NEGRO WOMEN NOT ALLOWED TO CAST VOTE

Legislatures of Southern States Nullify 19th Amendment in Regard to Negroes

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 4.—Though the woman suffrage amendment is now part of the constitution and women of the republic are on a political equality with men, there are two sections of the country where women will not exercise the privileges guaranteed under the nineteenth amendment.

In the southern states the negro women will not be allowed to vote, no more so than the negro men, in the District of Columbia, the national capital, which is completely disfranchised, neither men nor women can vote, even for municipal officials.

During the campaign to pass the nineteenth amendment through congress, southern senators and representatives served notice on suffrage advocates that if the amendment was ratified the south proposed to nullify it as far as the negro women were concerned.

In the final line-up when the nineteenth amendment was passed by congress, it was the southern senators and representatives who voted against it to the last roll call.

A Democratic congress, under leadership of President Wilson, refused to pass the amendment. It was not until the Republicans gained control of house and senate that the amendment was passed.

Twenty-nine Republican states voted to ratify the nineteenth amendment, and only seven Democratic states. Seven Democratic states refused to ratify.

In the south the negro is now disfranchised by various devices which effectively destroy his political rights as an American citizen under the constitution. The "literacy test," "property qualifications," the "grandfather clause," which requires the voter's father or grandfather to have served in the Confederate army, or plain "shotgun" tactics are resorted to by the white political bosses to keep the negro away from the polls.

There are approximately 4,000,000 negro women of voting age in the south. Under the white domination and the terrorist tactics of the southern politicians practically all of them are disfranchised now, despite the nineteenth amendment. It is preposterous to suppose that if the negro man is not allowed to vote in the south the negro women will be given the ballot.

In the northern states, where the negro can vote on a parity with the white man, the negro voter in the November election will have an opportunity to avenge, in a measure, the political disfranchisement of his brothers and sisters in the south. But he can register his indignation only by voting the Republican ticket.

A new vein has been discovered in the east drift on the 265-foot level that shows exceedingly good values, and a drift has been started to develop it on its course south-easterly, which is at an acute angle to the course of the main vein.

70 MEN WALK OUT AT RUTH

About 70 Greeks and Italians employed at the Ruth pit as track and dump men quit their jobs Saturday and walked out, says the Ely Times. They had not, however, drawn their pay up to late this afternoon. According to F. E. Grant, superintendent of steam-shovel mining, the workers made a demand for more pay Saturday, saying they could get better wages elsewhere. Mr. Grant states that he answered their request by saying that C. B. Lakenan, general manager of the Nevada Consolidated Copper company, was at San Francisco, and that upon his return the matter would receive consideration. The men, evidently not being satisfied with the company's proposition, left their jobs immediately.

Mr. Grant says that the action of the men will cause a delay in mining operations at the pit today, but that he did not anticipate any serious inconvenience by virtue of these men quitting. As to whether any more miners would quit, Mr. Grant was not prepared to say.

As organizer of the American Federation of Labor, I desire to state that the walkout at the Ruth pit was unauthorized by organized labor of the district, and does not meet with our approval.

FRANK H. SANFORD, Organizer American Federation of Labor.

NEW RATES MAKE LEASERS QUIT

Several leases have shut down at Pioche on account of the increased freight rates on high grade ore, according to A. A. Sherman, former publisher of the Pioche Record, says the Ely Times. He stated that a meeting of mining men was held there to consider measures to induce the railways to waive the 25 per cent increase or possibly to arrive at a basis of compromise. Probably six of such leases have given up and quit, according to Mr. Sherman, and others are hanging on with the hope that the rates will be adjusted so that they may proceed, and if not, more will quit later.

Pioneer Booster Moves to Reno

Milton M. Detch, well-known attorney and mining man of southern Nevada, is leaving Tonopah tomorrow to take up the practice of law in Reno. Mr. Detch is one of the pioneers of southern Nevada, coming to Goldfield from Olay, Colorado, in 1894. He was instrumental in organizing the first volunteer fire department in Goldfield, furnishing the suits for the members of it with his own money. During his practice of law here he has been identified with a large number of important cases and the legal profession loses one of its most prominent members in his departure from this city.

Mr. Detch has always been known as one of the finest wires of the desert region. When he arrived in Goldfield it was merely a straggling village whose name was scarcely known outside of Nevada, but Detch, together with other men, started a campaign of boosting which made the name known in every village in this country as the greatest gold camp of its time.

One of his earliest ventures was the organization of a stock exchange in Goldfield. No telegraph wires had been run into the city at that time, but through the efforts of Detch the newly organized exchange made a demand on the San Francisco brokers to run a wire there and through the very activity of their demand finally secured the wire. About this time the Mohawk boom struck the desert and Detch's faith in the business that would be transacted
