SOVIET HOLDS U. S. CITIZENS SAYS REPORT

American Mission Is Said to Have Fallen Into Hands of Russian Forces

(By Associated Press) LONDON, Nov. 6.—An American mission in South Russia has fallen into the hands of the Soviet forces, according to the Moscow newspaper Pravda, it was quoted in a wireless dispatch today.

So far as is known, the only American mission in the Crimea is the Red Cross unit headed by Major George Ryden, of Kansas City. There is also an American naval and diplomatic mission, but its activities are centered largely around the Black sea area.

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 6.—The state and war department officials said today they had no knowledge of any American mission being within the war zone in southern Russia. The suggestion was made that "General Morel," reported to be in the hands of the bolsheviks, might be a French officer commanding a detachment of Wrangel's army, or M. De Martel, chief of the French diplomatic mission sent into the Crimea and accredited to Wrangel.

RICH ORE BODY OPENED AT ELY

C. B. Lakenan, general manager of the Nevada Consolidated Copper company, in an interview with a representative of the Ely Times, had the following to say with reference to developments at the Ruth mine: "The rich ore body opened up on the 700-foot level on the contact of lime and porphyry, proved to be 150 feet long, 50 feet wide and 60 feet high, and averaged over 7 per cent copper in its entirety. Across 10 feet lying next to the porphyry the ore carried values of 12 per cent copper, and in places averaged 18 per cent."

Mr. Lakenan stated that he did not look for any material rise in the price of copper for some time to come, but that he was strongly of the opinion that the election of Harding and a Republican senate and house would have a tendency to strengthen the copper market; that the psychological effect alone would be beneficial, to say nothing of the confidence the people have in the Republicans effecting a peace with Germany at the earliest possible time, thereby re-establishing economic and political relations with Europe.

He stated that the apathetic condition of the copper market was solely due to there being no European market, and that no matter how much in need were the European countries for the red metal, they would not be in a position to buy until America could extend them credit, and that this could not be done under the present unsettled conditions. But with a Republican president, senate and house, there was every reason to hope that business relations will soon be drifting toward normal, he said.

ENGINEERS TO MEET IN RENO

The Nevada chapter of the American Association of Engineers has arranged for a meeting to be held at the rooms of the Reno chamber of commerce on Tuesday evening, November 5, at 8 o'clock.

At this meeting Governor Boyle will discuss the Jones-Reaves bill and A. A. Horwege of Reno will talk on the Phipps-Townsend bill. Both these bills will be before the coming session of congress.

The Jones-Reaves bill proposes the creation of the department of public works. This department will supersede the existing department of the interior.

At present all engineering, architectural and related public works functioning under government control are under nine different departments. The bill proposes to unite such related subjects under one head and thus to eliminate confusion and to put such things on an efficient, businesslike basis.

The Phipps-Townsend bill provides a readjustment of federal aid money used in the construction and maintenance of public highways.

This matter is of particular interest to Nevada, as with increased help she will be able to carry to completion the present proposed highway program in a much shorter time and more efficiently without increasing the burden of taxation.

President Feels Clemency in That Case Would Set Bad Precedent in Future

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 6.—President Wilson is understood to have no intention of pardoning Eugene Debs, who is serving a 10-year sentence in the federal penitentiary for violating the espionage act.

The position taken by the president, according to those who profess to know his views, is that executive clemency in such a case would set a bad precedent and would encourage others to oppose the government in the event of another war.

FRENCH WANT TO CONSULT HARDING

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 6.—The state department and White House officials refused today to discuss reports from Paris published in this country that Myron T. Herrick, formerly the American ambassador to France, had been chosen as an intermediary in negotiations with President-elect Harding regarding Harding's proposal for an association of nations.

Officials of the state department would not say whether the French government had formally communicated to the present administration its desire to discuss this and other matters with the new administration in advance of its actual inauguration, nor would they say whether there was any precedent for such a request. They also refused to say whether they had information that Harding had been asked by the French to send a personal representative to the forthcoming meeting of the assembly of the league of nations.

GAME ON WHOLE IS HONEST SAYS CHICAGO JURY

Throwing of Games Is Not General and Only Few Players Are Dishonest

(By Associated Press) CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—The special grand jury investigating baseball today returned a final report in which it stated "that while evidence has been found that some games were thrown by players, the practice was not general, and the leaders in organized baseball may be relied upon to keep the game above suspicion."

In part the grand jury's report said: "Considering the magnitude of the enterprise and the great number of ball players engaged, we believe that a comparatively small number of players have been dishonest. We are gratified to find players who immediately reported to their managers any suggestion of fixing and likewise managers who immediately discontinued players who were implicated in any way in attempts to corrupt the game."

Adoption of this policy as a fixed practice, no matter at what point, will make impossible a repetition of the present trouble. Evidence has been given the jury of an instance during a game played in Chicago where a certain player of the New York National League club offered another player a bribe if he would throw that particular game. The player to whom the bribe was offered immediately walked off the diamond, refusing to continue pitching the game.
