English Money for Democrats Denied

(By Associated Press)
ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 25.—Charges of Congressman Britton, of Illinois, that the British parliament had appropriated $87,000,000 for the British ambassador to use for entertainment purposes in furtherance of the Democratic presidential campaign were declared by Sir Auckland Geddes, the British ambassador here, today to be perfectly absurd. He said the only money furnished was for the living expenses of his staff.

Charges in the raising of campaign funds have been flying thick and fast throughout the country in the past few days, by members of both parties. The senate committee, which has announced its meeting in Chicago next Monday for the purpose of going into the funds in detail promise a complete investigation.

Governor Cox, Democratic nominee, was requested to appear before the committee next Monday, when it will convene, to present any evidence he may have to substantiate his charges in campaign speeches that the Republicans were "raising a campaign fund of $15,000,000."

"We are going to find everything there is to know about both parties," said Senator Kenyon.

"There have been reports that I...

HARDING WILL SUPPORT WEST

Republican Nominee Pledges Himself to Aid in Irrigation Work

BOISE, Aug. 25.—Major Fred R. Reed, of the Idaho Reclamation association, has received a pledge from Senator Harding that the Republican policy of reclamation is to be continued in the event of victory in November. This pledge is to be passed on to the 15,000 members of the association, which has worked for years for the reclamation of the state's arid lands.

Reclamation men of the state say Senator Harding's pledge with Senator Borah's active campaign in his home state for the Republican ticket and against the Wilson league of nations makes certain Republican victory in Idaho.

AUSTRIA ADOPTS TAX ON WEALTH

Passage of Bill Draws Forth Much Criticism From Assembly Members

(Correspondence of Associated Press)
VIENNA, Aug. 1.—The tax on wealth bill has been adopted by the assembly after including in it the amendments proposed by the reparations commission. These amendments, which caused much criticism, were designed to prevent the bill contravening terms of the peace treaty or conflicting with the entente's proposal of May 21, 1920, for a bond issue to cover present or future credits to Austria.

Chancellor Renner, in presenting the amendments, said he did so because national misery forced the country to comply with allied demands.

Social Democrats during the debate charged that Christian Socialists had attempted to defeat the measure by inspiring bankers and representatives of "big business" to go to the reparations commission to point out the dangers of the bill. When Deputy Friedmann admitted doing so and began a defense of his course there were cries of "traitor, hang him!" A group of members made a rush for Friedmann but he hid under a desk and finally was rescued by officials.

Republicans were raising millions of dollars, that a ring of corporations were contributing largely to their fund and that various persons were offering federal positions as a reward for political help from certain men.

"We are going into these things thoroughly and, while we hope to get them all cleared up within about three weeks, we are ready to remain in session until election day, if necessary."

RESIGNATION OF DAVIS RUMORED

American Ambassador to Great Britain May Retire Due to Expense of Post

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 25.—Reports that John Davis, American ambassador to Great Britain, who arrived in New York today, would not return to London, were current here. The state department had no official information as to Davis' plans. The post at London is known as the most expensive of all American diplomatic posts, and has been a drain on the private resources of the men who held it.

INJUNCTION ON SUFFRAGE DENIED

Antis Lose Fight in Federal Courts to Prevent Law Going into Effect

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 25.—Justice Siddons, of the district supreme court denied today an anti-suffrage application for a restraining order to prevent promulgation of the federal suffrage amendment by the state department.

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 25.—An application for an injunction to restrain Secretary of State Coby from promulgating ratification of the federal suffrage amendment was filed in the district supreme court today by counsel for the American Constitutional league.

The action today follows the defeat of the anti-suffrage forces in their attempt to block the certification of the passage of the amendment by Tennessee through court action. In Tennessee they were defeated when the superior courts took the matter out of the hands of the district court and vacated the injunction.

Application was made on behalf of Charles Fairchild, president of the league. Justice Siddons said he would not consider the matter until counsel presented authority under which he contended the court might act to restrain the promulgation of ratification on receipt of the certification of action of Tennessee as the thirty-sixth state.

LAWYERS BEGIN ANNUAL SESSION

Comprehensive Reforms Urged at Meeting of American Bar Association

(By Associated Press)
ST. LOUIS, Aug. 25.—Comprehensive legislative reforms were before the American Bar association for consideration as the organization convened in annual session here today.

