In the presidential election there will be chosen 531 members of the electoral college, of which 266 will be necessary to the election of a candidate as president. In the last election President Wilson had 277.

League of Nations Covenant Is Flayed by Adams and Brouillet Before Large Crowd Last Night

"No common people ever declared war on another common people. I am against the league of nations because it guarantees the rotten kingdoms and empires of Europe in the territory they hold at present and will prevent the common people from gaining control of these governments." These statements by Brewster Adams at the Aldome last night brought roars of applause from his audience.

Continuing he said: "Do you think for a minute if the league of nations had been in effect we could have gained our independence from England? Could we have gone to the aid of Cuba in 1898 and freed her from the domination of monarchial Spain? No, we could not have done these things, for all the other nations of the league would have been arrayed against us. The trend of present-day government is toward republics and democracies. This covenant of the league of nations guarantees the perpetuation of the rotten monarchies of Europe and even of the slaveholding state of Hedjaz, created at the Versailles conference.

"If you put all the nations of the world into the league of nations," declared Mr. Adams, "you are merely attempting to stem the rising tide of democracy against the rotten kingdoms and empires of the old world. You can't stereotype the world into the mold made for it at the peace conference where England seized one and a quarter million square miles of territory occupied by people who ought to be free. England boasts that she has seized 70 per cent of the world's petroleum and now asks us through the league to protect her in these stolen territories."

Mr. Adams then went on to show how, under the treaty, in Samoa alone England has deported over 18,000 residents of these islands for the one reason that they were unfortunate enough to have been born in Germany or their parents were born in Germany. Many of these people, he stated, had lived in Samoa for many years, but under a hidden joker in the peace treaty they were torn away from their homes and their businesses and deported. He compared the English policy in these islands to the story of Evangelina. He condemned the British government strongly for this action and declared that England now wants our support of this action through the adoption of the league.

CARSON GIVES BIG OVATION TO CANDIDATES

(Special to The Bonanza)

CARSON, Oct. 30.—Practically every man and woman and most of the children of Carson and vicinity were packed into the opera house here Thursday night to hear Tasker L. Oddie, Republican senatorial candidate, and Samuel S. Arentz, candidate for representative in congress, discuss campaign issues.

The two candidates got what has been declared the greatest ovation ever given political candidates in Carson. For 10 minutes they cheered Governor Oddie when he rose to speak and Sam Arentz was given a big demonstration when he was introduced. During the speech of Governor Oddie not a person left the crowded house.

Sam Arentz was the first speaker. He spoke briefly on irrigation and reclamation problems and discussed the league of nations.

Governor Oddie sketched very briefly the principal bits of beneficial legislation enacted while he was governor of Nevada, and then took up the league of nations, picking up pieces of arguments advanced by Democratic campaign speakers who have visited Carson.

California to Decide Fate of Jap Farmers

(By Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 30.—The fate of Japanese farmers in California will be decided on Tuesday, November 2, when the electorate of this state passes on an initiative measure that would drastically amend the present alien land law by withdrawing entirely the three-year agricultural land leasing privilege from aliens who are ineligible to American citizenship.

The measure aims also to place minor land-owning aliens under the guardianship of a public administrator. The actual ownership of farm lands by aliens ineligible to citizenship already is prohibited by the alien land law enacted by the state legislature in 1913.

The initiative measure, its proponents assert, will conform strictly to the letter of the treaty between Japan and the United States, in which Japanese residents were granted certain privileges. The opponents of the proposed new law declare that the issue raises the question of an interpretation of phraseology in the treaty wherein it is provided that the Japanese resident in the United States "may own or hire and occupy houses, manufactories, warehouses, shops and premises and lease lands for residential and commercial purposes."

It is pointed out by persons opposed to amending the present law that the leasing of land for "commercial purposes" contemplated the privilege of leasing agricultural lands. The voters of the state have had the legal verbiage of the measure clarified by arguments for and against it, respectively by V. S. McClatchy, publisher of the Sacramento Bee, and John P. Irish, an extensive landowner of Stockton, California.

THIS SPACE HAS BEEN PURCHASED BY THE FRIENDS OF TASKER L. ODDIE

TASKER L. ODDIE is the friend of the mining industry of Nevada. The miners who have worked for him are his strongest supporters. He has always been fair in the wages he has paid and in the conditions under which he has asked his employees to work. As a senator he can and will aid in passing laws favoring the mining industry.

Judge a man by what he has done, not by what he promises. TASKER L. ODDIE has lived in Tonopah, has worked here, and the residents of this city know him personally. Ask them what his record is as a man, as a citizen, and as an employer of labor. As a senator he will continue his fair treatment of both labor and business.

The handwriting is on the wall.

Democratic leaders are now abandoning the effort and hope of electing a Democratic President.

Now they are trying to make a Democratic senate.

The national administration can help Nevada tremendously. Nevada needs its help for the protection of its industries, for appropriations to develop its natural resources.

Send a man to the senate who will work with the Republican administration, who will get help for your state from the Republican administration.

A vote for TASKER L. ODDIE is a vote for Nevada.

VOTE FOR TASKER L. ODDIE NEXT TUESDAY.
