNS ON BOARD BOAT

(Correspondence of Associated Press) PAPERETE, Tahiti, June 25.—By Mail Germans reported from Australia and Samoa were aboard the steamer Mann, formerly a German ship, which arrived here today. The Mann is en route to Germany via Panama. A former German governor of Samoa, Dr. Schulz, was Roman Catholic priest and a Lutheran minister were aboard the Mann. Most of the deported men were planters in New Guinea and other Pacific islands. English writer, some of the Germans protested when placed on the Mann in Australian ports. Many of the Germans, however, aided in the work of getting the ship under way. At Apia, while in the launches from the shore to the ship the Germans sang their national songs. Influenza broke out aboard the Mann after she left Australia. No deaths resulted. At Apia, the New Zealand government announced that on account of the influenza, Germans who desired to do so could wait and return home by other routes, only five accepted the offer.

AMUSEMENTS

POWERFUL MODERN DRAMA AT THE BUTLER TODAY "As a Man Thinks," a production featuring Leah Baird, will be shown at the Butler theatre today. The first of a series of pictures adapted from the successful stage play of Augustus Thomas, the greatest of American dramatists, is one of the most powerful dramas ever written. When produced in New York several years ago it proved the dramatic sensation of the metropolis and was received with acclaim in all the leading theatrical cities throughout the country. Mrs. Baird, a star of long standing in the film world, having won best spots through Vitaphone pictures, is ideally suited in the role of the wife, who is called upon to accept her husband's situation with an air of stoic model and be unjustly accused by him when feeling crosses a suspicion against her. Henry Clive, an actor and artist of note, is the husband. Miss Elaine Amador, a 19-year-old of the Anna Held type, is Patrick's young wife and opera singer in the play. Betty Howe, Warburton Gumble, Alexander Herbert and Charles Brandt, George Young directed.

DENVER PLANS ADOBE HOUSES

(Correspondence of Associated Press) DENVER, Colo., July 26.—Adobe houses may soon be seen in Denver. Shurtz and the high cost of building material recently resulted in a change of the city regulations permitting adobe construction. Several requests for permits since that time have been made. "Houses of adobe can be made durable and attractive," E. M. Smith, city building inspector, declared in commenting on the change. "If they are constructed properly we will see no reason for their construction." Three conditions were named by the inspector of permits. They will be permitted only in frame residence districts, advice of the city building commissioner to make adobe bricks and construction must be followed, and the buildings when completed must be given coats of stucco.

FEDERAL ARMS PLAN LIKELY

(Correspondence of Associated Press) MEXICO CITY, July 26.—The prospect of an American munitions export will depend on the decision of the question whether or not the Mexican government is to manufacture its own munitions of war. In 1919 the report came the military department of the nation to decide to purchase that munitions through the purchase of supplying buyers in foreign countries will be discontinued and the purchase will be made through the Mexican government's regularly constituted commercial agents, according to the plan of General Francisco Elias Galles, secretary of War and marine, as reported by El Universal. Furthermore, effort will be made to find, within the army itself, munitions experts who will assist with the task of judiciously placing the government's orders abroad.

ANGEL CITY TO INCREASE AREA

(Correspondence of Associated Press) LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 27.—Los Angeles already one of the largest cities in the world has taken steps to increase its area by another addition, Baldwin Hills, a tract of ranch land containing about 27 square miles southwest of the city. Owners of the tract desire annexation by the city and a commission of Los Angeles has appointed so they may be supplied with city water for irrigation. Ranch owners near Chatsworth Park, in the western end of San Fernando valley, have petitioned the city council asking that their lands, comprising about four square miles, be joined to the city, so they may obtain water.