The proposed changes, covering a wide range, were presented in reports submitted by various committees. They tended in part toward uniformity of state statutes and modernization of certain federal court procedure.

While the general convention is in session, various sections of the association will meet to consider specific branches of legal practice, for report to the main body. Included in these will be the section on comparative law, patent law and legal education.

Many prominent speakers are expected to appear before the convention. Included among them are Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador to the United States; former United States Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana and Judge Ben B. Lindsey of Denver.

HIGHWAY IS FORMALLY DEDICATED

Opening of Park to Park Road Is Marked by Exercises At Denver

(By Associated Press)
DENVER, Colo., Aug. 25.—The National Park-to-Park highway, extending 4500 miles through 11 national parks in nine western states, was dedicated and officially opened here today.

Stephen T. Mather, director of the national park service, and officials of the National Park-to-Park Highway association participated in the dedication, with officials of the American Automobile association.

Parts of nine transcontinental roads and motor roads connecting them are included in the scenic highway. The pathfinding trip was conducted by A. L. Westgard of Washington, scout for the American Automobile association. More than 500 cities and towns are on the route.

The itinerary of the first official tour carries the party into the Rocky Mountain National park in Colorado on the first day. They will visit Yellowstone park in Wyoming, Glacier park in Montana, pass through Idaho on the way to Rainier National park in Washington, travel through Oregon to Crater Lake park, visit Lassen park, Yosemite, General Grant and Roosevelt parks in California, circle through Arizona to the Grand Canyon and cross a corner of New Mexico to reach the Mesa Verde cliff dwellers' ruins in southwestern Colorado.

A convention of the National Park-to-Park Highway association in Denver is planned after the end of the tour, probably in November.

LACK OF MODELS ENDANGER JAP ART

(Correspondence of Associated Press)
TOKYO, July 24. Modern Japanese art is endangered by lack of models. An annual gathering of 90 girl models and most of the prominent sculptors and painters was held to try to solve the question of the demand for girls to pose. The art school advertised and received only seven applicants. Of these seven applicants, only four were willing to pose in the nude, and none of them remained very long. They receive a salary ranging from $25 to $50 a month and are expected to do two or three two hour sittings a day.

Woman is Killed in Dispute Over Money

Following a dispute over money this morning, Mrs. I. H. "Dixie" Miller, a resident of the restricted district, was shot through the heart and almost instantly killed by Fred Wilberg, bartender at the Colorado bar. The shooting occurred shortly after 8 o'clock in Blake's cabaret, where Wilberg had chased the woman. Two shots were fired, but only one took effect, entering her left side and coming out under the right shoulder after passing through the heart.

The shooting was witnessed by James Blake, the day bartender; Jimmie Wele, the night man, and Larry Lattimer. According to their stories, Wilberg and Mrs. Miller had been in the place earlier in the morning talking together. Wilberg went out and later Mrs. Miller left, but in a few minutes she ran in through the front door with Wilberg closely behind her. When they reached the end of the bar, Mrs. Miller threw up her hands and screamed, "I haven't got your money," but Wilberg shot, and the two struggled together for a short time. During the struggle another shot was fired in spite of the woman's plea for mercy. People from the streets came rushing in and Wilberg was disarmed by Earl Horton, a truck driver, and was held until the arrival of the sheriff's force.

When Wilberg left the bar earlier in the morning he went to his place of employment at the Colorado bar and started to sweep out. The proprietor, Charles Lanthaler, spoke a few words to him, and Wilberg later put on his hat, remarking that he would return in a few minutes. Unknown to Lanthaler he had taken the 38 calibre, long-barreled revolver usually kept behind the bar. This was the gun used in the shooting.

The dead woman came to this city in March, 1919. From letters among her effects it was learned that her name is Mrs. I. H. Miller, and that she formerly lived at the Hotel Kerns, San Francisco. Her mother's name is Mrs. Samuel Anderson, 1721 Pennsylvania avenue, Newcastle, Pa. Wilberg has been in the city for several years working at various jobs, and has been employed at the Colorado bar for the past four or five days.
